PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Some travelers are so biased that they think the river Rhone a cleft-stout.

It is hard to pay a three-year-old bill—if you haven't the money.

Everything goes by contraries in China, particularly the women.

While we are in the grip of the ice king South America is in the grip of the ice man. Which would lose by a trade?

Especially does the man who sells goods on the installment plan love a lover.

Lives of great men remind us that they have their failings when written by their private secretaries.

It depends on whether you are going to bed or getting up if 2 o'clock a. m. is early or late.

Truth is stranger than fiction when the fishermen land it out.

Since the laying of the Pacific cable the earth may be said to be wearing an electric belt, and we will see whether it is cured of earthquakes and such internal disorders.

A congressman is apt to consider his constituents as a necessary evil.

A political economist who uses words of less than six syllables receives no consideration.

Were the weather not always on hand as a topic of conversation some people might as well be deaf and dumb.

The man with a new seal-skin cap takes the open winter as a personal affront.

Pride goes before a fall, but not to soften the way.

No man who turns his cuffs is a gentleman in the eyes of the laundry-man.

The Opportune Time.
When stock is going high,
Then buy;
Before it drops pell-mell,
Then sell;
He who can know
How it will go
Won't have to grind his life away
At three per day.

Their Bread Was Buttered.
"All of the great stars have been listed," complained the young astronomer, "and there is nothing left for us to discover but the minor ones."
"It appears to me," said the sympathetic friend, "that the ancient astronomers have taken the cream off the milky way."

It Is Their Turn.
Sweet the season, kind the fate,
Prospects bright disclosing;
Gentlemen must sit and wait;
Ladies are proposing.
Hush, my palpitating heart;
Calm your restless measure;
When the ladies play the part,
You may get a treasure.
Christmas comes but once a year,
Leap year's even rarer;
In the time of bills that's here
You may be a sharer.
What your faith heart couldn't do,
Not for love or money,
Some sweet girl may venture to
And may be your honey.

To the awkward and the shy,
Who seemed doomed forever
To escape the marriage tie
It is now or never.
And the man of modest parts—
Saint or sinful sinner—
May get in the game of hearts
And become a winner.

Leap year comes but once in four;
Would the time were shorter.
Were there of them three years more
Who would cry for quarter?
Listen! Some one at the gate
Is the latch undoing;
Maybe Mabel, Jane or Kate,
Come to practice wooing.

A Sure Result.
"If John had three apples and Willie gave him three more," asked the teacher, "what would that make?"
"The stomach ache," promptly responded little Paul, who was being brought up to the idea that he was same day to be a doctor.

Loss a Gain.
When married life is full of strife
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than to have loved and won.

The Proper Finish.
"I suppose Mabel is satisfied now that she has had a great wedding?"
"I guess so. You know all is well that ends so well."

Rheumatism

Is Not a Skin Disease.

Most people have an idea that rheumatism is contracted like a cold, that the damp, chilly air penetrates the muscles and joints and causes the terrible aches and pains, or that it is something like a skin disease to be rubbed away with liniment or drawn out with plasters; but Rheumatism originates in the blood and is caused by Urea, or Uric Acid, an irritating, corroding poison that settles in muscles, joints and nerves, producing inflammation and soreness and the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to this distressing disease.

Exposure to bad weather or sudden chilling of the body will hasten an attack of Rheumatism after the blood and system are in the right condition for it to develop, but have nothing to do with the real true causes of Rheumatism, which are internal and not external.

Liniments, plasters and rubbing will sometimes reduce the inflammation and swelling and ease the pain for a time, but fail to relieve permanently because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it attacks it in the blood, and the Uric Acid poison is neutralized, the sluggish circulation stimulated and quickened, and soon the system is purified and cleansed, the aching muscles and joints are relieved of all irritating matter and a lasting cure of this most painful disease is effected.

S. S. S. is a harmless vegetable remedy, unequalled as a blood purifier and an invigorating, pleasant tonic. Book on Rheumatism will be mailed free.
