Y. W. C. A. Girls Everywhere.
The Y. W. C. A. is for girls everywhere. Its activities are not confined to the United States or to battle-torn France, but extend to 26 countries. Its workers are tireless. The Y. W. C. A. welcomes every new obligation for service by womanhood and girlhood.

War Service Clubs.
Industrial war service clubs have been established by the Young Women's Christian Association in 22 munitions cantonments recently built by the government. In some cases a cafeteria is conducted by the club. In others it is mainly a recreation center.

Y. W. C. A. Work.
Clubhouses accommodating from one to five thousand women have been established by the Young Women's Christian Association at the munitions centers in France. The features include cafeterias, recreation halls, concerts, gymnastic classes, rest rooms, and writing and sewing rooms.

Y. W. C. A. Hostess Houses.
Ninety-one hostess houses, both colored and white, are now being operated by the Young Women's Christian Association in cantonments in this country. Buys Days Creek Ranch.
W. E. St. John closed a deal yesterday for the E. B. Lawson ranch at Days Creek, seven miles from Canyonville, says the Sutherlin Sun. The property embraces 164 acres of bottom land, is well improved and practically all under cultivation. It is understood the consideration was $8,000. Mr. St. John will place a competent man on the ranch and proceed to put the land to crops.

Funeral Postponed.
On account of the inability of some of the children of the late John Blehup to reach Roseburg today, the funeral has been postponed until two o'clock Saturday, September 14. Members of Berea Post, G. A. R., will meet at the residence of the deceased comrade in West Roseburg at two o'clock p. m., on Saturday, September 14, to conduct the funeral. Interment in Masonic cemetery.

Upon the attorney general's return to Salem he will go to eastern Oregon where a number of cases are to be given in which the state is interested. He reports business at the capital city quite brisk.

Has Gone to the Front.
A brief letter received last evening from Leon McClintock by his parents says that he was preparing to leave immediately on an ambulance for the front and would join Hub Quine, who had already left some days previous. It has been known here for some time that the 65th artillery, to which the Roseburg boys are attached has been moving toward the battle area and it will probably only be a short time until this regiment is identified with the American forces now waging a battle against the Huns.

Here From Myrtle Point.
T. M. Hermann, of Myrtle Point, has been in the city visiting with his brother, Hon. Blinger Hermann, and family for the past few days. The gentleman is one of the sturdy pioneers of the state having come to Oregon in May, 1859, landing at Port Orford, and since that date has almost continuously been a resident of Coos and Curry counties. He is very familiar with all happenings of the early days when Oregon was sparsely settled and his stories of life in this state at that time are decidedly interesting. The gentleman for many years past has made his home at Myrtle Point.

HUN PROPAGANDA BRISK AS EVER

New York, and Judge Mayer declared in his findings that it had been proven beyond all doubt that the Lusitania was not armed and never had been armed, and carried no explosives on the voyage on which she was torpedoed and sunk.

The recent reverses in France seem to have affected the workmanship of the inventors of anti-American pro-German slanders. Many of their falsehoods are too ridiculous to be worth contradicting. In Minnesota, they are passing around word that any woman who marries a U. S. soldier will be put in prison by the government. In Kansas, farmers are being told that "everybody who has more than a bushel of potatoes on the first of September will have to give them to the Red Cross or to the government officials." Santa Rosa, Cal., hears that "numerous highly paid government clerks and employees of the protestant faith have been removed in order that their positions might be taken by Catholics." Huntington, Ind., has had the story that at Camp Shelby "they are importing negro girls of thirteen and fourteen years old" for the troops—a slander which the Huntington Herald promptly investigated and disproved. Other localities report similar short-term lies, so soon discounted or so easily disproved that it would seem the originators of them are losing their cunning.

A hotel guest at Asbury Park, N. J., has heard the following story from a chance acquaintance, who declared he had been told it by an eye-witness:

"While travelling on a ferry from New York City, he noticed a young man and woman standing at one end of the boat. The woman was wrapped in a large blue cloak. At intervals, the man would take out his handkerchief and wipe the lips of the woman, who seemed to be dribbling at the mouth. The people began to gather around the couple, and the man, becoming humiliated drew the cloak from the woman, who turned out to be armless and whose tongue had been cut out. Later it developed that the young woman was just returning from France where she had been on duty as a Red Cross nurse."

Stories of this sort have been put in circulation in all parts of the country since the call went out for Red Cross volunteers for service in France. All the stories that were precise enough to be investigated have been found to be false. No mutilated American nurse has been returned to this country and none has been reported in France. The reports seem obviously designed to discourage nurses from volunteering.

The correspondent who reports the picturesque lie from Asbury Park unfortunately did not ask the name of his "chance acquaintance" or inquire who was the "eye witness" who had vouched for the yarn. Loyal citizens are asked to obtain correct names and addresses in all such cases and send the information to the department of justice, Washington, D. C.

In parts of the south, a very circumstantial account is being reported of how Madame Schumann-Heink, arrested as a German spy, had committed suicide. Many inquiries as to the truth of the report have come to the committee on public information. There is, of course, no truth whatever in it. Madame Schumann-Heink has been aggressive in her loyal Americanism, and the kaiserites are apparently attempting to discredit her by circulating this slander, out of revenge. They spread it in the south, because she has been publicly active in support of war charities, etc., further north, and any report of her suicide would be somewhat discredited by her subsequent appearance on the concert stage.

James Dearing and mother returned to Oakland this afternoon after spending the day in Roseburg. Mr. Dearing brought the registration cards from that district with him.
