The whole crop of Italian prunes is so small this year that the fruit ought to bring a fair price, but the present outlook is dark for California prune growers, says the Rural Northwest. California prunes are now being offered for future delivery at as low as 14 cents for the four sizes. Everybody connected with the prune business appears to be in a very uncertain mental condition as to what the future has in store for prunes. It is evident that in California as well as in Oregon, the present conditions will tend to confine prune culture to those districts which are peculiarly adapted to the production of prunes.

Eugene Register: Dr. A. E. McAllister is again troubled with the hoarseness which causes loss of speech. The doctor spent several months in camp at Blue river this summer, and was greatly benefited, but it seems that a few weeks in the valley brings the trouble on again. The modern merchant who never advertises escapes a lot of trouble. He may keep out of some of it without intending to do anything of the sort, but he escapes it just the same. He gets rid of the trouble of preparing advertisements, and of course has no worry about changing them and keeping them fresh and up-to-date. He is not bothered about the way his advertisements are printed, nor the position they occupy. He can say, with much truthfulness, that it is no trouble to show goods, for he is seldom asked to show any. But his greatest saving of trouble is in not having to sell goods to people who stay away, but who would come to his store if he advertised. Then, as he sells a few goods, he has few goods to buy, and there is more trouble saved. He never has the trouble of selecting and paying a large staff of assistants. He gets rid of the trouble of having to pay for advertising. Finally he never has the trouble of enlarging his store or removing to a larger one, and it is very little trouble to count his money.—Retailer and Advertiser.

BIG STORE

The local theatrical season was auspiciously ushered in Thursday night under a combination of three welcome features: A good play, good music and a well filled house. "A Runaway Match" was the title of the initial attraction. It is a very amusing concoction of comedy, interspersed with a dash of vaudeville. It bids fair to make as great a hit as "Brown's in Town," written by the same author, something anyone who saw both plays could have almost told, however. The new management, the Roseburg Orchestra were present in full personnel and rendered selections that were appreciated by the people who braved the discomforting weather to be present. The Orchestra has made a good start under "A Runaway Match" and should the future attractions they secure prove equally as satisfactory, the success of their business venture will
