BLOWING TIN WHISTLE.

Secretary Daniels when he told Congress that the United States was prepared, unless Great Britain subscribed in full to the league of nations and to disarmament, to build a navy which would be incomparably greater than Great Britain's, was blowing a tin whistle against all the winds of history.

He made American policy foolish. He made the British think we were crazy. He said, to make the matter worse, that he spoke with the authority of President Wilson, and that he announced a government policy. The British regarded the utterance with amazement, incredulity, dislike, and impatience.

That statement of Daniels's was a toy pistol presented at the head of the British nation. The British found it an implied threat and found the threat futile. Has Mr. Daniels ever heard of that distinguished sailor and profound philosopher produced by the institution of which he is at present the head? Did he ever hear of Mahon? Did he ever read Mahon? If he has heard of him and if he has read of him, he must know that when a nation threatens British security by building against its navy, it is offered two choices—to stop building or to fight.

Several years before the war Germany was given that alternative and Germany elected to continue building. The German navy is now in British ports. Spain, France, Holland and Germany have run against this inevitable necessity of the British empire, and they are not on the sea as military factors today.

When a greater navy than the British navy exists, Great Britain and the British empire exist by sufferance and no nation will exist by sufferance if it can exist otherwise.

Why can we not deal with realities instead of with illusions? We do not need the greatest navy in the world. Great Britain does. Why even threaten, in a foolish threat, the essential of British security when it is not an essential of American security? Our security is to be found in the second navy, indubitably the second navy, and in a citizen army under universal service. Canada is the British hostage to us, if we have this army under universal service.—Chicago Tribune.

A number of investigations held at the National Capital recently, there has been much criticism of the course pursued by large corporations in employing "agents" to represent them and their interests in governmental matters. In some instances these agents were newspapermen, who did not always disclose their employment when they talked with public officials. Out of all the discussion, and some criticism, one conclusion may be drawn—that corporations will fare better in the end if they always deal openly and frankly with the public and send their recognized officers rather than their attorneys to speak for them at congressional hearings. Ultimate discovery of a secret relationship arouses suspicions often unjustified.

The general manager of a telegraph company who opposed government control was deposed and now he says that all the employees are under duress because of the similar treatment from the Political Master General. No doubt about it. If the men care anything for their jobs, they will sneeze whenever Mr. Burleson takes snuff. That is one of the results of bureaucracy. Nobody dares think until he finds out what the dictator wants him to think.

RECEIVES SONG OF ORDNANCE CORPS

The following "Song of the Ordnance" was recently sent to Mrs. Edwin Stearns of Oakland by her husband, who has been in France since last August with the Ordnance Corps. Mr. Stearns has been in the Chief Ordnance Office at Tours for some time, but word was received last Sunday that he had left for an Evacuation Camp on January 14th.

Oh! we're the bunch that made the guns
 The doughboys used to strafe the Huns
 And put old Fritzies on the run—
 The Ordnance!
 And we're the gang that loaded shells
 That made the artillery chorus swell
 And blew the Boche all to hell—
 The Ordnance!

Chorus:
 The Ordnance, the Ordnance,
 The boys that did the work—
 No matter what the job was,
 We never knew to shirk.
 The trucks got broke, machine gun
 choked,
 And rifles broke in two;
 They brought them to the Ordnance—
 We made them good as new.

The General's car broke down one day
 The General said: "Here's Hell to pay!"
 He grabbed the phone, I heard him
 say:
 "The Ordnance!"
 The Ordnance man came double quick,

In half a new the car was fixed.
 The General said, "No job will stick—
 The Ordnance!"
 Chorus:

The Ordnance, the Ordnance,
 Our gang was on the go;
 You always found the Ordnance
 Where trouble started to show.
 We grabbed our tools and "Carried On!"
 Our work was never done;
 For when you're in the Ordnance—
 You're a-working son-of-a-gun.

The Infantry, the Cavalry,
 And even the Artillery,
 Couldn't do a thing until they'd seen
 The Ordnance.
 We fixed their guns and bayonets too;
 too;
 We fixed the sights to carry true;
 Everything they used came through
 The Ordnance.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative thence clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jael Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.
