ARGUMENT.

Tom Blake, American inventor of a patent diving suit has been defrauded of his patent rights by J. Winner Luce. Luce, to do this, has made use of Jimmy Squabs, a master diver; and Cortlandt Van Prissy, to whom he has betrothed his daughter, Madeline, whom Blake loves.
 Blake left for Singapore and engaged Pedro and his Malays to go with him to the island of Hocus Pocus, one of the Philippine group. Blake knows that a treasure-ship of great value lies on the bottom somewhere about Hocus Pocus, but Luce has taken from him the chart showing the location. Blake is disguised as a pirate and known as Benevente.
 Luce with his daughter and her chaperone arrives at Hocus Pocus in Van Prissy's yacht but is ship-wrecked by the pirates. At about the same time the U. S. Cruiser Oklahoma, in charge of Commander Boomday, arrives. After various adventures, Luce is forced to hand the chart to Blake who proves his patent rights to the diving-suit and all ends happily.
