FOOD FOR SOLDIERS INSPECTED.

The quartermaster corps, charged with the responsibility of feeding and clothing the soldiers, is rigidly inspecting the food purchased for the troops to see that only pure articles are supplied. As an indication of the amount of food that must be obtained, says a statement authorized by the quartermaster general, 1,000,000 men consume daily 1,500,000 pounds of beef, 225,000 pounds of bacon, 210,000 pounds of ham, 135,000 cans of tomatoes, and 225,000 cans of jam—with other articles aggregating 6,750,000.

These quantities of food stuffs are subjected to thorough inspection, which begins at the source and continues until the food is actually consumed. Each depot of the quartermaster corps is a central subsistence business of its own, supplying the camps, cantonments, aviation fields, and other posts in its territory. The subsistence officers are held responsible for the quality of the goods they receive.

Before the supplies reach the depots, however, they are passed upon by inspectors in the packing houses, canneries, and other sources of origin. The records at Washington show the capabilities, character, and standard of every establishment furnishing food for the army. The specifications which their products must meet are clear and exact.

The inspection branch maintains a current file of unreliable dealers and unreliable products, insuring the elimination of dealers, who, having been denied the right to supply some of the many depots of the army, make subsequent attempts to obtain contracts at other points.

We have been at war more than a year; we have shed our blood on the battle fields of France; yet the whole American people have not become partners in the great enterprise; first, for the reason that they have no acute realization of what it all means; second, because the majority of them have as yet no intimate personal stake in the struggle. When you read of millions of fighting men in the European armies and of billions of dollars being poured out on the red altar, you are apt to lose sight of the large part that small things play in the conflict. Yet the whole stupendous effort is made possible by the sum of small units. Just as the war is being won by the private soldier, so must the cost be defrayed by the private coin. The vast treasure recruited from a comparatively few peoplen will not be so potent a factor in determining the result as the money of the masses. In other words, the quarter that you put into a thrift stamp is like the drop of water that makes the rushing rivulet or the grain of sand that builds up the mighty shore.

There is going to be no disposition on the part of the voters of the great state of Oregon to trade off a governor of the type of James Withycombe for a fellow like Ben Olcott—not when a man of brains and high executive ability is needed at the head of state affairs. Governor Withycombe should receive the support of every loyal American citizen in the state. Ben Olcott—the double office holder and Spanish athlete—should be shoved to the rear ranks until the state needs a man of his calibre to direct its affairs, which, by the way, is certainly not during the present critical time.

Mayor Harley, of Astoria, candidate for governor on a "wet" platform says if all those persons who have taken a drink since the state has gone bone-dry vote for him he will be elected—hands down. But they won't—there's where the rub comes in that will get Harley's goat.

With Huston out of the race it is Stanfield and McNary "to the bat"—with the odds in favor of Stanfield—just at the present moment. The West-Olcott-McNary combination threw their hat into the political arena only to have it "chewed up" by the irresistible Oswald West, who now aspires to become a democratic senator for the United States congress. The sooner Oregon voters "rub off" the slate this combination of astute politicians the better for all concerned.

ROSEBURG BOYS WRITE HOME.

Letters were received here today by parents from Julius Riddle and Harold Bellows, now in France, and the young soldiers write they are young soldiers write that they are "hitting bar up" and getting along nicely. Young Riddle is now operating a gasoline engine in a hospital, which supplies light for the institution and other quarters as well, and says that he likes his new post of duty, as it is a branch of the government work that he fully understands. His engine is of French make and he states that it runs "just like a clock". The company to which the two young men belong has not been ordered to the front to assist in quelling the Germans, according to their letters, which were written early in the present month, but they may get a hurry-up order at any moment to move to the front. A letter was received also today by J. B. Riddle from Boneman Crosby, of Mr. and Mrs. May's Crosby at Riddle. He is with the aero squadron and is getting along nicely.

UNIFORMS ARRIVE.

