ATTORNEY GENERAL IS ALL FOR AMERICA

There is no double standard of Americanism now, Attorney General Geo. M. Brown told the audience assembled at the Noble theatre Sunday afternoon for the annual memorial exercises of the Elks lodge. Never before did the American flag demand such unqualified support as now and no "ifs" can be tolerated in the attitude of its citizens. Mr. Brown made a highly-patriotic talk, eulogizing the great American leaders and what the United States means to its citizens at the world.

He lauded the lodge of Elks as the foremost of patriotic organizations, whose membership is confined to the U. S. domain. He pointed out what the Elks have done and are doing to aid in America's struggle to make the world safe for democracy and freedom, and said that it was significant that General Pershing, leader of the U. S. forces in France, is an Elk, a member of El Paso lodge.—Coos Bay Times.

TAX COMMISSION REPORT.

According to County Assessor Cox checking the total taxable valuation of property assessed by the state tax commission and apportioned to Douglas county is $6,156,194.23 for 1917.

COUNTY OFFICIAL IN "GRAVE DANGER"

Geo. Quine received the shock of his life in the county jail when he was informed by a 14 year-old prisoner that unless he (Sheriff Quine) furnished the youthful charge with a square meal the sheriff's new wool would be plastered on by a hammered fist and the set whiskers of an Elk. The sheriff up to the time of going to press had not fully recovered his usual composure and was still experiencing "cold chills." The boy in question is being held in jail pending a wire from the sheriff at Tacoma where the young worry, Willie and his companion declare they are traveling from to somewhere in the United States." It is reported by the local authorities that the runaways are wanted in Tacoma and they will be detained at the Hotel de Quine until further notice is vacate.

C. F. Reed will leave this evening for Salem where he will attend the meeting of the state horticultural society which will be held in that city this week.

MOON INSURANCE CASE IN JUSTICE COURT

The case of W. J. Moon vs. Dr. Hagar, an action to recover the sum of $25 alleged by the plaintiff who was represented by Attorney Sandblast, to be due on an insurance policy executed by the plaintiff on July 12 to cover furniture of defendant's home, 424 Cass, which was insured for $1,000, came up before Judge Riddle this afternoon.

Attorney John T. Long conducted the defense and contended that the policy in question was written in favor of Mr. Lawrence of the Sunshine ranch, who at times stayed with in the driver, and not for him as alleged by the plaintiff. Little testimony was given outside of that offered by the principals in the action.

Judge Riddle was forced to quell a small war near the conclusion of the case. In making his statement to the court Attorney Long was reading from an insurance policy introduced as evidence when he was cut short, interrupted by the plaintiff Mr. Moon who objected to the manner in which the attorney was quoting the wording of the policy. Attorney Long at once ordered Mr. Moon to be seated and not getting the desired results became annoyed and loudly inquired of the court. "Do you want me to take a full out of him?" "Take it," quickly replied Moon, whereupon the stern hand of the law interrupted the argument that might have proved distressing to both antagonists.

After hearing both arguments of the opposing counsel Judge Riddle held that the case involved technical questions of law and requested that the attorneys prepare briefs and submit them before the court Monday morning. This ruling was agreeable to both attorneys and the case will rest for further disposition.
