THAT UMPQUA FISH BILL.

Every legislature that convenes has a new fish bill to wrestle with, and this bill usually pertains to fishing on the Umpqua river. The latest measure to be presented for consideration is House bill No. 120, introduced by Mr. Hughes, of Salem, who by the way is not a fisherman, neither has he any canny interests to serve, that is, of his own making. But those of our citizens who are close students of these Lower Umpqua fish bills see in this measure the fine Italian hand of the big interests, also the complete ruination of the fishing industry of the upper Umpqua river. The bill as it now stands, if passed by both houses of the legislature and becomes a law, will practically annul the enterprise in so far as it applies to the ordinary individual, but on the contrary, will redound with much benefit to the big fishing interests.

At the head of the state game and fish commission rests a man of powerful influence. This individual is a big canneryman—his name is Warren—and the fact he has always been associated with the interests of the prominent cannerymen of the state, it is more than likely he has his interests first to serve. He is in a position to "rope" many influential men to work for any measure that is for the good of the large cannery interests of the state, and it is also alleged that he has his finger tips on public officials who are closely allied with the fishing industry as it applies to the Umpqua river. Taking these matters into consideration it is quite apparent that the "small fry"—the local sportsman—stands a good chance of "going over the top" to return with an empty basket if the bill proposed by Mr. Hughes becomes a law.

Local sportsmen claim the bill is obnoxious in the extreme and should meet immediate defeat, and others who have the best interests of the upper Umpqua in mind are certain it spells ruin to individual fishing. The measure should be killed outright. It should pass neither house, no matter what concessions the author or its supporters agree to make in order to have the bill become a law. They will probably be willing to have it trimmed to a large extent that a few of the salient features would still remain intact, but any juggling should be met with a prompt defeat. The big canneryman's interests should receive due consideration and loyal support just so long as it does not savor of an avaricious desire to control the entire industry to further their own personal ends. The Umpqua river should not be completely bottled up at the mouth, as intended by the Hughes' bill.

On the front page of today's News is an article from W. C. Harding, who points out a feasible way by which the county can encourage new people to locate within its borders. When the big land owner decides to break on a fifty-acre basis with the small investor, and permits his extensive land holdings to be subdivided into small tracts and sold at a fair price on reasonable installments, then, and not until then, will Douglas county reap the benefits to be derived from a more thickly populated community.

The local gas company has again gone before the Public Service Commission and asked for a flat advance of fifty cents over the present rates charged to their patrons. Consumers of this particular variety of "juice" better "come over the counter" with the advance asked, otherwise the democratic administration might take the plant over and operate it "for the good of all concerned," a la telephone, etc.

It is now claimed that the hundred million dollars for supplying food and giving relief to European sufferers is to be used, in part, to feed the Russian Bolshevik. That's right, got them in good condition for the slaughter that is sure to come unless that element is subdued in the very near future.

There are a few democratic newspaper men in the state who still maintain that the Wilson war program has been a success. But most of these fellows have been awarded a "government contract" to conduct a post office as a side issue to "hammering out" a "weakly" publication.

A Bolshevik is a man with long whiskers. But this does not necessarily imply that a man with long whiskers is a Bolshevik. There's a few wandering around without any alfalfa on their chin, who would make good subjects.

President Wilson is said to be in favor of a new "international psychology." Well, if the league of nations is to be purely psychological maybe it will turn out all right after all.

The easiest job in the world will go to the man who compiles the public speeches of Col. House.

Hennie Ford writes an article urging captains of industry to quit regarding employees as factory fodder. Why doesn't he say something against the mangling of helpless pedestrians?

German Bolsheviks are reported to have seized the Berlin waterworks plant. Not nearly as serious, tho, as if they had grabbed the brewery.

The German health insurance plan is branded as a failure. It must be admitted that Hummel is not a very healthy place just now.

Norway will ask the peace conference for Spitzbergen. That sounds like it might be the place where the flu started.

Douglas county people want a sane fish law not a law with the meshes of the seine so small it will gather in all the trout.

The Douglas county prune orchard is always a safe and sane investment.
