URGENT APPEAL TO CONSERVE IS MADE

"Surely No One Can Now Plead Ignorance" Says Food Administrator.

GIVEN MUCH PUBLICITY

Hotels and Restaurants in The State Are Asked to Lose No Time In Observing Wheatless and Meatless Days.

An urgent appeal is made by Federal Food Administrator W. B. Ayer to all the hotels and restaurants in the state not already observing the wheatless and meatless days every week, to lose no time in inaugurating this patriotic conservation measure.

"Surely no one can now plead ignorance," says Mr. Ayer. "There has been so much publicity, through so many channels, about the weekly "meatless" and "wheatless" days, that everyone knows all about it and its purposes. The Hoover schedule is being generally observed throughout the nation, and there is no longer any excuse for laggards. Tremendous quantities of meat, wheat, fats and sugar are being saved every week by the public eating places of the country, with no hardship whatever to them or their patrons. The conservation spirit is now so enthusiastic and so universal that hotel and restaurant men have more to fear in the way of lost patronage through failing to observe the "meatless" and "wheatless" days than by keeping to their old menus on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Let there be no exceptions anywhere in Oregon. Every public eating place should be doing its share of the conservation needed, and swelling the splendid total that is already being reported at Washington. No matter how small, or how isolated the hotel or restaurant, its co-operation is important and it should get into line with a "meatless" Tuesday and a "wheatless" Wednesday."

By way of seeing that this appeal meets with the proper response, Mr. Ayer has enlisted the aid of the small army of traveling men, whose business takes them up and down the state, into every village and hamlet. These traveling men will act as special agents for the food administration, and will report conditions as they find them in the various hotels as they go along.

With several hundred of these patriotic "knights of the grip" carrying the conservation message into out-of-the-way places, enthusiastically preaching the gospel of wheatless and meatless days, and reporting back to headquarters any cases of indifference or deliberate defiance of the Hoover schedule, Mr. Ayer believes the few laggards will soon be lined up.

CONVICTS KNITTING FOR THE SAMMIES

Socks Being Turned Out at Rate One Pair Every 14 Minutes.

CHARGE OF RED CROSS

Both Men and Women Prisoners Take Interest in the Work—Many Want to Fight The Kaiser.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Knitting needles are flying in the cells and workshops at the San Quentin and Folsom state penitentiaries and a big consignment of socks, sweaters and other sartorial comforts are being turned out for the American troops in France and in the dooryards of the service. At San Quentin the 24 women inmates are spending all of their time not taken up by other duties in turning out wristlets, socks and many other articles of apparel designed to keep out the cold. In Folsom practically every male prisoner has become adept at the knitting needles, and a half dozen knitting machines have been installed in addition. Some of the operators there are said to Warden J. J. Smith to be turning out a pair of socks every fourteen minutes.

The Red Cross is directing the work in both institutions.

The 1,300 prisoners at San Quentin are not engaged in knitting but they are besieging Warden James A. Johnston with requests that they be allowed to join the armed forces of the nation. Hundreds of the men have told the warden that they are willing to place themselves in the custody of the United States army in order that they might go to the trenches and then be returned to the prison to finish their terms.

Under the laws of the state, however, neither a prison convict or an ex-convict can join the armed forces of the country. The only thing that permits them to do so is an absolute pardon from the governor.

Because of this the prisoners will have to talk to their desire to serve by knitting and other war activities that may be carried on within the walls of a prison.