Uniforms for the local Oregon guard arrived yesterday and at the regular drill this evening all the members who have received their suits will report in full uniform for drill work. The suits vary much resemble the regular army uniform, both in cut and color and it is expected that some very "charming" specimens of "physical fitness" for soldier duty will be presented when the guard makes its initial appearance in full uniform. But regardless of their "shape" and "style" the boys are all there, when it comes to patriotism and a decided interest in manifest among all of them in the work to be done. The medical department is getting into good shape and will soon become an important part of the regular organization.

SHERIFF APPLIGATE RESIGNS.

HILLSBORO, Or., April 27.—J. C. Appligate this morning filed his resignation as sheriff, this document giving no reason and merely asking that it take effect immediately. The county court was in session today, but took no action either on the resignation or filling the vacancy.

The district attorney has been asked for advice on the legal phase and the matter will be acted on Monday. Already there have been a large number of applications for the appointment, but it is understood that Chief Deputy Alexander will be named. Appligate was arrested recently, along with two other men, for receiving a shipment of booze.

HUNS LOSE 2,000,000 MEN.

AMSTERDAM, April 28.—Germany's losses thus far in the war have been 2,000,000 men, according to a statement credited by the Frankfurter Zeitung as having been made by General Schultze before the main committee of the German reichstag. Sick and wounded men to the number of 750,000 had been able to return to the front, according to General Schultze, while 629,000 had been discharged as unfit for service, including 70,000 cripples.

MARRIED SUNDAY.

Sunday morning at the parsonage of the Christian church at nine o'clock, Rev. C. H. Hilton united in marriage Mr. W. E. Cooper and Miss Bess Hutchinson. These young people are both from Oakland. Mrs. Cooper has been a teacher in one of the rural schools. Mr. Cooper expects soon to answer the call of his country.

Brown, of Salem, is vice-president. Portland officers are: Secretary, Rev. Ward McHenry; treasurer, Rupert N. Parks; elementary superintendent, Mrs. J. W. Wilkins; teen age superintendent, Mrs. Harold Humbert; and Mrs. F. N. Rogers; adult superintendent, Elton Shaw. The educational superintendent is Gertrude Eakin, Salem. SALEM BOY FOR SHERIFF.

Salem Statesman: Frank Baragar is a candidate for sheriff of Douglas county, on the republican primary ticket. He was visiting Salem yesterday calling on some of his old-time friends. Frank was a Salinas boy. When he was a youngster he carried papers and collected for the Statesman for several years. When he went to make his home in the southern part of Douglas county, he was misled here—for he had been a faithful worker. After a few years, he moved from southern Douglas to a farm about half way between Roseburg and Winchester—fronting on the once famous "Joe Lane's lane." The writer does not know much about the politics of Douglas county, or about Frank's chances for securing the nomination which he seeks. But one thing is certain, and that is that if nominated he will be always found faithfully on the job, doing his work in a straightforward, honest manner, and giving good treatment and even-handed justice to all. Because that is the sort of a boy he was, and the sort of a man he has been. (pd. ad.)

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC FISHER'S REMOVAL SALE WILL CONTINUE UP TO SATURDAY, MAY 11th READ WHAT MR. FISHER SAYS: While we have sold thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of merchandise since the opening of our great removal sale, we still have a great many dollars worth of men's goods that must and will be closed out completely, and many other lines, principally women's suits, coats and dresses that must and will be sold before we can think of moving into our smaller quarters. Everyone knows it would be impossible to move this immense stock into our new store, so for that reason we have decided to continue our sale up to Saturday night, May 11th, and have reduced prices still greater in our desperate and final effort to reduce this stock at least one half. Such an opportunity as this comes but once in the ordinary lifetime. Every family should figure not only their present but future needs and take advantage of this most wonderful opportunity to save. As the war continues merchandise is going to be scarcer and scarcer every day, and there is no telling what kind of goods you will be able to get or what kind of unreasonable prices you will be compelled to pay.
