GERMANS GLOAT OVER PRISONERS

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 2.—Referring to the projected exchange of American and German prisoners of war, the Weser Zeitung, of Bremen, makes the sinister remark: "We are able to contain our joy. American prisoners are welcome guests for whom we have sufficient employment on the eastern labor market and in our agricultural enterprises behind the front. "They may be sure of getting, with Teutonic punctuality, all they are entitled to under the Hague convention, and more if they prove good workers, although they must thank Anglo-American starvation measures if their diet falls below the home fleshpots. "The newspaper continues: "It will do the Americans a powerful lot of good to acquaint themselves with kultur from the fountain head. "In a proclamation issued to the German people Emperor William says in part: "The war year which is opening today will not spare the German people further privations and trials. But, whatever may come, we know that the hardest lies behind us. "Wide gaps have been torn in our families and the suffering of this terrible war has spared no German home. Those who as boys in their first enthusiasm saw the first troops depart stand themselves today beside their fathers and brothers as warriors at the front. "Sacred duty commands that this precious blood does not flow in vain. "Nothing has been neglected by us to restore peace to the devastated world. The voice of humanity, however, still finds no hearing in the enemy camp. As often as we have spoken words of reconciliation we have been met with contempt and hatred. "The enemy does not yet want peace. Without shame they smirch the fair name of Germany with ever-fresh calumnies. Again and again their mouthpieces declare that Germany must be annihilated. "We must therefore continue to fight and to labor until our enemies are ready to acknowledge our right to existence. "God is with us. "WILLIAM, R. I." King Ludwig, of Bavaria, in a proclamation on the opening of the fifth year of the war, published in the Zeitung of Frankfurt yesterday, says: "It is not our fault that we are entering the fifth year of fighting. Our opponents still regard the crushing of Germany as their aim. No German, however, thinks of a shameful peace. "We must, therefore, continue the struggle and continue to shoulder all troubles and hardships in sure confidence that God will lead our just cause to victory."

CLEVER YANKEES LAY TRAP FOR GERMANS

LONDON, July 31.—Hard in-and-out fighting marked yesterday's developments on the American front, telegraphs Router's correspondent on the front north of the Marne. He says that the final capture of Serignes by the Americans was an especially creditable achievement. "After the Americans took the village Monday, the Germans kept up a constant artillery and machine gun fire to drive them out. This continued all day on Tuesday and toward evening the enemy began to emerge from the Nesles forest in a way that seemed to forecast a fresh attempt to take the village. Of the fighting which ensued the correspondent writes: "The Americans, after three days of to-and-fro fighting through villages, had learned subtlety and were determined to have a real fight to a finish. They consequently withdrew as if retiring from Serignes and the Germans crossed down from the high ground, convinced they had their opponents beaten. Additional German troops came pouring in until the town was occupied as it never had been before. "But as they began to organize their defenses they found that bullets appeared to be coming in from three sides of the village, and it was not long before they discovered that the Americans, while withdrawing from the front of the town, had commenced an encircling movement on both sides, thus forming a ring almost completely around it."

TO WAGE WAR ON ALL INSECT PESTS
Entomologists from the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah and British Columbia will meet at the Oregon Agricultural College, August 5 to 7 to discuss the insect pests of the northwest and their control. Federal specialists engaged in field work in the northwest will be in attendance. Latest approved methods of control for various pests as worked out by different specialists will be discussed and a co-operative plan for rendering more valuable aid in war emergency entomological work will be formulated. "The value to be derived from such a conference," says A. L. Lovatt, entomologist at O. A. C., "cannot be over-estimated. The variety of insect problems and the limited funds and man power available for carrying on this necessary work requires a close co-ordination of efforts and this is what we will obtain by this conference."

The first annual meeting of western horticulturists will be held at the college August 5 to 9. Representatives from all states west of the Rockies are expected to attend. C. I. Lewis, professor of horticulture at O. A. C., is temporary president. The organization will be perfected at the meeting.

"Over Here"
"Over Here," before he starts for "Over There," is the time to give him some token of great love and infinite respect. Gifts of jewelry for the soldier are not lost by the way. A ring, for instance, can be on his finger even when he's going "over the top." It is characteristic of W. W. W. Rings that they are SERVICEABLE. Whether worn to war or work, the gems do stay set—they are GUARANTEED to do so. That is why this store recommends them. They are manufactured and sold in the right spirit—the spirit that is the foundation of everything we have in stock.
