A Pleasant Way to Travel.

The above is the usual verdict of the traveler using the Missouri Pacific Railway between the Pacific Coast and the East, and we believe that the services and accommodations given merit this statement: From Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo there are two through trains daily to Kansas City and St. Louis, carrying Pullman's latest standard electric-lighted sleeping cars, chair cars and up to date dining cars. The same excellent service is operated from Kansas City and St. Louis to Memphis, Little Rock and Hot Springs. If you are going East or South, write for rates and full information. W. C. SELECTIONS

THE ORTHODONTIST.

Wonders Performed by the Modern "Beauty Doctor."

In the very room where for many years Oliver Wendell Holmes lectured to students of the Harvard Medical school are now being trained the real "beauty doctors," or, to give them their scientific name, the orthodontists, the men who literally change your face. Theirs is no frivolous work, for they are the specialists in dentistry who by straightening crooked teeth, repairing broken jaws and otherwise improving their patients' features not only perform many wonderful surgical feats, but in some cases restore or increase a patient's opportunity to earn an honest living.

All sorts and conditions of humanity attend the free clinics in orthodontia at the Harvard Dental school in Boston, where clinics of this kind were first established. The majority of the patients are people whose misplaced jaws or distorted teeth have caused them more or less suffering, chiefly through inability to chew their food, but some of them have experienced hardships in getting a livelihood because their deformities of mouth or teeth prevented their securing the sort of positions their talents naturally fitted them to fill. The orthodontist makes over these abnormal faces by means of apparatus that slowly forces projecting teeth into vertical position or a misplaced jaw into natural relation with the other jaw.

Fractured jaws are now mended by the dentist, not by the surgeon. This is a great boon to the sufferers, for the surgeon works from the outside through the cheek, while the dentist works from the inside of the mouth. On the average the Harvard clinic in orthodontia has one case of fractured jaw every day, which goes to show that this particularly uncomfortable kind of accident is more numerous than is commonly supposed.

The orthodontist does not call himself a "beauty doctor," of course; but, properly speaking, he is one, for by making teeth straight and jaws regular he brings about the betterment of the patient's whole physical condition as well as mere improvement of facial expression.

Telephone Magnifier.

Although not yet perfected, the Majorana telephone bids fair vastly to extend the field of usefulness of the long distance telephone by rendering audible vibrations too faint to actuate the disk of the ordinary receiver or even the microphone instruments.

In this device the electrical current regulates the flow of sulphuric acid through a capillary tube, which acidulates water to a greater or less degree, according to the volume of the flow.

The acidulated water increases or retards the transmission of the current in proportion to the amount of acid in the water, and this current passes to a wire which transmits the flow to the customary receiver in an intensified degree.

The principal experimental stations have been established between Paris and Rome, but in a recent test a speaker in Berlin was heard perfectly in London, the message going by way of Paris.

Considerate.

During one of the recent strikes in Russia a delegation of mill hands waited upon the superintendent of a mill. In a most respectful and polite manner they recited their demands. Finally the spokesman said: "Baron, we have decided to assassinate you. We hope you will not feel insulted; the men simply voted that way. We thought we ought to tell you because you might feel hurt if we had not told you beforehand." Then the committee filed solemnly out of the room and the director was left alone to take such action as he might think fit. He laughed immoderately at first, but found it advisable to absent himself from the city for a time.

Insurance Versus Savings Banks.

In the last fiscal year the increase in deposits of the savings banks in the state of New York was more than $85,000,000. In the last six months it was $52,000,000. "Very gratifying," the wise one says. Yes, very instructive too. Did the Equitable exposures turn a lot of money into the savings banks? Those institutions in New York state have the care of more than $1,252,000,000. They take good care of it. They don't waste it, speculate in it, steal it. In short, they are managed as insurance companies ought to be.—Everybody's Magazine.

Modern School Methods.

"Read this story by Hawthorne and criticise it," was the order given recently to a high school class. "Note where he violates the rules of narration and write an estimate of the story." When such work is expected of the sixteen-year-old, one no longer wonders that teachers have "expurgated" Dickens and rearranged other books of high standing for use in the public schools.—New York Post.

Oxone.

One of the most interesting new products of chemistry is oxone, or sodium peroxide. It is made in tablets, a pound of which placed in water will give off more than two cubic feet of oxygen gas. A few such tablets and a little water would do much to improve the air for breathing where work has to be done in confined spaces and under unfavorable atmospheric conditions.

How to Exterminate.

Quack grass, considered as a weed, can be exterminated by proper methods of cultivation. Henry Hatch says: This grass grows from the roots as well as from the seed, and as the roots get a start very quickly in wet weather they should be disturbed only during a dry spell. No matter how small or short the root may be, it is sure to grow if torn loose from the parent plant and deposited in moist soil. Plow the field rather shallow, then harrow it thoroughly with a common lever harrow or a spring tooth tool if one is handy. This will then leave a large share of the roots lying on the surface, and after a few drying days they can be raked into windrows and burned. If the work does not seem to be through in the spring plow again and a little deeper than before, then harrow, rake and burn as before. Probably a few roots will escape and possibly a few seeds will yet be in the soil, so, if it can be done, some cultivated crop had better be grown in the field following this treatment and all plants that survive cultivation be destroyed with hoes. This grass is as hard to destroy as almost anything that grows and the only way to do it is to take everything out of the soil in the way of roots, seeds, etc., and completely destroy them by burning or rotting away in a pile.
