Entered as second-class matter, November 5, 1909, at Roseburg, Ore., under act of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1917.

MAKE THE AGE LIMIT 40.

It is to be hoped that the house will stick to the determination to have the age limit in the selective draft measure placed at 40 years, instead of at 27 years as the administration bill in the senate requires.

Don't let all this war talk lead you to the belief that the industrial affairs of the country are going to smash. Quite the contrary will be the result.

It is nothing out of the ordinary in Douglas county to meet an old-timer who is crowding the 100-year mark of residence on this earth, and doesn't look it by twenty-five years.

War is just what Sherman said it was—but some fellows got used to it before the state went dry.

Colonel Roosevelt's step into the war arena—with two hundred thousand volunteers—has been checked by congress. Mr. Roosevelt's proposition to fight Germany with his army of volunteers was certainly a patriotic deed and shows the true spirit of the loyal American citizen that he is.

Judging from the scale of wages demanded by farm hands and those engaged in many other pursuits—the high prices paid for farm products of all kinds—the threatened war seems to have developed into a regular, full-fledged booster.

It's dollars to doughnuts that when it comes to voting on the bond issue for better thoroughfares you will find the women casting their ballot in the affirmative.

These gentle spring rains—accompanied by the prevailing warm weather—will open the eyes of the mud and make the onion weep to see daylight.

The billions of dollars of money to be expended in war preparations will be put into circulation in our own country, and this in itself will create new wealth for use in the world struggle for humanity.

Singularly enough, most of those supposedly high minded critics who can see nothing but evil in America's participation in the war have a habit of writing anonymous letters.

The young man who suspects that there is no further opportunity for ambition has only to apply at the nearest recruiting station to be reassured.

The one thing that might halt business now is an unparalytic psychological feeling of panic and a false idea of patriotic economy.

Many a man at forty will be a whirlwind on the firing line. And those between thirty and forty a veritable "go get 'em."

The worst thing that could happen to the world these days would be a business depression in our United States.

Look out for the weeds in the back-yard garden. This is a crop that never fails to make good—in quantity.

Now if we can keep the stray cow from mixing with the back-yard garden a bumper crop is assured.

Soon be time to roll up that big vote for the good roads bond issue—both state and local.

Look pleasant—it's so becoming and good for the muscles of the face.

The strawberry will soon be King—but it can't beat our Queen.

Germany is not so much in need of men as of men that can't be captured.

Intensive farming, defensive fighting—extensive victory.

War in itself does not cause business depression.

Get in trim for the strawberry festival.

Make it twenty-one to forty.

VEXATION OF SPIRIT So long and earnestly I've wrought, Purged the beastly grind, I've ringbones on my dome of thought. And spavins on my mind. The ghostly fear of evil times, Of poverty when old, Has kept me hunting after gold, I have a package put away, Where none can jar it loose. And sometimes at the close of day I wonder what's the use? Throughout this weary worldly jaunt I've skinned and saved and pared— I've done without the things I want, The things for which I cared. To add one round dollar more To what I have in brine, I've made existence sad and sore, And what reward is mine? Why do I slave and toil and grind, Why do I toil and spin? I'll have to leave my roll behind, For others to blow in. Those words seem ever ringing loud, Like some decree of doom: "There is no pocket in a shroud, No cash box in a tomb." The best cure for the above is an income policy with The Actual Life of N. Y. No restrictions as to war. Come and let us reason together and see if I can't convince you that the participating plan is the safest and sure to make the net cost the lowest.

That's a Good Car!

That you bought and that's good money that you put into it. Too good to keep it knocking around the place without a home of its own.
