WHEAT SPECULATORS.

Become Excited and Prices Reach Unusual Figures.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—A nervous crowd of interested spectators waited the tap of the opening bell today on the Board of Trade, as eager to sell wheat as on the previous day they had been to buy. The price suffered a decline at the moment of opening, ranging from 1 cent to about 3 cents a bushel. Later prices had a sudden rebound, and May wheat, which was sold down to $1.08 at the start, jumped up again to $1.12. The reason for the change in sentiment among the traders over night, as shown in the early trading, was the failure of the Weather Bureau's forecast of possible frost in the Spring wheat country to come true. There is nothing within 15 degrees of frost temperatures.

As the price of wheat since the middle of June last advanced 30 cents a bushel, there were naturally numbers of traders who had made handsome profits, and the wheat they had been buying constantly since then was the wheat that was for sale as soon as the market opened today. Hundreds of nervous wheatowners had hardly got rid of their grain when it was reported in a telegram from Winnipeg, sent by a well-known crop examiner who had gone up to Manitoba, that the rust that had ruined the crops of Minnesota and the Dakotas was at work in the British Northwest and threatened that part of the country with a similar calamity.

How immense is the interest taken in the grain market by people of all sections may be judged from the fact that one Chicago commission house bought and sold for customers 10,000,000 bushels of the various kinds of grain yesterday, and other large houses sold from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels each.

The last hour of trading showed the sentiment of traders again divided, with a strong leaning toward the bear side. Conflicting reports from North Dakota caused doubt as to the real seriousness of the situation. The close of the May delivery was easy, at $1.09 1/2 to 1.09 1/4, a decline of 1/4 from the previous close.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or pimple boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c at A. C. Marsters & Co., Roseburg, Or.

Drain News.

L. W. Gaerhole and wife, who have been spending the summer at Oscar Applegate's, left last week for their home at Kensington, Kansas.

will move next week to Mommouth where she will make her future home.

F. H. Marion and family, left Monday for Bend, Or. where he has taken up some land and will make their future home. They are making the trip across the mountains in a wagon.

It is rumored that O. W. Hurd, of Florence, has purchased the S. Elmore & Company interests in salmon canneries on the Siuslaw, and will fish that river alone this year.—Nonpareil.

Of Interest to Sick People.

We have all the sympathy in the world for sick people, and want to treat them in a serious way. There is no humor in pain and affliction, but hard earnest fact. It is impossible for the patient to impress on others the extent of suffering they endure, and their anxiety for relief. To get well or be relieved is their one thought and remedy that will bring this about has their everlasting gratitude. We have thousands of letters from people who have had dyspepsia, sick-headache and bilious attacks, who tell us how thankful they were for having used Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. They are sold at all drug stores for 25c per box. Only one for a dose. These pills remove the cause of disease and make the skin clear and healthy looking. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co., Druggist.

Lines to My Wife.

(In my sickness)
If my last conscious hour should come tonight,
And I no more to you could speak or write:
And fondest hopes so suddenly should blight,
And dreams I've never told so suddenly should blight;
And you no more on earth should see my face,
Its sunken lines, remorseless pain did trace,

My eyes were closed, which often turned to you
As I was passing life's last gateway through.

And they should find my heart that beat for you
So glad and often at hope's perspective view,

Its pulsings ceased, far from the glittering goal,
From this decrepit frame my longing soul

Had wing and I away, and I so far from home,
No time for you I love so well to come
Ere death had closed the eye which once in light

Lit up to love on you with such delight:
How feebly would the message they should send—

Of love and hope which in my soul did blend—
Convey the real words I fain would say
If I had known it was my life's last day.

What wonder then my pen seems filled, replete,
From that sweet fountain, deep affection's seat;

And I am trying often in vain to tell
The depths of love that in my bosom swell?

Oh what shall be when morning light shall break,
And shining stars their daily recess take,

The full-orbed sun on distant plains shall rise,
Shall I with aching pain unclose my eyes,

To dread the hours I know not what shall bring?
Shall burning fever to my vitals cling?

Despairing clouds their shadows throw around
To blight the hope that health may yet be found?

Oh sad indeed to sing my dirge of hope,
To paint a night on which no day may ope!

To see the phantom forms of hopes now dead
Which may no more lift up my bowed head.

To moan in plaintive tones with winds that sigh
So dimly as they are passing by;

To sit alone by pale and fitful light
And grasp with nervous hand my pen to write,

But should the morning break with gladsome light,
This gloom should lift which overhangs the night,

And hope's bright light should shine upon my way
And I should catch the gleam of brighter day,

The song of hope revive within my breast,
From fears that bode me ill my soul shall rest,

I'd step with joyous tread the earth once more
And pay my vows to God as ne'er before!

Sick Headache.

"For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and today weighs more than she ever did before and is real well," says Mr. Geo. E. Wright, of New London, New York. For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

At least 19 special trains from the east are expected to pass through Oregon during the first week in September bearing delegates and visitors to the convocation of the Knights Templar in San Francisco.
