Letters From the People

THINKS EDITOR EXPERIENCING A CHANGE OF HEART.

Editor News: April 12, page two, column one, of your paper I read the following: "Of all places, praise should be most lavishly used in the family circle. How many of us keep all our words of kindness for strangers, for those in whom we have not one spark of vital interest, and to the hearts dependent upon us for sympathy and appreciation, have scarcely one cheery word."

Now, Mr. Editor, you have made a good start, and hope your next will read as follows: "Of all places, money should be most lavishly used, it is on the lateral roads in the farming districts of Oregon, from where the town and city people get their money. How many of us want to spend all our money and load the farmers from which we get our living to build sight-seeing roads for the tourists, for whom we have not one spark of vital interest, and to the farmer, upon whom we depend for our living through times of peace and war, we have not one hitchrack for them to tie their teams while they spend their hard-earned money; not a feed yard all fitted up with water, and tables from which they might eat their lunch; not a rest room, where their families may go and wash the mud off that has accumulated on them traveling over the muddy roads to trade with us; and we give the farmers a cheery word when we meet them at the Grange halls through the county once a year, and pat them on the back and say, 'I love you, farmers, but oh you sight-seeing roads and tourists.'"

Now, Mr. City Man, you make your own laws and rules for the city, and we farmers have to respect them. When you buy of us or sell to us you set the price. You make the laws because you outnumber us at the polls. But we think we should have some say about bonding our farms to build a pleasure drive at a cost of from ten to eleven thousand dollars per mile, and we farmers be content with a few streaks of gravel over the county at a cost of only eight hundred dollars per mile. How much has Roseburg gained in population since you have been advertising through the auto tourist camp grounds? What profit have the merchants made on the cheese, crackers and coffee they have sold the tourists? Do you know that any bond issue is only a slight draft on the soil, and the soil pays it in the end? Did the people of Roseburg ask the tourists to help pay rent and to furnish water to carry to their camp grounds? If not why ask the farmers to furnish posts and poles to build a hitch rack? Why not ask him to come in some day and spend his money and then build the hitch rack? I am quite sure he would do it, for all farmers are very generous.

Why are you asking the farmer to make every effort to raise more crops? Are you afraid you will starve in times of war? Can't you live on bonds without the farmer or are you sorry for the soldier and want the crops raised for his use? I believe every farmer would appreciate some of the praise, kindness and cheery words you speak of in your article, and by helping us build our roads you will prove that you like your home people better than strangers.

JACK DAWSON.

PORTLAND MEN TO MAKE VISIT

Will Attend the Strawberry Carnival According to Letter Received.

CONTEMPLATE CONTEST

Action of Carnival Committee in the Various Steps Taken in Preparation for the Event is Generally Approved.

Mark Woodruff, assistant secretary of the Portland chamber of commerce, writes to the carnival committee that Portland intends to be represented at this year's carnival by at least one carload, and may be more, of that city's business men.

Evidently our annual celebration has attractions as Mr. Woodruff states that the Rotary Club, Ad Club Realty Board, Progressive Business Men's Club, East Side Business Men's Club, Transportation Club, Hotel Greeters, City Club, Oregon Motor Association, Hotelmen's Association, and the Greater Portland Association will be represented.

There might be some contests staged between Portland's business men and some from San Francisco, as the chamber of commerce of the latter city is considering sending a delegation. From present indications May 19, will bring a large number of people here from several important cities and our residents must not be lacking in hospitality at the time.

Merchants and general public approve the carnival hat selected by this year's committee. Formerly carnival hats sold for $1.00, but this was considered too much for an article solely for the carnival and placed the committee in competition with local dealers, as many buyers felt they had to continue wearing the cap through the summer. The present style sells at 25c and is suitable for men, women and children. It is appropriate for the carnival and is intended for only temporary use. The price is in accord with the intent of the committee to make the occasion a real carnival with the minimum of expense to participants.

There is also strong approval of the committee's course in furnishing decorations for the school parade. Heretofore considerable time of teachers and pupils consumed and occasionally some money above appropriation made by the committee, but this year the school work will be interrupted very little if at all and decorations may not be as elaborate in detail the massed effect will be pleasing and there will be no rivalry between the several rooms. The form of decorations for each will be determined by some disinterested committee, probably, with regard for age, size, number, etc.

LIBRARY COMMITTEES MET IN JOINT SESSION

A joint meeting of the library committees was held last evening in the office of County Superintendent Brown. City Superintendent Hamlin, chairman of the general library committee, presided. In addition to the regular library committee there were present Robt. E. Smith, who has donated the use of a large front room of his building at the corner of Jackson and Washington streets for library purposes; Mrs. S. D. Evans, president of the '95 Mental Culture club, and Mrs. Wm. Bell, representing that organization, and Dr. W. H. Eaton, representing the Ministerial Union.

Mrs. Jean Pitts for the committee on arrangements reported that the necessary alterations of the room were under way, that furniture and shelving were being provided and that the room would soon be ready for occupancy. The committee was instructed to continue its work.

Mrs. W. Bell, for the Mental Culture Club, read a resolution recently adopted by that organization, pledging their co-operation and support. A copy of the resolution was ordered spread upon the minutes of the library committee and a vote of thanks tendered to the club for its action in the matter.

The magazine committee, through its chairman, R. E. Morris, read a list of magazines and papers which had been selected for the reading tables. The list was approved and Mr. Morris authorized to order the same wherever he could secure the best prices at a sum not to exceed $75.

It was decided to hold a "book day" on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, May 8. A special committee to carry out this program was appointed as follows: R. E. Turner, Ruth Swinney, Mrs. Arundel, O. P. Coshaw, Mrs. Wm. Bell and Dr. Eaton. The committee was authorized to enlarge itself by the addition of one member from each social, civic or other organization that is willing to co-operate in the library movement.
