

SUTHERLIN WORK. PROGRESSING

L. G. Hicks Reports That Grading Is Further Along Than Expected.

L. G. Hicks, who is engineering the grading for the railroad east of Sutherlin to the holdings of the Roach Timber Company, reports that the work is progressing rapidly and that much more has been accomplished than it had been supposed would be finished when the grading was commenced. The camp has now been established eight miles out of Sutherlin, having been moved to its present location last week. The men are now located at what is known as the second mill site and are employed on a very difficult task, that of digging out a road bed alongside a very steep hill.

At the present time there are enough men employed to tend to the work and more are coming and going at all times. There is still a slight shortage of teams owing to the fact that several of the men employed pulled off at the time of the recent rains. The present weather is very favorable to work through the swampy districts and the men are making the most of it.

ENGLISHMAN PREDICTS LONG WAR

English Writer Says War Will Reach Into 1918 Before End.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—J. L. Garvin, writing in the Observer, predicts that unless the entire allies come to more vigorous decisions the war will be prolonged far into 1918 as "the result of the new outbreak of man energy on all sides and unity of direction under von Hindenburg."

"The allies in the east have perpetrated almost every blunder left to them to commit," writes Editor Garvin, "after a previous record of mismanagement that seemed well nigh exhaustion. The prospect is not disastrous, but is disagreeable as the fault is repairable only at the cost of several million avoidable casualties and thousands of millions in money which might have been saved."

"The glorious chapter of the allied offensive on the Somme is closed. The new chapter is beginning as the Germans have fully recovered their morale. There will be no breaking through by the allies in the west this year, nor will there be any extensive withdrawal of the German lines between Arras and Noyon."

BATTLE IN FRANCE

H. P. Davison, photographed on his return from France.

Henry P. Davison, partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., has just returned to this country after having spent two months abroad. While in France he went up in an army airplane, and in an observer's seat at a height of a mile flew over the German trenches. During the flight he witnessed the French attack on Combles.

Inez Miller. All the lady teachers of the county are cordially invited to be present.

It is the purpose of this club to present and discuss plans and methods under each separate division of school work, so that the teachers shall feel when the school year closes we are not in the same rut as when school began. Each department has a special director.

The young teacher cannot afford to miss these conferences with those who have learned by experience, while it gives the experienced teacher an opportunity to broaden her capabilities.

BESSIE LOVE LEADING WOMAN.

The association on the screen of big De Wolf Hopper and little Bessie Love, with their full two feet of difference in height, is a pictorially striking one. It recalls the years when the large comedian was so effectively supported by Marguerite Clark in light comedy. Miss Love is littler still; but, strangely enough, the striking contrast does not make for comedy in the new Triangle play, "Stranded," at the Antlers tomorrow and Wednesday. The little circus rider portrayed by Miss Bessie is so gentle and pathetic a figure and her champion, Hopper's well drawn actor of the old school, is so simple

SPANISH PRINCES JOIN BOY SCOUTS

Being princes does not restrain these youngsters from joining enthusiastically in the boy scout movement. They joined the command at Santander, one of the large cities of Spain, at the instance of their father, the king, who has been a firm advocate of preparedness. The lad at the right is deaf and dumb.

and self-sacrificing in his devotion that one is nearer tears than smiles. It is remarkable that the man who has been making the world laugh for thirty-three years is at his happiest in roles that make a telling emotional appeal. Along these lines his screen art is maturing remarkably.
