

G. O. P. NOMINEES FOR U. S. SENATE

Carrol Page (top) and Miles Poindexter.

U. S. Senators Carrol Page of Vermont and Miles Poindexter of Washington were renominated at the recent Republican primaries in their respective states. Page is an old line Republican. Poindexter joined the Progressive party four years ago and stayed with it until after the Progressive convention at Chicago this year.

HOW TO INCREASE YOUR SALARY

In the October American Magazine, there is an article about the largest country store in America. Three young men with ideas took hold of the business when it was stagnating and made it what it is today. One of the young men says in this article:

"Greet all customers pleasantly, and make them feel perfectly at home when they reach your department. Concentrate all your interest and all your energies on the sale in hand, not allowing your thoughts to be distracted in any way."

"Take every 'looker' seriously, by making an unusual effort to close a sale, even though the odds are against you. The more honor comes to you to get a sale of this kind. When it takes two hours to sell a pair of shoes you know you have won a victory worth while."

"If we only had more of the sticking quality we would get more business."

"Keep your stocks completely filled up, so that there may be no loss of sales of merchandise actually on hand. Keep a list of 'outs' and 'goods called for,' and get your buyers to order as soon as convenient."

"Introduce new merchandise, try to interest every customer in something not asked for, and strive to do it in such a way as to add to your sales."

"I was pleased to see a salesman trying to sell a 15-cent razor. One sale often suggests another. A customer buying a pair of shoes usually needs new socks or stockings. Most all shoe customers will buy a shoe cleaner or polish, and so on ad infinitum."

KERRIGAN'S CONGENIAL ROLE

Thousands who have admired Warren Kerrigan in "the movies" will find cause for great delight when they see his performance in the forthcoming Bluebird Photoplay, a son of the immortal, "to be the attraction at the majestic theatre tomorrow. In this piece Mr. Kerrigan has the role of a dashing American suddenly elevated to a throne.

The manner in which he conducts his office seems to be inspired by his Yankee bringing up and the way he tears down tradition and builds up his own personal popularity with the natives constitutes the motive for an exceedingly entertaining photoplay.

There are many exciting features in "A Son of the Immortals," for it would seem that being a King, no matter how popular, invites the cunning of the assassin, and the hatred of the under-lords who are commonly supposed to do the actual governing in monarchial countries.

Many tremendously spectacular scenes are created by the use of great mobs of people in the street riots and public demonstrations in which the king and his enemies are concerned; numerous explosions of bombs set with deadly intent; and some stirring battle scenes bring the Kerrigan photoplay considerably above the average in spectacular outcomes.

WILL SEE THEIR FIRST CIRCUS

MARSHFIELD, Or., Sept. 21.—The schools of Marshfield are to be closed September 25 in order to give the children a chance to see the circus parade and attend the performance. On that day a circus is coming, the first one that has visited this locality since the place was settled over half a century ago.

It was deemed sufficiently important to order the closing of the schools so the children could see the animals for the first time in the lives of most of them.

Many grown persons around Coos bay have never seen a circus.

RECEPTION IS ENJOYED

A large number of church and Sunday school workers were present last night at the reception given to Rev. J. B. Coan and his wife. The event was a complete surprise to them and was greatly appreciated. Addresses of welcome were made by the various ministers and others, a response being made by Rev. Coan. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

AN UNBIASED VIEW.

Comment in Washington Shows Hughes' Speeches Have Concrete Effect.

From Washington correspondence New York Evening Post:

It is idle even for the Democrats to claim that Mr. Hughes' speeches have not been effective. Whether or not they have seemed so to the voters in the west and northwest is something very difficult to judge at this distance, but it is not to be denied that right here in Washington Mr. Hughes' utterances have had a very concrete effect. It is an ill wind that blows no good. The rumors that Mr. Hughes has stirred up about civil service reform has really got under the skin of the administration. It is something which the president and his political advisers carelessly ignored. So it is with a portion of Mr. Hughes' criticism of the Mexican policy. When he argues that the paramount duty of the United States is to protect its citizens abroad in their lives and property he is standing on unimpeachable ground. And the administration knows it. The effect certainly of Mr. Hughes' remarks will be to stiffen the hand of the administration in dealing with a question of protection for Americans abroad.

HUGHES' LABOR RECORD.

When Mr. Hughes, remembering only that he is a Democrat and forgetting that he is a leader of organized labor, ventured to assert that Mr. Hughes is unfriendly to labor because he concurred in the unanimous decision in the Danbury haters' case, he ventured on very thin ice. The Chicago Tribune promptly reminds him that an unjust judge must apply the law as he thinks it is, not as he thinks it ought to be, and asks him to tell those who look to him for political advice something about the record of Mr. Hughes as governor. Read what the Legislative Labor News, the official organ of the New York Federation of Labor, said editorially when Mr. Hughes left the governor's chair at Albany for his place on the supreme court. Here it is:

"Now that Governor Hughes has retired from public life and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political career that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed fifty-six labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any state."

"He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra-session of the legislature."

"Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this state since its erection in 1777—in 139 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, were enacted and signed during Governor Hughes' term of three years and nine months."

