A Pleasant Way to Travel.

The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific Railway between the Pacific Coast and the East, and we believe that the services and accommodations given merit this statement: From Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up to date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going East or South, write for rates and full information. W. C. Champion Liniment for Rheumatism.

Chas. Drake, a mail carrier at Chapinville, Conn., says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the champion of all liniments. The past year I was troubled a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulder. After trying several cures I the storekeeper here recommended this remedy and it completely cured me." There is no use of anyone suffering from that painful ailment when this liniment can be obtained for a small sum. One application gives prompt relief and its continued use for a short time will produce a permanent cure. For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

THE WET TABLECLOTH.

It Puzzled the Ship's Passenger Until It Was Explained.

The understeward in setting the table poured a half glass of water on the clean white cloth and placed a dish of fruit on the puddle he had made. He made another puddle and placed on it the carafe. On a third puddle he placed the butter dish, and so on.

"Why do you spoil the cloth with all that water?" asked a passenger.

"Because the weather's rough, sir," said the steward, and then, making another puddle, he went on:

"We stewards on ocean liners must not be merely good waiters—we must be good wet weather waiters. And we have a number of tricks.

"One of our tricks is to set the heavy dishes upon wet spots. If we were to set them on dry spots in the ordinary way they would slide to and fro with every lurch of the ship. But if the cloth is wetted they don't slide. They adhere to the wet place as though glued to it.

"One of the first things a steward learns is to set a stormy weather table—to spill water on the cloth at each place where a heavy dish is to stand. This water serves its purpose thoroughly, and it doesn't look bad, either, for the dish covers it. No one knows of the wet spot underneath."—New York Press.

Beggars In England.

Beggars who feign diseases are no new thing in the streets of London. They existed in Charles II.'s time, only then the beggar was called a "ruffler," a "huff" or a "shabbaroon." If he was deaf and dumb he was called a "dummerer." The woman who sung hymns and led borrowed children by the hand was called a "clapperdozen." Vagrancy is no new thing, though it practically did not exist in mediæval times. It was when the cities ceased to be confined within their own walls and long before the days of policemen that the people got beyond the control of the aldermen and their officers and vagrancy became a regular profession. The first English law against beggars was made by Henry VIII., who gave licenses to beg to the old and impotent and ordered that all other beggars should be whipped and sent back to their parishes.

How Chicago Is Spelled.

In sorting over the letters for Chicago a man in the general Chicago office has kept an account of the number of different ways the word Chicago is spelled. Recently the record showed 197 different ways. Some ripe scholar in Finland sent a letter to his brother and spelled the name of the Garden City, Zizzazo. Still another foreigner, possibly with a sinister motive, spelled the word Jagjago. Hipaho, Jajijo, Scheechacho, Hizago and Chachicho are also prime favorites.

He Found It.

"I meant to have told you of that hole," said the kindly host to his friend, who had suddenly disappeared, in the course of a stroll through the grounds, into a pit full of water. The friend climbed out and shook himself. "It doesn't matter," he said cheerily. "I found it."—London Globe.

Proved Himself.

"That Hustly seems like a plucky chap."

"Guess he is all right. He has plucked everybody in this neighborhood."—Detroit Free Press.

Riddle News.

Lee Catching and daughter, of Portland, are visiting relatives in Riddle. Mr. Catching used to live here, but has not been in Riddle for a number of years. He notices a great many improvements at that place.

The new county road that has just been laid out between Riddle and Myrtle Creek, is being put into shape this week.

Newton Yokum made a business trip to Roseburg Friday.

Born, to the wife of O. V. Logsdon, March 12, 1905, a son. Otto is a very proud father.

Lee Nelson has returned from his vacation. He has again taken up the night work at the depot. The new day agent will arrive shortly.

Miss Venetia Parsley spent a few days last week in Rossburg, visiting with her aunt, Miss Edna Parsley.

Mrs. Bell Frater, of Roseburg, is visiting here with her son, George, at present.

Oscar Webber and wife will occupy the house left vacant by Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Sackett.

Miss Bertha Pruner has gone to North Myrtle Creek, where she began a term of school Monday.

G. L. Grant is building a wire fence around his dwelling house.

Miss Cornelison, of Myrtle Creek, a daughter of R sa Cornelison, spent a few days visiting with Mrs. Dona Catching the past week.

Rev. Ellison, of Myrtle Creek, spoke to the L. T. L. little people Sunday afternoon. The L. T. L. has quite a few members here.

The school social given Friday evening to finish paying for the organ, was a complete success, both financially and otherwise. About $25 was cleared. A long musical and literary program was given and then the boxes were sold. Everyone seemed to have a good time. A number of young people from Canyonville attended, and a few from Myrtle Creek. The teachers wish to thank all those who helped in any way to make this entertainment a success.

Beef-Trust Detective System.

"On February 18, 1903, the Federal Court at Chicago enjoined the Beef Trust from doing certain things," says Charles E. Russell in Everybody's April instalment of "The Greatest Trust in the World." "Every day since then it has done the identical things it was enjoined from doing. From time to time spasmodic efforts are made to discover why a Federal-Court injunction, binding on everybody else, is not binding on the Beef Trust. The demands for an investigation were particularly urgent at the time of the Stock-Yards strike last summer (about which I shall have a little story to tell hereafter), and in August Mr. Garfield, Chief of the Bureau of Corporations at Washington, sent some of his men to Chicago to collect the necessary evidence of the law-breaking. Ample warning was sent from Washington, I do not know by whom, and when Mr. Garfield's men arrived in Chicago they were met by Trust detectives who never let the Washington men out of their sight by day or night. The course of the investigation led naturally into the railroad offices. Whenever one of Mr. Garfield's agents entered such a place he was followed within twenty-four hours by a confidential representative of the Trust, who said to the railroad officer:

"'One of Garfield's men was in here yesterday. What did you tell him? Did you tell him anything about our arrangements?'

"These questions were not put lightly but with a menace of tone that conveyed to the railroad man what he might expect if he were indiscreet. Naturally enough Mr. Garfield gleaned no information from the railroads."

The weather bureau reports a precipitation of 94-100 of an inch at Roseburg for the 24 hours ending at five o'clock this morning. Railroad men report snow in the mountains at Wolf creek.

Gardiner News.

Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. Algie Dewar, on Saturday, March 11, 1905, a son.

Z. L. Dimmick and C. E. Smith, of Oakland, were in Gardiner, first of the week, enroute to Coos bay.

Louis St. Ore, of Drain, recently spent a few days in Gardiner and vicinity, where he has numerous friends.

Revival meetings at the Methodist church are planned for each night next week. Everyone welcome to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jewett and little daughter, Narcisse, returned Monday, after an absence of several months.

C. W. Spalding, who has resided for a number of years past at Scottsburg, has been moving his family to Drain to reside.

Capt. N. J. Cornwall has received from his wife encouraging news regarding the condition of their son, and it is hoped the boy may recover within a few weeks, which is sooner than was at first anticipated.

A. H. Stemmons has received news that his little daughter, Jennie, met with an accident in Berkeley, Calif., resulting in the breaking of her jaw and the forefinger of one hand. The little girl was run down by a coaster, operated by a youthful rider. She has met with four accidents with vehicles, and it seems that she has had her full share of trouble of this nature.

Capt. James Graham went to Coos bay, Wednesday, to have some casting done for the steamer Eva, which met with an accident on the Scottsburg run Tuesday evening, when the starboard engine was disabled, and a broken crank pin, the forward cylinder head blown out and the after one damaged, leaving the Eva in need of immediate and extensive repairs. The Juno and the tug have been supplementing the Eva.—Gazette.
