SELECTIVE DRAFT BILL UNDER DEBATE

Both Houses Considering Measure—Choice of Men Is Authorized

IS AFTER THE IDLERS

Government Opposed to Calling Out Men Who Are Needed in Productive Lines of Work.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Both houses of congress are today debating the administration bill providing for the selective draft for the purpose of strength. Senator Weeks declared that the people demanded that method of conscription, or would demand it, if properly informed.

Under the provisions of the proposed law, the government has choice of men for the army. Volunteers will not be called for, in a sense at least, but men of military age who are not employed in productive pursuits, will be required to enlist. In this way the young men who are needed on the farms and in work shops or manufacturing plants will not be required to enlist, but those young fellows who have no real employment, but who may be found in large numbers in the cities and towns, will be called upon to shoulder their share of the responsibility. It is of vital necessity that young men engage in farming and manufacturing be undisturbed, in order that the food supply and other necessities be constantly provided for. It is believed that the practically unemployed class should be the first to be given military training, and the selective draft provides for it.

The great organ used at the Panama-Pacific International exposition in Festival hall has been presented to the city and installed in the auditorium.

LOCAL INSTITUTE WELL ATTENDED

Many Present at Meeting Held on Last Saturday Afternoon.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Many Prominent Speakers Discuss Subjects Pertaining to School Work Which Are of Vital Interest to Teachers.

A splendid gathering of teachers were present at the last local teachers' institute at Glendale on Saturday, April 21. In spite of adverse weather conditions, thirty-seven registered for the conference and there is no question but that all were well paid for their attendance.

The first speech on the program was by Dr. F. L. Stetson, of the department of education of the University of Oregon. His subject was "Supervised Study." He pointed out the growing need of adequate study supervision especially in connection with the junior high school plan. Much high school teaching is done by merely assigning so many pages as a lesson with no problem laid before the student. The present aim is for the teacher to take a portion of the period to develop problems and aims in connection with every lesson to be studied. Much inefficiency can thus be eliminated and the student led to connect his learning with life problems. Dr. Stetson has spent much time in research work on this problem and is a very able speaker. Mr. J. H. Comby, of the Glendale schools gave a brief discussion on the "Aims of Study." He was followed by Supt. H. R. Marsh, of Glendale on "Blat Tests." Dr. Marsh showed the methods or experiments that should be used to discover the cause of any backwardness in children. His subject is one which should demand the attention of the progressive teacher. At noon luncheon was served by the ladies' aid of the Presbyterian church at the church basement.

In the afternoon session the Misses Beulah Morgan and Ethel Jaques, of Glendale, gave recitations. Then Mr. N. C. Maris, field worker of boys' and girls' club work of Oregon, gave his address on the "Value of Industrial Work." His discussion was very important and one that must interest us all especially in the face of the present food shortage in the country. He very ably outlined the plan of work to be carried on and made an urgent appeal for every teacher to place the importance of food production before the mind of every student and to organize the club work in every school. Surely no teacher in the county can afford to be indifferent as to his or her duty in the important work.

Mrs. Jos. Withcoff, of Glendale, gave an exhibition of folk dances by some primary pupils. Everyone enjoyed seeing the little children in their performance. The closing part of the conference was spent in a discussion on "New School Legislation." This part of the program was led by Supt. O. C. Brown, who presided at both the morning and afternoon sessions. It would be well for every teacher to become familiar with some of the recent legislation which directly bears on their work.

bill which provided that the lands should be sold by the United States and the railroad should be paid $2.50 per acre. The railroad company claimed that this was not in accordance with the decision of the supreme court. The matter was again referred to the supreme court which has apparently held that the Chamberlain bill is constitutional.

Under the provisions of this act the land will be divided into three classes.

Class 1—Power site lands, which include only such lands as are principally valuable for power sites. Such lands will be opened under acts of congress pertaining to that class of lands. Probably less than one percent of the entire grant will be classified as power site lands.

Class 2—Timber lands, which include lands bearing a growth of timber not less than 300,000 feet on each 40 acre sub-division. As stated above timber lands will be sold by competitive bidding in large and small quantities. The total number of acres which are to be disposed of under this act are in excess of 2,500,000 acres. Reports from the classification work which has been done upon the grant by the government during the past summer indicate that fully one half of the lands will be classified as timber lands.

Class 3—All lands not included under class 1 and class 2 are termed agricultural lands. For such lands applicant must pay the government $2.50 per acre and settlement and cultivation are required in addition thereto.

It has taken ten years to get this matter through the courts. The railroad company has tried every possible dodge and has brought to its aid every possible legal technicality.

The greatest lawyers in the country have been arrayed on either side of the case. The final decision means a complete victory for the government. The humorous side of the case is that much of the stock of the old Oregon & California Railroad Co. is owned by residents of Germany, probably some of it by the Kaiser.

MANY INDIANS ARE GATHERING FOR COUNCIL

Many Indians are gathering for the council to be held at Marshfield next Wednesday, according to reports. Many of them have come to this city and are waiting for others to arrive tonight and tomorrow when they will leave for the coast city. The consideration of the treaty is one of the greatest things which has ever happened to the western Oregon Indians, and they are greatly excited over the prospect of securing the claimed twelve million dollars which will come if they win in their allegations.

Superintendent C. E. Coe left yesterday for Florence where he will stop on his way to Marshfield at which place he will take part in the deliberations and will furnish the Indians with what information they desire. The money is claimed as a result of the failure of the government to observe a treaty made in 1855 which decided to the government all land west of the coast range between the Columbia river and the southern boundary and which treaty provided that a reservation of a strip twenty miles wide between Cape Lookout and the mouth of the Siuslaw river should be made for the use of the Indians and that certain improvements should be made.
