TIME FOR ARGUMENT HAS NOW CEASED

Every Man Must Put Shoulder To the Wheel in This World-Wide War.

NO SELFISH INTERESTS

Any Person Thinks of Self Instead of America is on a Par With Uniformed Soldier Who Deserts His Ranks.

America's one and only business today is war. Whether we like it or not, we are at war, and war to the death. The time for argument has passed. Never since the battle of Lexington have the people of this country been faced by the absolute necessity of instant and united action as one man, or let American liberty and justice perish from the earth.

The United States must—MUST, not ought to—place 5,000,000 of her very best men on the battlefields with her allies at the earliest possible hour. They will go. From farm and factory and workshop they will go, ready to offer "the last full measure of devotion" to their country. No one should stand in their way, or seek to have them or any of them relieved of the responsibility to which their country has called them. Rather will every patriotic man and woman who remains at home do his or her utmost in their absence not only to maintain present efficiency of industry, but to increase that efficiency.

Our soldiers must be armed and fed and clothed, and the person who contributes his utmost to arm and feed and clothe them is himself a soldier. America's war motto should be: "Soldiers Everywhere." Soldiers on the firing line; soldiers digging trenches; soldiers felling trees; soldiers building railroads; soldiers building ships; soldiers making munitions; soldiers making clothing; soldiers manufacturing foods; soldiers handling freight; soldiers producing foodstuffs—every man from the plow on the farm to the rifle in the trench equally indispensable as a part of the great war machine that must win this conflict. The person in any walk of life, in any industry—farm, office, factory, anywhere—who today thinks of self instead of America is to that extent a traitor to his country as the uniformed soldier who deserts the army.

Germany's efficiency has astounded the world. No other nation could alone have waged so successful and so long a war on practically the entire world as Germany has. But for decades she has been getting ready. Forty years ago Germany was putting into practice in her industries efficiency measures that America is today reluctantly and with difficulty putting into hers. German efficiency is such that every ounce of energy of every individual is applied without lost motion to the one great purpose, and America must follow the same ironclad rule. Every ounce of human energy must be applied that the soil may produce her utmost and every ounce of that produce must be made to contribute to the accomplishment of America's one great purpose, the winning of this war.

When it comes to exemptions on account of occupation of the young man under the elective draft, section 80 of the regulations prescribed by President Wilson, November 8, 1917, says:

"It is the interest of the nation solely that must be subserved. The interest of individuals can not be considered as such and can only benefit from the action of district boards where the individual interest happens to coincide with the interest of the nation; and, furthermore, the success of the nation's military operations is the dominant object in which the conservation of certain industries is related as one means to that end."

In this connection the following part of rule 17 will be of interest:

"A particular industrial or agricultural enterprise shall be found to be necessary only when it is shown of such enterprise that it is a well conducted and going concern, contributing substantially and materially to the military establishment, the effective operation of the military forces, or the maintenance of the national interest during emergency; and, further, of a particular agricultural enterprise, that it is apparently producing an appreciable amount of agricultural produce over and above what is necessary for the maintenance of those living on the place."

The following definition of the word "necessary" as applied to the registrant is given in rule 18:

"1. That the registrant is actually and completely engaged in the enterprise in the capacity recited and that he is competent and qualified in that capacity."

"2. That the removal of the registrant would result in direct substantial, material loss and detriment to the adequate and effective operation of the enterprise to a degree proportionate to the importance of the capacity recited in the rule."

"3. That the available supply of persons competent in the capacity recited in the rule is such that the registrant can not be replaced in such capacity without direct, substantial, material loss and detriment to the adequate and effective operation of the enterprise to a degree proportionate to the importance of such capacity."

"Note: In applying rule 18 the board shall consider generally:

"1. The length of time the registrant has been engaged in the capacity."

"2. The nature of claimant's study, training and experience."

"3. The actual condition which would result from his removal."

According to the selective service regulations—

Those engaged in, and necessary to the effective operation of, a necessary agricultural enterprise are to be exempted in class 1, first called.

Class 2 will include those exempted in class 1, but will exempt skilled farm laborers engaged in a necessary agricultural enterprise.

Class 3 will include those exempted in the first two classes, but will exempt assistant farm managers, farm foremen, etc., engaged in a necessary agricultural enterprise.

Class 4 will include those exempted in the first three classes, but will exempt those engaged in a necessary agricultural enterprise who are acting "in the capacity of sale managing, controlling and directing head of the enterprise."

To emphasize the importance of the farm in America's business of war is to repeat what every one knows. Every link in the great chain from the farm to the battle front must be without flaw. If one link fails, all will fail. The farm is the anchor link at the home end of the chain and must bear all the strain of the greatest effort America ever made. In view of the conditions as set forth in this article, what do you find it possible to do to add to the strength of the farm link in the chain?—Oregon Farmer, December 25.

DR. GEARY HAS 3 SONS IN THE SERVICE

Well represented in the signal corps of the United States army is the family of Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Geary, three sons having already joined that branch of the service and a fourth is now seeking admission, says the Portland Telegram.

Arthur M. Geary, University of Oregon and Columbia university graduate, is a second lieutenant in the signal corps, having won his commission at the second officers' training camp at the Presidio, He is now stationed at San Antonio, Texas.

Edward A. Geary, graduate of the Universities of Oregon and Wisconsin and O. A. C., is at the army observation balloon school at Fort Omaha.

Roland W. Geary, having completed ground work in the aviation corps at Berkeley, is now a second lieutenant at San Antonio, and Richard F. Geary has applied for admission to the aviation corps, following a recent examination at Seattle. All of the young men are graduates of Portland academy.

The Geary family is well known in this city having visited here on numerous occasions.

J. J. Kester, of Deer Creek, was in the city today looking after business matters.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning in side-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.
