How to Get Rich in an Egg Shell.

Do you oft' long to be a fine millionaire when You're poor, but too haughty to beg?
Well, go to a neighbor and borrow a hen.
And ask for the use of an egg.

Now next place the hen and the egg
on a nest.
Where the pullet will work out the
trick:
For if she's the talent her manners
attest
She'll shortly hatch out a small chick.

Then take the hen back to her owners
next day,
As fast as your trotters will peg;
And when your own chick is beginning
to lay
You can honestly take back the egg.

Then set up in business, the rest is a
snap,
For your chick will have chicks of
her own;
And the chicks of these chicks will
hatch other chick's chicks,
If you let them severely alone.

And when all the chicks of these
chicks have hatched chicks,
And these chicks have hatched
chickens in turn,
You can sell out your farm, like a
thousand of bricks,
And revel in money to burn.

Then you'll blow into Newport, and
purchase a yacht.
And ask all your neighbors aboard;
And before you are used to it, likely
as not,
Your daughter will marry a lord.

—Wallace Irwin, in Country Journal.

What Time Proves.

This thing of being sick and looking for a cure is a mighty serious business. People are not given to joking even at the first symptom of the approach of the Grim Destroyer. They do not want to be the subjects of experiment, but want medicine that has had the test of years behind it. A medicine that has been made and used for 30 years gives assurance of its worth, and can be taken with a faith that they have the very best cure the world affords. All this can be said about Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills as a remedy for sick-headache, dyspepsia and indigestion, it begins right at the source of the trouble and removes the cause. Sold by all druggists for 25c per box. One pill for a dose. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.

Limits of State Education.

EDITOR REVIEW: I wish to inquire: What are the limits of State Education? Or, to put the question more plainly, to what extent is it right to take one man's money and apply it to the education of another man's child? Is the state justified in giving any education at all at public expense? The public school has so interwoven itself into the frame-work of our laws, and into the social life of our people, that the abstract question of its right to exist cannot now be made a live issue. The constitutions of some states guarantee to all citizens a thorough and efficient system of free public schools. Every state in the union is placed, in theory at least, on the same platform. Every nation in Christendom is following in our footsteps.

And now let me ask, why not reduce the State Normal Schools to one? Have that one school the pride of Oregon. Take the money appropriated for the remaining three, and give all of our boys and girls a higher education at home in our district schools. In fact, have the schools for the home, and not the home for the schools.

Now I can find several small children too far away to attend school who would now be in school. Their money can be used in supporting these Normal Schools while they cannot enter here.

I suppose you will say that the writer does not believe in taxes to support schools. Certainly I do, but not a waste of the people's money as they are now conducted.

But some will say, look at the immigration that we expect in Oregon. When immigration is enough to cause a need for such a number of schools there will then be more help to support them. Besides, I think if our state would adopt the Pennsylvania school system by letting the Districts supply all school books and see that every child that is old enough to go to school gets there it would invite more people to Oregon than when they look over the ground and see so much expense that has not yet amounted to anything for the people. Hasten the day when the school shall be for the home and not the home for the school.

CITIZEN.

Yoncalla, Oregon, March 20, 1905.

Discussions, such as the foregoing, are now very opportune, as comparatively few people thoroughly understand the purpose and work of the Normal schools. To say nothing of what the future may develop in the way of increased population and necessary enlargement of our school facilities, Oregon now needs about 600 new teachers every year to meet the demands of growing schools and to take the places of those teachers who enter other occupations.

As to the idea of a single Normal school in each state, "a large institution that would be a source of state pride," it has been demonstrated in Iowa and elsewhere that such an institution costs the state almost as much as several smaller schools located at different points and does not nearly so well accomplish the desired result. Normal schools are primarily designed for supplying trained teachers for the public schools. In the single Normal the curriculum is graded up so high that the graduates—like those from the universities and colleges—seldom go into the country schools to teach, but instead they enter other professions or secure positions in the city schools. Thus, in the country schools, where better trained teachers are most needed, the aid which the Normal schools are designed to supply is lacking.

The matter of the state supplying free books to pupils of the district schools is a question for our legislators to determine.

The Colonel's Waterloo.

Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo, from Liver and Kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead, of these complaints, and, although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great Electric Bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure, Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Kidney Disease, by A. C. Marsters & Co. druggist, at 50c a bottle.

Incredible Brutality.

It would have been incredible brutality if Chas. F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy," he says, "cut a fearful gash over his eye, so I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." Good for burns and ulcers too. Only 25c at A. C. The Colorado Steal.

Salt Lake Herald: Although for some days it has been a foregone conclusion that Governor Alva Adams would be forced out of the place to which he was elected last November by a majority of the honest people of the state of Colorado, many people hoped against hope that the legislature would have decency enough to respect the wishes of the people. If ever a man was honestly elected to a political office that man was Alva Adams.