Let organized labor take to heart the Chicago Tribune says on this point: "Mr. Hughes is no democrat and no visionary. He is a man of courage and conscience, and if labor cannot confide in him to do his job let some American take it upon himself to go with it."—Boston Herald.

THE GREATEST OF HEADJUSTERS

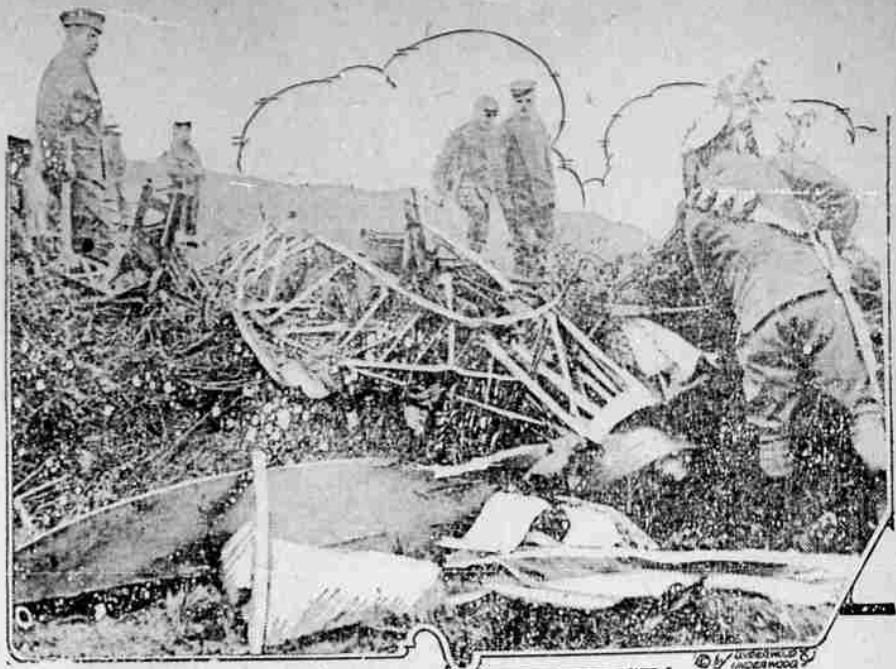

(From the New York Evening Post.)
We do not see why there should have been any stir in the senate over the discovery that President Wilson has completely reversed himself in the matter of the proposed child labor law. Senator Borah was able to show that Mr. Wilson described this legislation in his "Constitutional Government" as unconstitutional and "obviously absurd extravagance," carrying the congressional power to regulate commerce beyond the "utmost boundaries of reasonable and honest inference," and making it possible, if sustained, for congress to legislate over every particular of the industrial organization and action of the country. That, we must confess, has also been the Evening Post's view. But the Evening Post and Senator Borah are old fogies, dating back to the time when it was the custom to have fixed beliefs and principles and stick to them.

The senator has evidently not read Mr. Wilson's letter in explaining his change of front on the tariff committee—that it is only a narrow man whose mind is stupidly closed to new ideas, who does not alter his opinions. By this test Mr. Wilson is obviously one of the broadest minded men this country has ever produced, for he has changed his mind to date on the tariff, live referendum, recall, woman suffrage, the tariff commission, tariffs for revenue only, a permanent diplomatic service beyond politics, the merit system in the civil service, the proper place of Tammany Hall in the scheme of the endow, child labor legislation, press-references, Bryan, a continental navy—but why continue? It is a long enough list to prove that Mr. Wilson's political views are not fossilized by any fear of inconsistency.

WILSON TO SPEAK IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—President Wilson plans to make a campaign speech here some time during the month of October. The democratic headquarters announced that it has virtually decided that the Auditorium will be used for the purpose.

BRITISH AVIATOR BRINGS DOWN ZEPPELIN NEAR LONDON

Wreckage of Zeppelin brought down by Lieut. Leete Robinson twelve miles from London.

The encounter between the great Zeppelin and the aeroplane took place at Cuffley, a place about twelve miles from London. Lieut. Leete Robinson in his aircraft boldly assailed the invader with machine gun and five bombs and sent it crashing to the earth, leaving behind it a tail of comet-like smoke and flame. It hit the earth, a mass of ribbons and tangled wreckage. The crew of the airship were buried with full military honors. Lieutenant Robinson received the V. C. for his daring exploit.

ENROLLMENT LARGE AT U. OF O.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Sept. 21.—The college of liberal arts of the University of Oregon apparently will reach the 1000 mark this year. A registration of 1900 in liberal arts will give the state university a total enrollment of about 2900, although Oregon is one of the most thinly populated of the states, having only seven persons to the square mile. Its state university has thus passed the dividing line between the small and the large educational institutions.

Fewer students have left Oregon for university training this year than at any time hitherto, it is said. On the other hand, a number have appeared this year from other states for training in the University of Oregon.

OLATHE, Kans., Sept. 21.—An armed mob consisting of 50 men, stormed the jail early today and fired at Sheriff Carroll and smashed the iron doors of the building. The city fire department was called upon and hosed the rioters, but despite the resistance put up by the sheriff and the department the mob seized Bert Dudley, the white murderer of Henry Muller's wife and carried him to the railroad, a quarter of a mile away and hanged him to a pole.
