"Necessity" may be the "mother of invention" and "competition" the "life of trade," but confidence is the foundation of the piano business. The cause of our marvelous success today is the "confidence" Oregon people have in us, as the result of 25 years of fair dealing. We cordially invite you to visit our branch warehouse in Salmon & Beards building and see the instruments that have created this "confidence." ALLEN & GILBERT-RAHMER CO. d-sw.

We do not sell our pianos through consignment agents, for in buying a piano of a consignment man, you pay a factory profit and freight to a retail dealer, then that dealer's profit and another freight bill to the consignment man, then you pay the consignment man's big profit and expense. Here's how we sell them: We get a close rate from factories because we buy so many and make you a close rate because we sell so many. A straight salary man represents us, we pay no commissions and ask one price. ALLEN & GILBERT-RAHMER CO. d-sw.
