

GERMAN PAPER HAS ANOTHER NAME

PORTLAND, Sept. 19.—The Oregon Deutsche Zeitung, German language newspaper, is no more, at least under that name. In its place is being published the Portland American which will be printed in the English language exclusively.

This announcement is made editorially in the first issue of the Portland American, which appeared on the streets yesterday as the successor to the Zeitung. A. E. Kern, publisher of the Zeitung, is publisher of the American, and it is understood that Max Lucke, the German-born editor of the Zeitung, who has been under investigation by the government, and other German employes of the paper, have been dismissed.

"The last issue of the Deutsche Zeitung was distributed yesterday to its readers," says an editorial in the American. "The attorney of the German Publishing Company in an interview with the United States Attorney, was informed by this official of his intention to suppress the paper unless it discontinued publication of matter in the German language."

PLAN FOR LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE READY

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—Four million posters of eight designs and 500,000 window cards in one design are to be a part of the ammunition that will be used in the Liberty loan drive to start before October 1 according to local Liberty loan headquarters. The contracts for the posters and cards have just been let by the treasury department and the awards were made after a competition in which 150 sketches were submitted without cost to the government.

The first design chosen represents Uncle Sam pointing to khaki-clad soldiers with aeroplanes and battleships in the background. The inscription is taken from one of Secretary McAdoo's speeches, "Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?"

The second design shows the Statue of Liberty at sunrise and the sky is interwoven with the flag. The inscription reads "Before sunset buy a Liberty Bond."

The third design presents the old Liberty bell and carries the inscription, "Ring it again."

The fourth is a soldier and sailor with clasped hands under the American flag.

The fifth design is of two little children saying, "My daddy is fighting at the front for you. Back him up by buying a Liberty bond."

Design number six is a bronze tablet effect carrying a picture of President Wilson and the American shield with the president's statement: "The time has come to conquer or submit. There is but one choice and we have made it."

Design number seven has the picture of the treasury with the inscription "Lend your money to the government."

The eighth design shows an immigrant ship arriving in New York harbor with the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island and the tall buildings in the foreground.

The window card has a bronze steel tablet effect reading, "Second Liberty Loan 1917—Buy a Bond."

A supply of the poster is expected in a few weeks.

DELIGHTFUL MUSICAL AFTERNOON ENJOYED

Mrs. C. S. Heinline was a pleasing hostess this afternoon when the mothers of her music pupils were delightfully entertained at the Heinline home on Ella street. The reception and dining rooms were arrayed in lovely pink roses, dahlias and geraniums and the effect was most attractive. The afternoon was spent in an enjoyable informal manner and included a splendid musical program and the outlining of the present year's work. A number of the pupils of Mrs. Heinline rendered excellent piano selections, among those participating being Misses Dorothy Yeatch, Ethel Watson, Annabel Deane, Jean Maddox, Dorothy Gordon, Stella Krohn, Eva Rice and Mrs. L. B. Moore. Mrs. Heinline is an instructor of brilliant ability and her pupils compose Roseburg's most successful musicians. At the close of a most enjoyable afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

O. & C. GRANT LANDS ARE AT ISSUE AGAIN

PORTLAND, Sept. 19.—S. W. Williams, special assistant to the attorney general of the United States, is in Portland to remain for some time, in charge of a suit to be brought against the Oregon & California Railroad Company for an accounting of sums received for the sale of Oregon & California grant lands.

The Ferris-Chamberlain bill authorized a suit to determine what amount shall be paid by the government for its $2.50 an acre equity in the 2,300,000 acres of the land grant forfeited.

From this equity there is to be deducted, under the bill, money for back taxes due the counties, and money which the railroad company has received for the sale of its lands in excess of $2.50 per acre. Just how much has been so received, and accordingly how much to deduct, will be determined in the suit for an accounting.

An interesting question will also arise over the status of the Booth-Kelly Lumber Company as an innocent purchaser of Oregon & California grant lands. This company bought approximately 70,000 acres from the railroad company prior to 1908, paying from $10 to $15 an acre. Later, under an act of congress of 1912, it was required to pay the government $2.50 on each acre, for which it is now suing the railroad company. Mr. Williams will determine whether the government is interested in any way in this suit.

Mr. Williams spent several months here two years ago for the purpose of making a detailed report to the attorney-general.

His findings formed the basis for the Ferris-Chamberlain bill. He was instrumental in obtaining for the state its percentage of the money to be obtained from sale of the grant lands. Under the arrangement adopted, the state's school fund will receive 25 per cent, the road fund 25, the United States reclamation fund 40 and the government treasury 10 per cent.

Mr. Williams during his stay here, probably will supervise and handle the payments of back taxes which are to be made by the government to the Oregon counties.

TWO MORE TRAINS OF TROOPS ARRIVE

Two more troop trains passed through this city yesterday evening, and were fed here. The second train which brought more than 450 of the recruits was composed of men from San Mateo, Tulare, and Kern counties, Bakersfield furnishing the largest number of any one place, the number from there being 202.

The boys were in especially good spirits apparently and seemed eager to get into active service. The sides of the cars were covered with slogans among which were "We'll kill the kaiser, girls, don't worry." "We want the kaiser and we're going to get him," and others of a similar nature. One car had a cartoon of the kaiser with the words, "U. S. for him." Another cartoon was that of a German dachshund, with the words "His dog now, his goat next."

The third train, which brought the largest number of men who passed through this city yesterday arrived last night at about 8:45. This train was composed of about 650 men from Stockton, which furnished over 200, and more than 100 from the rest of San Joaquin county. The remainder were from Napa, Sonoma, and Eldorado counties.

These boys like those of the other two trains seemed in good spirits and eager to get "a lick at the kaiser."

These cars like those of the other trains were covered with slogans from the different companies, one quite conspicuous and rather suggestive one being "Good Night, Kaiser." These boys as well as the others had chalked expressions, wishing the kaiser in a good deal warmer climate than that of California.

On this train as well as the two earlier in the day there was considerable evidence that "California has not yet gone dry." Quite a large crowd was at the station to see the trains pull in.

NO EXTRA SESSION WILL BE CALLED

SALEM, Or., Sept. 19.—After further investigation into the advisability of convening the legislature in extraordinary session, Governor Withycombe today expressed the belief that there will be no necessity of calling a special session to care for the dependents of men called into military or naval service.

The governor recently wired Senator McNary to ascertain the progress made on the war insurance bill, and today was advised by telegram that Senator McNary has conferred with the senate finance committee concerning the war risk insurance bill.

"It is predicted that the bill will come before the senate and there pass into law early in October," Senator McNary telegraphs. "By the terms of the bill provision is made for soldiers' dependents. Forwarding you copy of bill by mail today."

"With legislation of this character practically enacted by the federal government, the need of state intervention to care for dependents is very small," said Governor Withycombe.
