KODAK PICTURES

From Home

Officers in the trenches tell us that the biggest job the junior officer has, is looking out for the welfare of his men. When the regimental mail is distributed, the officers go around to the boys who don't receive letters and try to cheer them up.

No matter whether it's in the trenches, in camp, or on ship board, they need the courage that a letter will give them and nothing will be appreciated more than Kodak Pictures from home.

If you wish to send a present that will be appreciated send a Vest Pocket Autographic Kodak. So small that he can wear it, so photographically fit that good pictures follow as a matter of course.

We carry a complete line of Eastman Kodaks and Kodak Supplies.

Live-wire Doings of City

Returns From Willamette Valley.
M. F. Rice returned yesterday from a several days' business trip to points in the Willamette valley, during which time he visited at Albany, Eugene, Salem and other cities.

Here From Portland.
George Sykes, formerly janitor at the high school building in this city, but now working at a Portland ship yard, was a visitor to Roseburg. He reports things lively at Portland and he and his family are getting along nicely at their new location.

Leases Elks Dance Hall.
The H. S. French Transfer Co. has leased the Elks hall for a period of two years and will use the room for storage purposes in connection with their transfer business. Doorways are being placed in the south side of the building today to give easy access to the premises.

Former Resident Here.
F. M. Parrish, of Corvallis, a former resident of this city and well known here, visited in this city yesterday at the home of Howard Church in North Roseburg. Mr. Parrish's son, Paul, is now in France, word having been received that he landed on the other side the 23rd of the present month.

Old Soldier Dies.
Joseph Brown, an old soldier, and a member of I company, 9th all-Indian infantry during the Civil war, died at the home hospital last evening at the age of 71. Private Brown was admitted to the home from Lents, Ore., in 1917. Deceased is survived by a son, Frank, who visited his father this week, leaving on Wednesday night for his home at Boardman. The funeral occurred this afternoon at two o'clock.

Going Into Navy.
Rufus B. Wood, son of R. M. Wood, of this city, left Roseburg Wednesday night for Bremerton to be inducted into the navy. The young man has just come of age, and while working in the lumber camps of Coos county concluded to enlist. He has been here visiting for the past ten days. His brother-in-law, Webb Pennie, well known in this city and vicinity, and a son of Veteran John Pennie, has also enlisted in the navy and left Marshfield, where he has been employed in the lumber mills for several months, for Portland, last night, and from that city the young man will continue to Bremerton together.

Oriental Slippers on Exhibit.
An exhibit of oriental slippers and shoes is to be seen in the show windows of Duds for Men, and was brought here from India by Elder Mark Comer, who is attending the Adventist campmeeting in West Roseburg. During the last several years Elder Comer has been stationed at Calcutta, and from there has made various trips through other provinces. The people in those provinces are really different races, and the customs and languages varied. The slippers and shoes represent those worn by the peoples in all walks of life, from those of the lower castes to the rich and influential classes. This collection was picked up at considerable expense by the owner, and is considered quite a curiosity.

BOMB PUT UNDER HOG CASE.

tion was to keep high prices on goods sold and low prices for produce bought. He admitted having interviewed neighbors of Cardwell relative to this case, but denied having taken a detective into that country. Mr. Benson was cross examined at considerable length.

Mr. Kookam, a former meat cutter for George Kohlhaugen, now of Pocatello, Idaho, was the next witness called, and testified that no delivery of hogs was made by the defendant on March 1, or at any time while he was working there. He corroborated the testimony regarding the dinner hours, his being in the store at 12:30, at which time Mr. Haefling took his noon hour from 12:30 to 1:30. Mr. Kookam admitted that he did not testify at either of the previous trials that Miss Florence Kohlhaugen was employed at her father's shop at that time. The witness could not testify to exact dates. A close cross-examination was given this witness.

Geo. Haefling, a former employe, now residing at Seattle, was the next witness called, and testified that at no time during his employment at the Kohlhaugen market did Mr. Cardwell deliver hogs there. The witness corroborated the testimony regarding the arrangements for noon hours.

When told by Mr. Rice, that he had been described by Mr. Kohlhaugen as a man of fair complexion, the witness stated that he might have had peroxide on his hair. He later admitted to counsel for plaintiff that he was joking about the peroxide as he thought Mr. John Long, the witness admitted that he had not testified at previous trials that Miss Kohlhaugen had been employed there at that time. The witness could not testify to exact dates.

Mr. Neuriter testified that whole hogs were never carried to the back of the shop, but were always cut up in the front of the shop. The witness did not know of any consignment of hogs from Mr. Cardwell. The witness admitted upon cross-examination that he had nothing to do with the books.

Miss Alice Mann testified that she was bookkeeper for Geo. Kohlhaugen and that she was employed there on March 1, 1917; that if there had been any hogs delivered to the market on March 1, 1917 she would have known it. That she nearly always noticed when two or three hogs had been brought in during her absence at noon, and that she surely would not have overlooked 36.

Upon cross-examination Miss Mann testified that she had no knowledge of any trouble with a poultry market over omissions of entries on the Kohlhaugen books. Miss Mann admitted that the books were mixed, that is the wrong book was used for entries on March 1, 1917.

