

RAGTIME SONGS FOR SOLDIER BOYS

Singing Instructor will be Placed in Each Training Camp.

GOOD WEAPON IN WAR

Parodies on Popular Songs Will be Introduced Among the Men to cheer them on to Victory.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Felix Sam's army national airs is to be a singing army, according to lieutenant Richard E. Boyd, U. S. N., now in the west in the interest of the war camp community recreation service.

Experience has shown that singing adds materially to the morale of the troops. Many a commander has said that he does not see the outcome when an army goes into battle-singing. A German regiment on the march will sing in a way to make one's hair stand on end. The men will sing along to a foreign song that runs for six hours, and then will stop abruptly for two hours, and sing four hours more and then stop for four hours. German are just as efficient in their singing as they are in their fighting.

Every national resource that we have in the way of ragtime songs will be needed when we meet the trained singing soldiers of the Kaiser and as we learn from their in-trill fighting, so we must learn from them in this. In each of the eleven or more camps throughout the United States there is to be sent a singing instructor who will teach them not only ragtime, but ragtime songs of their own selection.

A number of parodies on popular songs have already been introduced into the army by the tech. camp soldier. Among them are the following:

Kaiser Bill.

(Tune: "On the Beach at Niceville") Kaiser Bill, oh, see-see-see-see. With our army over our heads, and you'll see-see-see-see. Which is, "Do not trust an ally."

"I'll Show You How Corns Peel Off!"

Ever Peel a Banana Skin? That's It! "I should worry about those corns—I just put some 'Stet's' on 'em. Corns peel to water the world into a fresh, smoother nose, shining, shining toes, tinkling with pleasure."

"Stet's" Puts Your Feet in Clover

"It ends corns quick." and takes trying to get corns so it wouldn't hurt. But now no one in the world "should worry," because the moment you put "Stet's" on, it means the end of a corn. There is nothing in the world like "Stet's"—nothing so safe and sure. It's something that you can count on to take off a corn or corns every time, and without danger. The corn never grows that "Stet's" will not get. It never irritates the flesh, never makes your feet sore. Just two drops of "Stet's" and presto! the corn-pain vanishes. Shortly you can peel the corn right off with your finger and there you are, corn-free and happy with the "Stet's." Never happens before, but get a bottle of "Stet's" today. No more than 25¢, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Roseburg and vicinity only at the world's greatest shoe store, Nathan Fullerton.

Antlers Theatre Secures the Arcraft-Paramount Selective Star Series.

STARTS DECEMBER FIRST

George Werner, Now at Portland, Arranges For a Showing of Movies at the Local Theatre—Good Program Secured.

One of the immediate results of Mr. Geo. Werner's prolonged stay in the city of Portland in the interests of the Antlers theatre, is the booking of the new selective star series of the Arcraft-Paramount Pictures Corporation. This means that beginning December 1, all of the new Arcraft-Paramount pictures will be shown at the Antlers theatre. This includes such stars as Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Marguerite Clark, Wm. S. Hart, Charles Ray, Julian Eltinge, who is now showing at the People's theatre in Portland, Pauline Frederick, Geo. M. Cohan, Emil Bennett, Geraldine Farrar, etc. The first Arcraft picture to be shown under the new contract was "Down to Earth," Douglas Fairbanks, Rebecca Sanybrook Farm, Mary Pickford and "The Charming Countess," Julian Eltinge. Mr. Eltinge by the way, is the greatest female impersonator the world has ever seen and he seems to wonder at advantage his pictures being among the finest and most popular of the Arcraft series. Mr. Werner personally inspects all pictures now shown at the Antlers and any picture that is not up to the standard is rejected and will not be shown in Roseburg.

PROHIBITION HITS NATION'S CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Wash. (Special Column) on the front page of the nation's capital today. News of the 100th anniversary of the act passed by congress, making the business in Columbia, the territory of the nation's capital.

The nation's capital will celebrate the centennial of the act in the main by a parade and a festival.

The drinking population believes the fact that no opportunity was given for an expression of the desires of the residents, but that prohibition was forced upon them by the votes of the citizens of far distant states. However, the people have had a voice to express themselves on the idea of a suitable "even" and the change will be made without attracting much public attention.

For the next few months, those who do not intend to abstain entirely from liquor have been stocking up their cellars. Retail sales have been three or four times as large as normal. The demand for wet goods would have consumed the supply in the city long ago but that a normal quantity has been brought in just about as fast as transportation facilities would allow. During the last few weeks, the liquor dealers have been able to keep up with the demand and the result has not been a serious shortage.

They have the well-known wet goods. Mr. E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Roseburg and vicinity only at the world's greatest shoe store, Nathan Fullerton.

Why Your Electric Light Bills Go Up and Down

In Winter you depend upon artificial lighting nearly three times as many hours in each 24 as in summer.

In June the average use of electric light, in a residence, is 2 hours and 35 minutes a day.

In December the average use of electric light in a residence, is 6 hours and 50 minutes a day.

This is Perfectly Natural as the summer days grow shorter the "electric light hours" become longer, so on until January when the days grow longer and the "electric light hours" grow shorter.

There are Other Reasons, too, why your bills in fall and winter are larger than in the spring and summer—good reasons that show it is simply the result of the season's changes; your more extensive use of the electric light, and not the fault of the electric light company at all.

When Summer is over, vacations are over. Everybody is home again; more rooms are occupied; more light is needed.

Long Evenings—late bedtimes, the outside cold keeps us indoors. The soft cozy glow of electric light makes reading a pleasure. More people stay at home on this account. The newspapers, magazines, study or a good book music and games pass the evenings all too quickly. It is bed time before one knows it.

More Entertaining is Done—parties at home for the grownups and the little folk. Some times the house fairly radiates with the good cheer of electric light.

Think this all over Carefully and you will see "why" your winter electric light bills can reasonably triple those of summer.
