Calapooia News.

Farmers are getting along fine with their spring work.

Lester Kamp, of Coles Valley, was among us the 10th inst.

Fred Goff, of Yoncalla, was greeting Calapooia friends last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Ada Richards was taken to Oakland the 10th inst., for medical treatment.

Deputy Game Warden Smith was looking over this country lately. As far as known the game law is being duly obeyed here.

Miss Fairy Howard is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Underwood, at Oakland this week.

Mrs. Kearney Emmitt, of Coles Valley, passed through this valley last week enroute to Oakland, where her little girl, who has been quite ill, will receive medical treatment from Dr. Page.

C. D. Smith is now the owner of the finest organ on the Calapooia. By taking advantage of the offers made by the different Organ Co's. when bidding for our Sunday School organ, he secured a fine cottage organ for at least $25 less than catalogue prices, and musical instruction, twenty lessons, for his son Louie, besides.

Mr. Fred Day is visiting with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Richards, this week. Ex.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown, of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. BEARING DOWN PAINS

3647 Indiana Avenue.
CHICAGO, ILL., Sept. 27, 1902.

I have been a sufferer with almost every kind of female trouble for years, but as long as I could get around and do my work I would not try patent medicines as I had no faith in them.

About eight months ago I had to take to my bed, suffering with prolapsus of the uterus, with bearing down pains and intense pains in the back. My aunt, who came to nurse me told me of Wine of Cardui and sent for a bottle. I am indeed glad that she did, for that first bottle started me on the road to recovery. In a few weeks I was out of bed and in three months I was in better health and stronger than I had been in years. I take a dose now, occasionally, of Wine of Cardui and am kept in perfect health.

Mabel Cooke
Sec'y. Woodman's Circle No. 70.

Wine of Cardui brings certain relief to women suffering any symptom of female weakness and perfectly regulates the menstrual flow. Wine of Cardui stops bearing down pains by permanently relieving the irritation which weakens the ligaments holding the womb in place. You need not suffer every month if you take this medicine. The periodical discharge will be painless and healthy without continual weakening drains. Wine of Cardui will make your health right and you may treat yourself privately in your own home. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today.

Arbor-Day Musings.

(Rev. George H. Bennett.)

How expressive is Nature in all her various forms and features! How eloquent are her many voices!

The soul of William Cullen Bryant was keenly responsive to all her breathings and romantic mystery. What deep insight had he in the unwritten lore of mountain, forest, and sea, and how well could he translate to duller minds their various moods.

"To him, who, in the love of Nature, holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language: for his gayer hours
She has a voice of gladness, and a smile
And eloquence of beauty; and she glides
Into his darker musings with a mild
And gentle sympathy, that steals away
Their sharpness, ere he is aware."

How pleasing is her voice of gladness in our gayer hours, and how grateful, in our darker musings, is her gentle sympathy! Well may we cultivate, then, the love of Nature, and acquaintance with her visible forms. Well may we teach the child to love the flowers, and birds, and trees, for that love softens the asperities of human nature and brings us into closer sympathy with our fellows.

All hail to Arbor-Day! Let every one note well its lessons and plant a tree. The grass, the herb, the shrub, the tree—the most ancient classification—occupies a place of peculiar interest and dignity in the kingdom of Nature. In vegetation first appeared the essence of life. It stands as a mediator between the lower mineral kingdom and the higher kingdom of animal life, a mediator between the living and the dead. Who shall explain to us the mystery of Nature's chemistry by which the delicate rootlets dissolve the inorganic minerals of the earth, and the leaves decompose and absorb the carbonic acid taken from the surrounding air? Who shall explain to us the hidden processes by which plants breathe, and assimilate, and perspire, and sleep? Vastly important to us are are all the functions of the plants. They take up the poisonous gases and replenish the air we breathe with the blood purifying oxygen. They transform the crude elements of earth and air and sunshine into food to nourish our bodies. They spread a mantle of bright tints over the dull landscape and gladden the heart. How restful to the eye is the vision of green fields, how soothing to weary minds are the whispering leaves, and the fragrance of the woods—Nature's lullabies.

History records the story of many notable trees. Mount Lebanon is known from early Biblical times for its famous cedars. In 1696 there were sixteen venerable cedars that measured more than thirty feet in circumference. The famous banyan tree of Ceylon is on Mount Lavinia, seven miles from Colombo. Two roads wind between its many stems, and its shadow at noontide covers four acres. The great linden in Wurtemburg was 800 years old when it fell in the gale of 1852. The grand old tree, which inspired the poet's muse, was more than 37 feet in girth. In the Balder Valley, near Balaklava, stands a giant walnut tree which is 1200 years old. It is owned by several Tartar families, who gather from it, some years, nearly a hundred thousand wa nuts.

The Old World has its venerable trees, but none less notable are some of the giants of the New. What schoolchild does not know the story of the Treaty Elm, on the banks of the Delaware, beneath whose boughs William Penn signed his treaty with the Indians in 1682? It perished in 1820. Who does not venerate the Charter Oak in Hartford, which was the hiding place for the Charter of the Colony for several years? And long will it be remembered that Washington stood beneath the spreading branches of an elm, in Cambridge, when he took command of the forces of the patriots.

What soul is not stirred with emotions, when gazing upon the towering firs and cedars of Oregon, and when contemplating the ponderous redwoods of California! If these ancient patriarchs could but unbosom to us the story of life and decay, of romance and Sciatic Rheumatism Cured.

"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful liniment." For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

Iula Bradley Bond Dead.

Eugene Register, April 12: Mrs. Iula Bradley Bond died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock from congestion of the heart. Mrs. Bond was one of Lane county's highly respected school teachers, having successfully taught in many parts of the county.

She was born in 1870 and was reared to womanhood near Eugene, where she formed many acquaintances. Deceased was the sister of Mrs. E. J. Lucky, of this city, and Mrs. A. B. Millican, of Arizona, who are yet living.

The funeral was held from the family residence here this afternoon under the auspices of the Rebekah lodge, of which she was a member.

(Mrs. Bond taught two years in the seventh grade in the Roseburg Public School a few years ago. She was very popular with both pupils and patrons and her death will occasion profound regret.)