Following Miss Mann, Miss Florence Kohlhaugen testified that she was in the office at her father's meat market upon the first of March, and verified her testimony by entries that she made that day. She had no knowledge of any hogs being delivered by Mr. Cardwell. She corroborated the testimony of others that she was there learning the work, preparatory to taking charge when Miss Mann should leave for her vacation which she testified Miss Mann did on March 7, 1917. Miss Kohlhaugen caused a laugh when she stated that she was late the first morning she went on regularly and was told by her father that she would have to get there earlier. The witness was not cross examined.

Chas. Ritzman testified that he was employed by Geo. Kohlhaugen part of the time on his farms, part of the time in town and part of the time butchering. Witness said he was in the shop every day at noon, about the time of the alleged delivery and that he had no knowledge of any delivery of hogs by Cardwell.

The witness admitted upon cross examination that he had given his occupation upon his questionnaire as being a farmer.

Victor Short, who on March 1, 1917, was in charge of Geo. Kohlhaugen's meat market on Sheridan street testified that he was at the Economy market every day and had no knowledge of any hogs being delivered by Cardwell. A bomb was thrown into the camp of the enemy today when Andy Morgan, who it had been alleged was present at the killing of the hogs that the defendant states were delivered to Mr. Kohlhaugen, and which the defense alleges Mr. Morgan helped to butcher. The witness testified that he was employed at the Cardwell ranch the latter part of February and the early part of March in 1917 and that at no time were any hogs butchered, while he was on the ranch, that he had never come to Roseburg with Mr. Cardwell with a load of hogs. He testified that Cardwell delivered his hogs to Oakland alive.

The witness denied upon cross examination that he had had any row with Cardwell, or had been discharged. He denied making the statement to Harry Pearce that he had had a row with Cardwell, and denied any knowledge of a warrant being out for his arrest, or there being any cause for such a warrant. Morgan admitted that Mr. Kohlhaugen called for him at the ranch last night after dark, and that he stayed at the Kohlhaugen home. He testified that his expenses would be paid both ways and he expected to be paid for his time, but that had not been fixed yet. The memory of the witness upon cross examination was very poor.

District Attorney Geo. Neuner testified that he had no knowledge of a warrant being issued for the arrest of Andy Morgan.

Ed Marks testified that he had talked to Cardwell in August, 1917, and Cardwell had stated that he could get as much for his hogs on foot in Oakland as Kohlhaugen would pay for dressed pork, and as the roads were better he would market at Oakland.

John Marks corroborated the testimony of his brother.

Wm. Kamp stated that the roads were bad, that the defendant claims to have traveled, but that he would not say that a load could not be hauled over them.

Sheriff Quino stated that he had not received a warrant for the arrest of Andy Morgan. Upon cross examination Mr. Quino stated that he had heard just a few minutes before that a warrant had been issued, the complaint being made by Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell.

A. E. Rice testified to selling a load of hogs to Mr. Kohlhaugen on February 27, 1917.

This evidence was adduced for the purpose of showing that these were the hogs that Roy Stearns saw. W. A. Bayless testified that Ed. Johns had said that he (Johns) had said that he was going to strike Cardwell for $50 for testifying, and that if he didn't come across he'd bump him d—m hard, and for them to keep their g—d mouths shut and that after the trial was over he would tell them (Bayless and Pearson) all about it.

John Pearson corroborated Mr. Bayless' testimony, but admitted that he had told A. E. Clayton that he took Johns' story lightly at the time.

As we go to press the examination of witnesses is still in progress. The case will not reach the jury before tomorrow.

SGT. JOE DENN STATIONED AT CAMP MEAD, MD.

In the Philadelphia Record one of the leading newspapers of that city appears an article from Camp Mead, Maryland, in regard to the Oregon men who were successful in graduating from the ordnance school at Camp Mead and who have qualified for commissions. Mentioned prominently among the men is Ordinance Sergeant Joseph Denn of the University of Oregon, who was sent to Camp Mead with a number of other Oregon boys some time ago, to complete the ordnance course before seeing active service in France. Sergeant Denn is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Denn, of this city and has a host of friends here who will be tremendously pleased to learn of his continued success in the army. The rank of ordnance sergeant which is now held by young Denn is the highest of the four classes of sergeants in the ordnance department, which is an indication of the class of work the young soldier is undertaking.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO PUBLIC.

Under date of May 28 most all business men and others have received letters and a box of pencils from America's Allies Co-operative Committee, of New York. As this committee does not appear to have the endorsement of our government, I ask that all having received these pencils not to use them and to turn them over to me as secretary of the Roseburg & Douglas County Merchants Association. This committee is unheard of and is not known by any of our defense societies and they as well as our district attorney advise us that they be gathered up at once and that no money be sent them. There is danger of these being circulated by the German elements and may be infected. DO NOT comply with any of their requests until you have called at this association's office.

E. C. BENSON,
Secretary.

A COMMON REMARK.

Frequently we hear the remark: "How much better that fellow would appear if he would spruce up a bit." He may be unconscious of the fact that carelessness in dress is calling forth just criticism, and that a regular attendance to the care of his outer apparel would gain a favorable and lasting impression. We are the Cleaners that make it our business to make your garments look their best. Give us a trial.
