According to Salem papers two citizens of that city, C. W. Smith and B. F. Ramp, are among the men who have not purchased their alleged quota of liberty bonds. The latter, it was stated by Salem authorities to the liberty loan committee in Roseburg, had left Salem some days ago and was thought to be in this locality. Since Mr. Ramp is the purported owner of a large tract of land just east of Roseburg, it was suggested that Salem believed the gentleman might be at the ranch.
