FISHERMEN PICK UP $15,000, DIAMONDS

The U-boats Make a Profitable Route Along Their Course of Travel.

AUTOMOBILES FOUND

Huge Profits Made From Loss at Sea By Salvage Companies—Large Consignments of Food Taken From Wrecks.

BASE AMERICAN FLOTILLAS IN BRITISH WATERS, October 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Irish fishermen along the coasts where the U-boats operate, have made some remarkable catches during the past year. The story of the fishermen who found a $15,000 box of diamonds from the Lusitania in his nets one day, and whose honesty in returning them to their rightful owners was rewarded by a check for $1,000, is well known. There is another fisherman who came home from a fishing expedition with a fine new American automobile lashed to the deck of his little trawler. There are hundreds of fishermen who have made modest fortunes out of salvage of one kind or another. Wheat, flour and coal salvage are all profitable businesses in the coast towns nowadays.

The story of the man who came home from the sea with a brand new automobile is a household favorite in the Irish ports. Accompanied by his son he was mackerel fishing when he was aroused by the report of an explosion. On the horizon a cargo steamer from America was settling by the stern. It had been torpedoed. The fishermen headed for it and soon met the captain and crew in two open boats. "She's loaded with American automobiles, you might get one before she goes under," said the skipper jokingly as he and his shipmates passed on toward shore.

The torpedoed ship was still well above water when the fishermen came alongside. He at once sent his son on board to look around. The latter found the hold full of automobiles. "Run one out through this gangway," directed the father. With the aid of some tackle the machine was dropped into the fishing vessel. A few moments later as the trawler steamed away the ship disappeared. The fisherman with an automobile is now the envy of his village.

Many torpedoed vessels manage to reach short where they are usually pounded to pieces on the rocks. But before the cargo is lost forever people come from miles around to salvage it. Anything that will float is used and everyone helps himself. Men, women and children attack cargo and ship removing brass fittings and anything else of value. Flour and canned foods, fruits and vegetables form the larger portion of the salvage articles.

One village has had the good fortune to have a couple of food ships coming up on the bar, deserting. Most of the ships of course are down at once. But this does not by any means the days from which have been known in trawler circles hundred tracks of the best American flour from a vessel while it is sinking many miles from land. In the explosion bears a big enough hole in the starboard bow of the carrier will become jammed and wash ashore where it is quickly seized by the watchful eyes of the natives.

Salvage companies salvage cargoes at once and are making huge profits. Some have transferred their whole staffs to the coast. Their agents can bid on a wheat cargo without seeing it and can tell just how far into a pack of flour the water will have penetrated in a given period.

Bear a Distinctive Mark.

LONDON, October 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—British soldiers who have served in the great war will henceforth bear a distinctive mark of their service on their uniforms. The war office announces that a chevron stripe will be immediately issued to every soldier who serves overseas in a theatre of war. Soldiers whose service dates back to 1914 will be given a red chevron, and those whose service began that year will get a blue stripe. An additional blue stripe will be awarded for each aggregate of 12 months' service. The new stripe will be worn by officers as well as privates.

Bread Cards Issued.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Bread cards have been issued to the housewives of Paris, though the system has not yet been instituted. The ration which was fixed at a pound per day per head by the preceding minister of provisions, will probably not exceed a half pound per head. But garcs, whose principal resources are agricultural allows a pound a day. Bread rations to civilians in belligerent and neutral countries to date are as follows:

Bulgaria, 18 ounces; Denmark, 16 ounces; Germany, 9 ounces; Austria 8 ounces; Sweden, 8½ ounces; Holland, 7 ounces; Switzerland, 7 ounces; Italy, 5 ounces; England, practically 4 ounces; England (restaurant), 3 ounces; Turkey, 2 ounces. Bread is made in Germany of flour containing 94 per cent of wheat, in Austria the flour is 90 per cent, while 85 per cent is used in France.

"THOU SHALT NOT KILL"

Death Sentence Deliberately Pronounced and Executed Upon Nature's Mistake By Nearest and Dearest.

(The Night, Nov. 13.—Thou shalt kill."

A young mother, loved more than a god, feared her baby to her breast, suckled it, kept keeping breath for the stilled heart, and then poured from a bottle a dose of medicine and gave it to him. As she did so she spoke aloud, weeping, the words from the Sixth Commandment flashed before her vision. "Thou shalt not kill."

For the thing she gave was not such as other mothers have given a soothing curative for ailments of childhood, but a deadly portion which brought pain one day to arrive at a close a little life hopeless from the first, which is being studiously and knowingly snuffed out under the direction of Dr. Harry J. Haussden so that its possession may not grow up a helpless imbecile, a burden to himself and a charge upon humanity.

Other mothers have watched in grief as their little ones stopped their last breath, other doctors have with kind the drug that might have saved or prolonged a useless life, but that is believed to be the first time that a physician deliberately and openly pronounced the death sentence on a child who would otherwise would have lived and left a void in many hearts.

The mother, who with her own penalties, hands daily administers the deadly potion which in two or three months will take the child to Mrs. Pauline Hodgson, who lives on a cot-cot flat in the rear of the Noble Way street. The child is her second and final one and she has had no employment for the past year. She has said on an employee at the Automatic Electric Co. earning her $12 a week. She cannot provide the comforts of life and permit herself to spend much the idea of the child is entirely out of mind.

Home for Needy Children.

You see the child from head to toe is the victim of a disease which is known to science as imbecility. It is well formed, and might be all right physically were it not for the fact that it is a mental defective. It is a child that is born to be a burden to itself and to others. It is a child that is born to be a burden to itself and to others. It is a child that is born to be a burden to itself and to others.