Nobody seriously denies that some frauds were committed by some democrats; nobody can seriously deny that frauds were committed by republican workers for Peabody, his republican opponent. And every man who has the least spark of fairness in his composition will admit that if every fraudulent ballot were eliminated there would still be a great majority in favor of Adams. This, indeed, was clearly demonstrated during the contest proceedings.

But the republican members of the legislature were determined to steal the governorship. "Steal" is a harsh word, but it is the only word that fits. They found that they could not steal it for Peabody, so they arranged that Peabody should be sworn in and then resign, thus giving the office to the republican lieutenant governor, McDonald.

That is a hair line shading. It shows the desperation of the republican rascals in the legislature. McDonald was not a candidate for governor. Therefore he could not have been elected governor. The republicans were brazen up to a certain point, but when it came to seating Peabody for the term their effrontery deserted them. They feared that such a course might precipitate the state into civil war.

So they "whipped the devil around the stump." Now what sort of citizen is Peabody to enter into such a deal? And what sort of a citizen is McDonald, who profits by it? Peabody knows as well as any man that the people of Colorado rejected him; he knows his republican colleagues esteem him so poorly that they would not consent to let him be governor for a second term, yet he brazenly acts as a stepping stone for the advancement of a man who has no more shadow of right to the governorship of Colorado than any citizen of Utah.

Peabody and McDonald must go down into Colorado history as twins in infamy, twins in corruption, twins in the consummation of the rottenest political swindle that has ever been perpetrated in this nation, with the possible exception of the theft of the presidency for Hayes in 1876.

In the dark chapter there is, however, one illuminating ray. As bright as a shaft of sunshine in a dark room looms the action of Alva Adams. Besought by well meaning friends to resist with force the attempt of Peabody to assume the governorship, he refused to commit any action not in full accord with his high ideals of citizenship. Instead of offering resistance, he quietly packed his belongings and left his office. Alva Adams, private citizen, is today more beloved, and will ever be more beloved by his people, than Peabody and McDonald and their accomplices can ever hope to be.

The name of Adams will be known and honored long after the names of Peabody and McDonald have been buried beneath the scorn and contempt and obloquy they so richly deserve.

Twenty Years' Trial.

There are lots of good things the doctors know nothing about. We frequently cure people of disease after the doctors have given them up. If the disease comes from overwork, dissipation or exposure, causing weak and watery blood and loss of flesh and strength, we have the one sure remedy in Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic. These tablets taken with meals turn the food into rich, red blood, making strong, steady nerves and increasing the strength, producing solid flesh at the rate of 1 to 3 lbs. per week. This means health. Druggists sell Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic for 75c per box, or 3 boxes for $2. For nervous prostration, loss of memory, or a pale, sallow complexion, a better remedy was never made. Doctors know nothing about this remedy only the fact that we make cures, which we have been doing for 20 years. For sale by A. C. Marsters & Co.

Aeronauts Fall to Death.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 20.—When V. A. Middlekauff and L. M. Odell were 200 feet in the air, during a Sunday balloon ascension at Wallace, Idaho, the gasbag tore loose and the parachute in which the pair were seated fell. Middlekauff was instantly killed and Odell probably fatally hurt. Odell made desperate efforts to open the parachute, but failed. They fell amid the spectators.

Starling Mortality

Statistics show startling mortality, from appendicitis and peritonitis. To prevent and cure these awful diseases there is just one reliable remedy, Dr. King's New Life Pills. M. Kidney Trouble Disappearing.

Now Recognized to be Bright's Disease—Fearful Death List.

A few years ago many deaths were reported from "Inflammation of the Bowels." Appendicitis is now known to be the real trouble. A similar change has come in Kidney Disease. It is now disappearing into Bright's Disease. In 1860 the census reported deaths from Kidney Disease, but none from Bright's Disease. In 1890 of the 37,549 deaths that year from Kidney Disease, over half were recognized as Bright's Disease. In 1900 of the 63,612 deaths, 58,748 (over nine tenths) were known to be Bright's Disease.

Thus the simple thing we innocently refer to as Kidney Trouble is now recognized as the commonest symptom of Bright's Disease. The worry and strain of the American life is ruinous to the Kidneys and Bright's Disease is sweeping the country. Look at this appalling increase in the deaths from Bright's Disease taken from the census:

1860.....DEATHS.....
1870.....DEATHS.....	1,772
1880.....DEATHS.....	5,386
1890.....DEATHS.....	23,330
1900.....DEATHS.....	58,748

Where will it stop? No one is safe who worries or has weak Kidneys. There is only one cure known. Fullerton's Renal Compound for Bright's Disease. The earlier taken the easier the control.
