UNCLE SAM HELPS IN TECHNICAL TRAINING

O. A. C., Corvallis, Sept. 20.—To help Oregon boys to get the special technical and military training that will make them effective workers in the arts of war while the conflict lasts and in the great reconstruction era that will witness the rehabilitation of war-torn Europe, Uncle Sam has made the following generous offer to all who enter O. A. C.:

1. Free uniforms to all who take the military training.
2. Two extra pairs of breeches, two flannel shirts and a service hat, to those in the advanced section of the reserve officers training corps.
3. Cash allowance for rations at the rate of $9 a month to all who have had two years of military training under government supervision.
4. A chance to win one of the ten nominations for West Point as long as the excellence of the military work gives the distinguished rating.

To make this co-operation most effective the college on its part has provided a number of technical courses designed to assist the students of military science, has issued two military bulletins and has pledged itself to maintain all former courses that are of military value, with a full set of instructors in charge.

Attendance at technical schools offering military training under government direction is urged upon young men in a position to take college work, by President Wilson and his cabinet, the U. S. commissioner of education, the National Educational Association, the governor of Oregon, the state school superintendent, and President Kerr. Indications are that the youth of the state are responding and that attendance, especially in the freshmen classes, will be larger than ever before.

FERDALE FOLK HAVE LEARNED CO-OPERATION

In the first place, I can not write about Ferndale without mentioning the surrounding country, says Carl J. Menz, in the Oregon Farmer. They both depend to a certain extent for their success on each other. The business men depend on dealing with the farmers. The farmers depend on selling their products and buying their supplies in Ferndale. If it were not for the condenser, creamery and fruit cannery, the farmers could not market their products to an advantage. And if it were not for the farmers, there would be no industries and no town to speak of.

Therefore, to further the welfare of all concerned, the business men and farmers, after much discouragement, have built and equipped a fruit cannery that provides a market for all perishable fruit products that formerly went to waste. This cannery has been a great help to city and country alike.

The local condenser and creamery, and business men as well, are interested in the upbuilding of the country as well as city. They are interested in good dairy herds, in good farming methods and in the reclamation of unneeded land for agricultural purposes. They realize that the farmers need good roads to

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

market their products; therefore they are enthusiastic over the building of cement roads to tap the farming districts. The business men realize that buying from small order houses in a distant city is detrimental to the welfare of city and country alike, and consequently they offer as good service as is consistent with good business management. They offer only standard advertised merchandise because they and the manufacturer stand back of it. Ferndale and adjacent country are closely united by a consolidated school district—five small districts being consolidated into one large district. This is merely a progressive step in the nationalization and coordination of educational affairs. Consolidation also helps to instill the spirit of mutual co-operation between city and country.

But what makes Ferndale and surrounding country what it is? There is only one answer—the people. If it were not for the people the country would still be a virgin forest, and the home of wandering animals. Although of many nationalities, the people are gradually blending into a new race—Americans. They are striving to form the integral part of a nation that shall eventually be foremost in the world. Passing events are verifying this claim.

The imaginary economic barrier that so often exists between city and country has long since vanished from Ferndale and vicinity. The people realize that the day of individuality has passed, and gradually knowing that the only path for them to follow is the path of progress, they are changing to the inevitable—co-operation; not destructive co-operation, but constructive co-operation that serves a useful purpose conducted by men of honesty and integrity of character who will not forsake principle for principal; co-operation that develops the city and country alike; in short, co-operation that means help yourself at the same time helping your fellow men.

COUNTY CLERK GETS AMUSING LETTER

A short time ago a bob cat scalp was sent to the county clerk's office with a request for the bounty on the same. The clerk, by his deputy, Miss Rita Cobb, wrote to the sender of the scalp explaining that according to the law it would be necessary for the whole hide to be sent.

That the recipient of the letter, thinks Miss Cobb is a man, and also not familiar with the bounty law, is evidenced by the following letter, received this morning at the county clerk's office from "somewhere in Douglas county":

"I received your letter of the 19th and was completely shocked to think that I had to send the whole hide to get the bounty on it.

"Mr. Cobb I think you must be a green-horn in the office. Perhaps you would be of more benefit stopping bulletins in France. Even if I am only a school girl sixteen years, I know that I don't have to send the hide of a bob cat to get the bounty. If one has to send the whole hide to get the bounty, it must be a new law of your own as no one out here ever heard of it.

"I suppose you want the $2.00 to buy your wife a box of bon-bons, but I'm afraid you won't get it. I want the bounty on my bob cat scalp, or the scalp returned immediately."

DOOMED ANY WAY SAYS SOLDIER

An amusing incident of the Golden Gate special's visit in Roseburg and one that was overheard by a News reporter is hereby related. Two young fellows were walking up Jackson street enroute to the depot, each partaking of an ice cream cone. One remarked to the other "that he understood that Roseburg was infested with typhoid fever and that the germs were in everything from ice cream to the drinking water. However," said one of the chaps, "We might as well die from the effects of these naughty little typhoid germs as to be shot by a Fritzky, for we're doomed anyway."
