HOME CAME TED ANTILERS TONIGHT

Play to be Given by Senior Class of the Roseburg High School.

FROLICKSOME COMEDY

Different Classes Plan Stunts Between Acts—Thirty-Five Cents Will Be the Admission Fee Charged.

"And Home Came Ted," a frolicksome comedy, full of fun and action will be given this evening by the senior class of the Roseburg high school at the Antlers theatre and the patrons are promised a treat never before excelled in the local theatrical annals. For several weeks past the young people who compose the cast and who are especially well fitted for their parts, have faithfully rehearsed to their present state of perfection. Intermingled with the mystery and pathos is a mirth-provoking comedy that will keep every one in the best of humor and in order to come fully prepared it is strongly advised to "bring along a handkerchief"—not for crying purposes, but for laughing purposes only. The nominal sum of 35 cents will be charged and a dollar's worth of fun is promised. In addition to the play, between acts the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes have planned clever stunts which will be pulled, as yet these being a mystery to everyone. However, from the many whisperings there is sure to be something doing from these live wire students of the Roseburg high school.

Going back to the principal item, the play, the setting of the comedy is at the Rip Van Winkle Inn, in the Catskill mountains, which is claimed by several different parties, and the plot is a struggle over the legal possession which is purely humorous. Included in the cast of characters are the following well known students: Mr. Man, the mystery...Slator Miller Aunt Jubilee, cook...Lucille Watson Senator McCormick, the father...Fred Porter Diana Garwood, the heiress...Vera McKay Miss Loganberry, the spinster...Annabelle Denn Dr. Stone, the villain...Clifton Zimmermann Jim Ryker, the lawyer...Geo. Hopkins Skeet, the hotel clerk...Mark Rice Mollie Macklin, the housekeeper...Florence Devaney Mrs. Henrietta Darby, the widow...Vivian Marsters Ted, the groom...Alexander Andrieff Elsie, the bride...Kate Powell

Company, Attention!

We have been doing a nice business with oil stoves and season is still young. Have YOU considered the comfort and economy of owning one. That five gallons of coal oil at a possible cost of 85 cents will do the cooking a month for an ordinary family. Can you make a tier of wood costing $3.50 do as much. This cut represents one style of the DETROIT VAPOR stove. A stove burning oil gas that it makes as used. Does away with wall wicks or burning rings, the burners being entire cast iron, and good for a life time. Will not ruin cooking utensils, leaves no litter of ashes or dirt about; leaves no bad odors whether in use or not. Nothing to learn that a child cannot comprehend. Remember we do ask you to take the company's guarantee, for we are here to back it up. If after a few days' trial it is not satisfactory we will take stove and cheerfully refund money. But remember our experience of a good many years with the Jewell makes us certain that you will never let it go.
