RECEIVES WORD SISTER IS HURT

Mrs. Mary Johanson Hurt by Runaway Horse In California.

H. S. French this morning received a letter to the effect that his sister, Mrs. Mary Johanson had been badly injured by a runaway horse and is now in the hospital at Arcada, Calif. From the information given, Mrs. Johanson was planting flower bulbs in her garden in front of the house when the horse crashed through her fence and fell directly upon her. In its efforts to rise it kicked her numerous times about the face and body, cutting many gashes in which it was necessary to take several stitches. Her body was mashed and bruised very badly.

Mr. French wired for further reports and if needed will leave at once for his sister's home. She is very well known here by the older residents of the city, as she resided with Mr. French for many years, her name at that time being Mrs. Mary Looney.

Mrs. O. V. Logsdon today entered Mercy hospital where she will undergo an operation soon.

RURAL SCHOOLS NEED QUALIFIED TEACHERS

One Out of Every Three Instructor Has Not Had Sufficient Preparation.

NATION BECOMES AROUSED

One State in Union Has Over 4000 Teachers With Only 7th Grade Education and No Professional Training.

(By J. L. Mellan, school extension agent, U. S. bureau of education, department of the interior.) The rural schools of the United States are in need of better qualified teachers. At least one-third of the rural teachers for the country at large have no professional training. The average scholarship of this class of untrained teachers is little more than an eighth grade education. There are 212,000 one-teacher rural schools in the United States. It is conservative, therefore, to say that there are 70,000 rural teachers in this country with only an elementary education and no professional training. There is one state in the union that has over 4,000 teachers with only a seventh grade education and no professional training in charge of its rural schools this year. There are several states that number their rural teachers in the class by the thousand and there are many states that count their rural teachers in this class by the hundred.

Another third of the rural teachers of the United States have only a limited amount of professional training and on an average their scholarship is not above the tenth grade, that is, a two-year high school education beyond the eighth grade. There are at least 70,000 teachers in this class.

A majority of the remaining one-third of the rural teachers of our country have on the average only a four-year high school education which includes from one to two years' attendance at a state normal school or the professional work given in the junior and senior years in teacher-training high schools, or several summer terms at summer schools for teachers.

These are the conditions that face us in the qualifications of our rural teachers. The problem that confronts us is how to improve those conditions. It is the purpose of the bureau of education to issue a series of talks in an effort to show the country how to solve this most important problem in American education today. The fact that we have over 150,000 teachers without adequate preparation for their work is enough to arouse the public mind on this question to such a degree that within the next decade we shall have a sufficient number of teachers with adequate training for every rural school in the United States.

DRAIN BANKER HERE TODAY.

Dwight Reed, president of the Drain State Bank, and one of the most prominent citizens of Douglas county, came to the county seat this morning and attended to numerous business affairs during the forenoon. The large interests of Mr. Reed keep him busy, and necessitates his visiting nearly all parts of the county.

EXPLORER ON WAY TO RESCUE HIS MEN

Sir Ernest Shackleton (top) and Capt. F. A. Worsley, photographed on arrival in U. S.

Sir Ernest Shackleton and Capt. F. A. Worsley are now in this country, busily preparing for a fourth rescue trip to save ten members of the ill-fated Shackleton expedition of last year who are supposed to be marooned on an island in the Ross sea. Shackleton says the men have ample provisions to last them a year.

at some time of the year. He said that one will be surprised if they only knew the aggregate amount of money brought into the county already this fall through the sale of prunes and wool, and this will be greatly augmented when the returns of the turkey sales are all in. Mr. Reed returned home on the afternoon train after finishing the business which brought him here.

LEAVES FOR SAN FRANCISCO.

Henry Harth left again last night for San Francisco where he will purchase a large stock of goods for his holiday trade and also specialties for the sale which is in progress. By judicious advertising and window displays he has kept up the attendance at the sale and upon his return the latter part of the week will introduce several new features.

AMERICAN STEAMER IS WRECKED

High Seas Prevent Life Savers From Reaching Ship.

DEAL, England, Nov. 21.—Life boat crews from the Deal and Walmer stations have rescued all passengers and sailors of the American steamer, Siberia which stranded on the Goodwin sands. The life savers were unable to approach the stranded steamer until the terrific seas had subsided. The passengers clustered on the bridge of the boat all night, after several attempts of the life savers proved fruitless. The Walmer crew shot a line aboard the steamer late this afternoon. The boat is deeply embedded in the treacherous sands.

ORDER OF CITATION.

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, for Douglas County.

In the matter of the Estate of Thomas Taylor, an insane person.

This matter coming on to be heard upon the petition of Z. T. Murray, guardian of said Thomas Taylor, for a license to sell the real property belonging to said estate, to-wit: Northeast quarter of Section 22, Township 29 south of Range 5 West of the W. M., in Douglas county, Oregon, and it appearing from said petition that it will be beneficial to said Thomas Taylor that all of the real estate belonging to said estate be sold.

It is therefore ordered that the next of kin of said Thomas Taylor and all other persons interested shall appear before this court on the 12th day of December, 1916, and show cause, if any they have, why said real estate should not be sold. And that in lieu of personal service of this order on said next of kin or other persons interested, this order shall be published at least three successive weeks in the semi-weekly Unapqua Valley News, a newspaper circulated in Douglas County, Oregon.

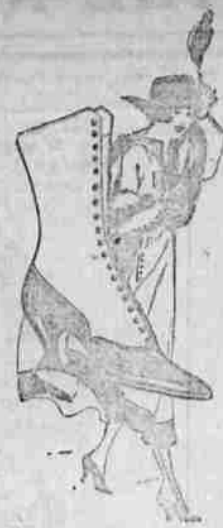

Dated this 13th day of November, 1916.

MRS. A. G. VANDERBILT NOW IN MARBLE

Bust of Mrs. Alfred Gywnne Vanderbilt, by C. S. Pietro.

C. S. Pietro, known as "society's sculptor," has completed a marble bust of Mrs. Alfred Gywnne Vanderbilt, considered one of the most beautiful women in America. Art critics pronounce it the best marble portrait work Pietro has ever turned out. The modeling is subtle, and has the air of exquisite refinement which is characteristic of Mrs. Vanderbilt's beauty.
