Hitch dealers who have held famense stocks of provisions in secret places heastily brought them out in panic to unload before competing supplies could be received. Great stores of coffee, cocoa, butter and sausages have appeared as by magic, and prices on coffee fell from forty marks to twenty and fifteen. Restaurants still maintain absurdly high prices for meals served.

It has remained for Senstor Lawrence Sherman of Illinois on tor Lawrence Sherman of Illinois one of the most brilliant in the Senate, and noted for his wit and good sense, to produce from the writings of Woodrow Wilson himself, a faultless pen picture of the President's treaty making methods. The quotation is as follows "The Treaty Maker."

"In April, 1844, Mr. Tyler sent to the Senate a treaty of annexation which he had negotiated with Texas. Secret negotiations, a piece of busi-which he had negotiated with Texas. Secret negotiations, a piece of business privately carried to completion and made public only when finished, suited well with the President's temper and way of action. A man naturally secretive, naturally fond, not of concealments but of quiet and subtle management, not insincere but indirect in his ways of approach, he relished statecraft of this sort and no doubt liked the Texas business all the better because it seemed to demand, in its very nature, a delicate and private handling. The Senate rejected the treaty by the very decisive vote of 16 to 35, men of both parties alike deeply irritated that the President should spring this weighty matter upon the country in weighty matter upon the country in such a fashion, taking no counsel be-forehand save such as he chose to take." Whole Thing Is a Snare and Delusio Priovisions For Peace Impracticable—cave It Alone Is The Advice Given Out.

Immediately after signing the eace treaty the President seized peace treaty the President seized upon the dramatic moment to issue another appeal for his league of nations, this time addressing it to his "fellow countrymen." The sum and substance of all the arguments used by Mr. Wilson and his supporters in this country for their league is contained in one sentence of that statement "I, (the league) associates the free governments of the world in a permanent league in which they are pledged to use their united power to maintain peace by united power to maintain peace by maintaining right and justice."

Now, every intelligent render of the league covenant knows that the governments of the world do nothing of the sort. From beginning to end of the document there is not to be found a single pledge "to use their pulsar house to such as the sort of the sort. be found a single pledge "to use their united power to maintain peace

But admitting that the instances will be few where a single country will dety the world and undertake to apply its own theories of right and wrong, the methods provided in the covenant for arriving at a decision of the league are so devious and involved that it wil be rare indeed when concerted action is possible. Articles 12, 13 and 14 of the covenant provide a way for the submission of international disputes of them. Articles 15, however, deals with cases that are not submitted to arbitration, and therein is a departure from existing practice. In fact, Articles 15 and 16 contain the machinery by which league advocate claims they can prevent future wars. By the terms of the council is unanimous in its findings then the parties to the disput, agree not to go to war. But the council or either disputant may refer the question to the assembly. MOUNT CLEMENS, July 16.—In a moment of petulance while under cross examination today by attorneys for the Chicago Tribune, Heary Ford who is suing the publication for libel, admitted that he is "an Ignorant idealist." Later he reversed the statement, alleging that he made the admission to end the grilling are was receiving from the attorney. That he was an ignorant idealist is one of the charges made against Ford by the Tribune. Attorney Elliott Stevenson, for the Tribune, had seen asking questions to establish the fact that Ford is ignorant. During the cross examination Ford defined a traitor as "one working against the government, and said that an idealist is one "who belips others to make a profit." At this point in the grilling Attorney Steenson said:

Mr. Ford, I guess that we will let the question of an ignorant idealist rest right here." Later in the examination, evidently with Arnold Bennett in unind. Ford described Bennett in unind. Ford descr

Commission and City Will Both Check Report of Engineer Employ-ed to Make Complete Appraisal of Property of Corporation.

Making a thorough investigation of the inventory and apraisement filed by the Douglas Water & Light Company, with the Public Service Commission, City Attorney Carl Wimberly returned to this city last night ready to put a great deal of information before the commission when the application of the corporation for a raise in rates is heard. The city will object to any increase in water or light rates and has already filed its remonstrance. As required by law the corporation has filed its appraisement having employed an engineer for the purpose making a thorough check of each item. Engineer C. J. Mr. Green will also assist the local manager in arranging a new 'hook up' to increase the water capacity at the plant with the view of relieving the present tension.
