

BAD BULLET WOUND

Mrs. L. G. Dumbleton Shot by L. Vial, at Winchester

WOUND NOT A SERIOUS ONE

While Intoxicated, Vial Quarreled With His Wife and Mrs. Dumbleton Interfered.

Mrs. Louis G. Dumbleton, wife of a prominent citizen of Winchester, five miles north of Roseburg, was shot and severely wounded at her home at that place, shortly before noon today, by Leon G. Vial, son-in-law of Fred J. Blakeley, the well known capitalist of this city. The shooting followed a quarrel between Vial and his wife at the Dumbleton home and the intervention of Mrs. Dumbleton by ordering Vial from the house. A 38-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver was the weapon used by Vial. He fired one shot at Mrs. Dumbleton, the bullet entered the left part of the abdomen and made its exit toward the back, just above the left hip bone. Vial is now in the county jail at Roseburg, awaiting developments.

Mrs. Vial had been residing at the Dumbleton home for a week, having left her husband at Oakland because, as alleged, he abused her. This morning Vial appeared at the Dumbleton home, accompanied by Wm. Leatherwood and Wm. Nolte, of Wilbur, he being somewhat intoxicated. He had invited his two companions to dinner, telling them he lived there, which he formerly did. What followed is best learned from the story of Leatherwood, as told to a REVIEW reporter who reached the scene about an hour after the affair occurred.

Vial and Leatherwood went directly into the house while Nolte remained outside talking to Mr. Dumbleton, who was at work in the yard. While Leatherwood and Mrs. Dumbleton were seated in the sitting room, Vial was holding a conversation with his wife in the parlor adjoining. Suddenly Mrs. Vial was heard to scream for Mrs. Dumbleton, and the latter quickly arose, went to the parlor door and opened it, being followed by Leatherwood. As she did so, Mrs. Vial rushed by with a terrified look on her face, indicating that an unpleasant scene had taken place. Mrs. Dumbleton at once ordered Vial from the house. His response was an oath and the shot which wounded Mrs. Dumbleton. Leatherwood immediately sprang forward and grappled with Vial. In the struggle, Vial let the revolver fall from his grasp and Leatherwood forced him out of the door. Both men then hastened from the house, Vial going to the section bunk house and giving himself up, while Leatherwood alarmed the neighbors. Vial, Leatherwood and Nolte were brought to town this afternoon by Sheriff McClallen and Deputy Sheriff Bogard. When asked for a statement Vial answered, with a drunken leer on his face, that he had nothing to say.

Dr. Geo. E. Houck, of this city, attended Mrs. Dumbleton. While her injury is very painful, Dr. Houck does not anticipate any serious consequences, his present belief being that the bullet did not enter the internal cavity, although its entrance and exit were several inches apart.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Smith, parents of Mrs. Dumbleton, were called to her bedside this afternoon from their home near Green's Station.

An Editor's Opinion of the Royal Gorge.

Edyth Tozier Weathered, in describing a recent trip over the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, says in "The Exposition":

"At last the goal of the ambition of years has been reached—marvelous, wonderful, grand and inspiring Royal Gorge is on either hand. The only disappointing thing is you only have one pair of eyes, while the train darts in and out of the tremendous chasm. If any who have never seen it are wondering how it looks just go and see. Thousands have tried to describe it, yet every attempt falls short of giving the subject justice."

HORROR AT BROCKTON

About 100 Persons Perish in Explosion Followed by Fire.

BROCKTON, Mass. March 20.—Sixty dead bodies, burned and mutilated beyond any effort of identification, possibly 40 or more charred corpses in the uncovered ruins, and a list of injured already upward of 50, constituted the record this afternoon of a boiler explosion, followed by fire, this morning, at the shoe factory of the R. B. Grover Company, at Campello, a part of this city. An official of the company announced at this hour that the dead may number 100 or more, but the total loss of life and the number of those on the injury list will necessarily remain a matter of mere surmise for some hours.

At the hour stated the rescuers were almost at the center of the ruins. At that hour 250 of the 400 listed employees had been accounted for.

In all eight buildings were burned, including the factory, a business block and an old hotel building occupied by stores and tenements, and the financial loss is estimated at $200,000.

The greatest difficulty was experienced in ascertaining the number of dead and wounded, owing to the fact that an all of the factory in which some company hands were at work was almost completely wrecked, and many of the men and women had no chance of escape.

SYNDICATE'S UNIQUE OFFER.

Wants Exclusive Liquor Privileges in Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 20.—A syndicate of Los Angeles capitalists has made in good faith a proposition to the city attorney and board of police commissioners to have the present 200 liquor licenses revoked, and instead 50 or 75 licenses issued to the company. The members would place their saloons in charge of competent persons, under such regulations as do not now exist in any American city. Treating would be considered a misdemeanor. Coffee and soft drinks would be served, as well as intoxicants, and a forfeit would be paid for every drink sold to an intoxicated person. The drinking places would be made attractive and the prices uniform.

But for the fact that this proposition is seriously backed by a number of men of wealth, it would be taken as a joke. A formal offer is made to guarantee the city $180,000 per year for the exclusive privilege, and to spend a liberal amount in public improvements. The syndicate will make the offer, and if it is refused will assist in the present strenuous campaign to bring to a vote in Los Angeles the question of saloons or no saloons.

The constant aching of a bad back, The weariness, the tired feeling, The pains and aches of kidney ills, Are serious if neglected, Dangerous urinary troubles follow. A Roseburg citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Edwin Billings, now residing on Jane street East end, says: "At intervals for seven or eight years I have been annoyed with irregularities of the kidney secretions and suffered from severe pain in the small of my back. I don't know what caused it, but coming on gradually I kept getting worse as time rolled by. Finally I got so bad that on more than one occasion I was about used up. I know what caused the trouble but how to check it or cure it was a mystery. When in bad shape several months ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I procured a box at A. C. Marsters' drug store. The results I obtained were decidedly satisfactory. To say that I endorse Doan's Kidney Pills expresses my opinion very mildly."
