

THE EVENING NEWS BY BERT G. BATES... SUBSCRIPTION RATES—Daily, per year, by mail, $3.00...

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1917.

NEWSPAPER ANNOYANCES.

Here is something you might stick in your hand: "If I owned a newspaper, what I would say in it just now would be a plenty."

He was invited to write what he wanted to say, with assurance that it would be printed if his signature accompanied it.

He very promptly declined the tender, remarking that "it would hurt his business."

What newspaper has not had this very same experience with this very same yellow tadpole of a citizen who splutters and splutters about what ought to be printed in a newspaper and what ought to be omitted?

That is not all. He writes in it that he will stop his paper if you don't print what he himself won't sign.

The fellow who threatens to stop his paper is trying to do to the newspaper in a small way the very thing that he would condemn as criminal in a corporation that tried in any way to throttle the freedom of the press.

Big magazines with circulation piling toward the million and great metropolitan newspapers are pestered with this pest who wants them to publish something and assume a responsibility for authorship which the pest is too big a coward to assume, and who threatens to stop his subscription if they do not do his bidding.

Otto Flabe writing in the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, thus gives to his readers a summary of the American character:

"Perhaps in this war of surprises, none have been more disingenuous than those caused by the treacherous attitude of America."

"The principal reason is that the average German knows little or nothing about America and Americans. I, who have sojourned over yonder, and have had ample experience of the Yankee character, could not possibly have been surprised at any Judas-like action on the part of that nation or its official representatives."

"In America a prison warden who had kicked to death a prisoner caught attempting to escape, obtained from a judge permission to embalm the man's corpse and to tour the country with the mummy at a charge of $1 to each person to view it! "In America there lives Roosevelt, the man with the teeth of a prehistoric herbivorous mammal, teeth which once seen are never forgotten."

"America the swindler and the cheat is a hero. "As regards American women, I would have them neither as sweethearts nor wives. Of passion or of romantic love they are incapable. Rapacity and willfulness are the keynotes to their character."

An occasional misapprehension of the Red Cross system that is causing criticism is quite unfounded. These critics say that the Red Cross is a single world-wide organization, as well as a movement for world-wide relief.

The editors of the country are playing fair with the government. Despite the fact there is no censor of the press of any consequence, the newspapers are studiously refraining from the publication of war news that might interfere with the work of the war department.

The test case of the new law was also started today when the constable was unable to collect the fee from Roy Bellows, Mr. Bellows, with several other gentlemen have retained O. P. Coshaw as attorney and in the next term of circuit court, the validity of the law will be tried out.
