SURVIVOR HALAFAX EXPLOSION WRITES

Thanks Mrs. Mary Critser, a Douglas Pioneer, For Pair Socks.

TELLS PATHETIC STORY

Graphic Description of the Awful Ravages of Fire Following the Explosion of Munition Ship Monte Blanc.

Mrs. Mary Critser, a Douglas county pioneer, well known by many people of this section, and whose son, Chas. Critser, now resides at Melrose, but who herself is a resident of Portland, where she makes her home with another son, Henry, was recently the recipient of a letter from one of the sufferers of the Halifax disaster, whose graphic story of the ruin wrought there on December 6, 1917, will be eagerly read by all News subscribers. Mrs. Critser, who is 75 years of age, was supplied with a quantity of yarn by the Red Cross, and knit two pair of socks, which she turned over to the association to be sent to needy fields. In the toe of each sock she placed her name, age and address. In the due course of time a large amount of supplies were sent to the Halifax sufferers by the Portland Red Cross, and included in the lot were at least one pair of the socks knit by Mrs. Critser. The lady recently received a letter expressing appreciation for the gift in this wise:

Dear Madam: You will undoubtedly be surprised to receive this letter, and from such a far address at that, but I feel impelled to write to you. Perhaps you have read in the papers of the great Halifax explosion, when the munition ship Monte Blanc went up in smoke and left the city in ruins. Undoubtedly you have, as the disaster was world-wide, in the sense that it appalled the world.

Well, I am one of the unhappy sufferers who, while not injured myself, has lost family, home and everything, in the terrible upheaval that lay Richmond in ruins. My home was in the heart of the devastated district, and but a scant eighth of a mile from where the explosion took place. I had gone in town early that fatal Thursday morning, December 6, when at five minutes after nine the world rocked, buildings swayed, and a most appalling noise beat on the ears like the knell of doom. But twenty seconds and it was over. A town that had been a wreck, everywhere people were rushing, blood streaming from faces. On the air was a low, moaning, pent-up cry, like a multitude in agony. Over doomed Richmond hung an ominous cloud of smoke and dust. None knew what had happened, but it was the general opinion that the dock yard magazine had gone up. Even then no one had an idea that the effects were so appalling and disastrous. I feared for those at home, but as until I came to the ring of fire that encircled the doomed area, did hope begin to leave me. Pray God you may never see such sights. The mangled dead, the poor, maimed dying, the wounded—it was a burning, shattered hell.

When I reached my home the wreck of it was in flames. In it there perished my mother, sister, and little nephew, only their charred remains have been recovered. My brother's body was identified at the morgue. He had a shrapnel wound through the heart. My sister-in-law, married sister, and her little boy were identified, but another child was never found. My brother's child was rescued but died later at the hospital. Father was D. A. R. agent at the Richmond terminals. We did not find his body until Christmas eve.

In the better clothing that was given out I received a pair of socks, woolen, with your name, address and age given on a slip of paper concealed in the heel. I thought, perhaps, that you might be interested in hearing how your handwork far outlived its maker. I never wore socks more gratefully received, and never wear thanks more sincerely tendered than those I send to you. God bless and keep you. May the new year have dawned brighter and fairer for you than it has for me.

Gratefully and respectfully yours,
GEORGE WEISS,
Age, 24 years.
