Pittsburg Society Girls to Wear Tights in Public.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 13.—Pittsburg men who desire to get a line on the form of the society damsels of the Smoky City will not have to wait for the arrival of the new style of Paris gowns. The daughters of Pittsburg millionaires have gone to the Parisiennes ones better and tonight some of the most popular girls of the city will appear in a theatrical performance of "The Pirates of Penzance," wearing plaid tights and not much else. It is advertised that the chorus will be composed of young women representing an aggregate family wealth of $500,000,000.

Sixty girls, petite and plump, all the daughters of Pittsburgers worth not less than a million each, will display their charms for the benefit of sweet charity and the Johnnies of the Smoky City. The performance will be a benefit for the Industrial Home for Crippled Children.

Mrs. Claude Griffey, a bride of a few weeks and until recently the soprano of the super-fashionable First Presbyterian church, will sing the principal role. Her husband is a Denver man and shortly before his marriage to the beautiful society soprano, was divorced from his first wife.
