A MEAN ADVANTAGE.

An evening or two ago I was walking through the great Pennsylvania railway station at New York when it was crowded with men, women and children. It is a magnificent building. It covers two entire city blocks. I looked up at the great roof that sheltered the vast structure, and it came into my mind that, seen from high in the air, the spread of the roof must be enormous. It would be a remarkable target for bombs dropped from high above, says a writer for the American Defense Society.

It suddenly occurred to me that the United States is taking a mean advantage of Germany. We have plunged into war against Germany and are sending fighting men and fighting ships to fight her fighting men and fighting ships, but we are taking a mean advantage of the three thousand miles of ocean that stretch between us. We are so far away that Germany cannot use against us her splendid system of murdering women and children.

Are we, I ask quite fair to Germany? She is so far from our shores that she cannot send Zepplins sneaking through the night to drop death on our babies sleeping in their cribs. Are we not taking an unfair advantage of her? When Germany goes to war she expects to fight with neighbors close at hand, so she can bombard the homes of non-combatants and maim and murder helpless old men and gentle women and sleeping children. Is it fair to go to war with her when she will only have the chance to fight our fighting men? Why? It is possible that Germany, in fighting us, may have to fight fair and as civilized nations fight (except for poison gas, murder of sailors on the high seas and other dirty barbarisms). That is not giving Germany the chance she feels she ought to have. It is not giving her an opportunity to murder our wives and fathers and daughters.

I think something ought to be done about this. Germany is liable to dislike us if we let this thing go on. What will she think of us if we do not arrange things so she can kill our babies in the night, as she is killing the English and French babies in their cribs?

Shall we send, say, eight thousand old men, ten thousand women and seven thousand babies to Europe and place them in some convenient place so that Germany can bomb them to death, and thus give Germany a chance to war against us as she is warring against other nations? Or shall we say that, come what will and happen what may, this nation will not make peace with the dastardly Hun until he is thrashed and crushed and taught once for all that the murder of just one helpless baby of Paris or London has been sufficient to sentence the Hohenzollerns to everlasting extermination?

Good friend, how do you stand? Will you be one of those who are willing to send their babies to London to die by the hand of the Hun? Or will you stand with all Christian humanity, steadfast and firm, until the great criminal is given his just deserts?

What name shall we give the baby killer of Berlin? What name shall we give ourselves if we allow him to triumph after such acts as these?

NEW FREIGHT HOUSE RULES.

At the suggestion of R. H. Ashton, United States regional director of railroad stations in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, which include Roseburg, have adopted the rule of closing the freight houses at 4 p. m. daily, except Saturday, and 1 p. m. Saturdays and, of course all day Sundays. This rule will be put into effect June 15, 1918. This has been the practice in the past in many of the principal eastern cities, also the larger cities in California.

The various state commissions, chambers of commerce, etc., have discussed this with the railroads, and in view of the fact that present closing hour of receiving freight, which holds the employees still longer, to clear up, does not permit them to complete their work and obtain the full benefit of the "daylight saving" law, and in view of the suggestion of the regional director, all have decided upon this course, and the general freight agents have ordered this put into effect.

HOLD SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION.

Pursuant to instructions from the regional director of railroads, J. A. Ormandy, of the general passenger office, Southern Pacific, Portland, will hold school of instructions in the waiting room of the Southern Pacific passenger station at Roseburg at 8 p. m. Saturday, June 8, in connection with the advance in fares and change in regulations effective June 10, 1918.

NOTICE TO DEBTORS.

To whom it may concern: I would kindly ask all those owing me to come at once and settle their accounts, as I am going to leave the city as soon as court adjourns. All bills not settled by that time will be left in the hands of an attorney for collection, with instructions to sue and attach salaries or property of all debtors having employment or holding property, as I cannot afford to lose the accounts or spend my time here any longer. I hope that all indebted to me will kindly come in and settle at once, so that I can go without any more trouble.

I can be found at the old store building on Cass street for a few days.

Respectfully,
D. J. JARVIS.

OREGON TO GO OVER TOP ON W. S. S. DRIVE

Hard work and every one helping will enable Oregon to go over the top in the war savings stamp drive June 28, says the Oregonian. The allotment for Oregon is $17,500,000. If everyone in the state would buy $22 worth of stamps the trick would be done to make the drive a success, because there will be shakers and other people who will not come up to the mark. It will be necessary for those who can do so to pledge themselves to the limit and others must buy the limit.

The third liberty loan has affected the war savings stamps campaign, because the bulk of the liberty bonds of the third issue was absorbed by the people of moderate means.

If 170,000 people of the $600,000 limit Oregon will each pledge themselves to take $100, maturity of the stamps, the quota will be completed. The "Limit Club" is looked to for material assistance in putting Oregon across in the war savings stamp drive. The Limit Club will consist of individuals who have taken the limit of stamps, this limit being $1000 maturity value, and if bought in June membership in the Limit Club will cost $33.33. Including 14,000 men and women in Oregon join the Limit Club they can insure the success of the drive.

Formation of Limit Clubs will be carried out in each county in the state by the local committees and most of these committees will arrange to have the names of the Limit Club members published in their local papers. Members of the Limit Club will be supplied with special buttons which they will have to pay for themselves, the cost of the button being about 15 or 20 cents.

While the rule is that one person should not possess more than $1000 of matured value of stamps, there is nothing to prevent wealthy men and women from buying the limit for each member of the family. This is expected of the wealthy people of Oregon, for otherwise the bulk of the stamps will have to be taken by those who can less afford heavy investments and it would be a reflection on the wealthy.

FIGHTING THE HUNS.

By planting tomatoes for the Roseburg Cannery you are performing a patriotic duty. The government commandeers 25 per cent of all tomatoes and beans canned and most all blackberries.

Plenty of time to plant beans. Plant Kentucky Wonders among your corn, using corn for poles, and get a double crop.

We must have more tomato acreage at once. We can furnish plant also bean seed. You can pay for seed and plants by bringing produce to cannery. Write, telephone or see me at once.

SOLDIERS STUDYING FRENCH.

Mrs. L. C. Whittington, of Ten Mile, was in the city yesterday, and stated that she had just received a letter from her son, Thos. C. Whittington, who is stationed in France with the 65th. The letter was written on "Mother's Day" and expressed the good feeling of the soldier boy overseas, and praise for the splendid way the government is caring for all men in the foreign service. Among other things the soldiers are studying French, and are enjoying the benefit of regular classes under competent instructors. It appears that all soldiers, or at least most of them, are studying the language. Thos. Whittington is well known in Douglas county, and his friends will be glad to hear of his well being.

DONATE QUILTS TO RED CROSS.

Mrs. Walter Coates, of Ten Mile, was in the city yesterday, and came primarily to deliver to the Red Cross a fine lot of quilts that have been made by ladies of the district. One of the quilts was pieced by little Miss Rita Bushnell when she was seven years old, and this was donated to Red Cross work by the child, who is now twelve. The ladies of Ten Mile have made many useful contributions to Red Cross work since the war opened, and have won for their community an enviable record.

EVERYBODY IS INVITED.

We ask all the people to attend the celebration of our National Flag Day on Friday afternoon June 14. The big parade will form at two p. m., after which there will be some street ceremonies in front of the Elks' building, and then the fine program an patriotic address by Judge R. R. Butler, of The Dalles, an orator of more than coast-wide reputation, will follow at the opera house.

Everybody should attend for public-spiritedness, pleasure and patriotism.

By Special request of ELKS' FLAG DAY COMMITTEE.
