TO ATTACK MONOPOLY.

Anti-Harriman Convention to be held at Coos Bay.

PORTLAND, Or., June 14.—Organized effort will be made within the next few weeks to attack and overthrow the Harriman tyranny in Oregon. A convention for this purpose will be held at Coos Bay some time in August, and the campaign against the throttling "Wizard of Wall Street" will be conducted along altogether novel lines. Its effectiveness will depend first upon whether Harriman has influence in the next legislature, and secondly, upon the attitude of the voters of the state, for the matter will be made a subject of referendum petition, as well as legislative enactment.

The convention will represent what will be known as the "Railroad Neglected Areas of Oregon," and no delegate living nearer than 60 miles to a railway station will be entitled to a seat during the deliberations of the unique association. But even at this time the membership roll will show that all of Harney, Malheur, Coos, Curry and Tillamook counties are eligible to participation.

The Harriman bulwark will be assailed in a bill which will be drawn up by the proper committee of the convention, which will be submitted to the legislature next January. The measure will attack the present law, which has enabled Harriman to secure strangleholds on every available pass or gap through the mountains over into Central Oregon for a period of five years. A provision of the bill will probably require that no railroad shall be allowed to gain permanent control of more than one such strategic position, and then only for a limited time, within which a certain amount of actual railroad construction work must be done, as evidence of good faith. This is much after the fashion of the homestead act, which requires that the settler do a certain amount of improvement work each year.

This, of course, is only a rough outline of how the great regions of Oregon, rich in undeveloped resources, hoodwinked and toyed with by the Harriman interests for many years, expect to throw off the shackles which have checked the onward march of civilization and industrial development of one of the greatest empires in America.

Whatever he may attend the career of this important measure in the legislature, the people of Oregon will be called upon to say whether they or Harriman shall guide the fortunes of the state in the future.

Those who are behind this movement have great confidence that the voters of the state will come to the front with an overwhelming majority in favor of "trimming the Harriman claws." At the same time, a mighty effort will be made to accomplish the results desired when the legislature meets, and the support of other railroad corporations which Harriman has managed to keep from invading this treasured land of Central Oregon will probably be forthcoming. In the shape of definite propositions in the way of construction of new arteries of commerce in the new untapped regions, invitations will be sent to every commercial organization in the state to send delegates to this convention and another powerful ally is looked for in the press of the state. August has been selected, though the exact date has not been fixed, for the reason that the roads are in the best possible condition at that time and the delegates will have the least possible trouble in reaching Coos Bay then.

D. W. Yoder, of Burns, Harney county, and Walter Lyon, secretary of the Coos Bay Chamber of Commerce, are the two men who have undertaken to organize the Harriman campaign, and to crystallize effort in the manner outlined above. They are persuaded that universal support will come from those territories, some of them larger in extent than the States of Rhode Island, Delaware, Massachusetts or Connecticut, in which there isn't a foot of railroad, although every inch of those districts have from time to time been plastered with Harriman promises.

According to the plans as outlined by these men, they expect to lay before the convention figures and reports showing just what strategic points Harriman now holds, in which no development has taken place; when such rights were secured, what reports as to what other roads have promised to do; what the resources of the districts involved are, together with their possibilities.

"We believe this is the most satisfactory manner of arriving at results," said Mr. Lyon today. "We have been working on this proposition for some time, and have met with nothing but the greatest encouragement since we conceived the idea. Oregon has been too long suffering and patient in this matter, and it is time the monopoly of the one great system that has been a burden on our necks for years be broken."

The exact time of holding this convention will be decided within the course of a week or two, and a campaign of wide-spread publicity will be instituted on behalf of the movement so that universal representation may be secured when the delegates meet.

BRYAN AND HUGHES HISSED.

Suffragists, However, Cheer Taft, Johnson and Debs.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, June 15.—Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, although a mere man, received the hearty endorsement of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance at the opening meeting of that body here today. Women representing the suffragist organizations of twenty-two nations are in attendance at the convention and all cheered heartily when an American delegate announced that the demand of the fair sex for the ballot had received the endorsement of a possible presidential candidate. The speaker declared that Secretary Taft also favors equal suffrage, "when the women are ready for it," but that Bryan and Hughes are opposed to a reform. Whereupon the women assembled hissed the names of Bryan and Hughes and cast all sorts of contumely upon them. Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate, also came in for a hearty cheer when it was said that he is a friend of suffrage.

COMMENCEMENT AT DRAIN.

Splendid Program for Graduating Normal Students.

DRAIN, Or., June 14.—Today is Baccalaureate Sunday at the Central Oregon State Normal school. The weather could not have been better and it been specially ordered for the occasion, and the attendance was splendid, as is always the case on this annual event of the school, there being most of the townspeople, many from the surrounding country and some from other towns. The program was carried out to the letter and was as follows:

Instrumental Solo, by Miss Floy Johnson, of Drain. Scripture reading, by Rev. H. J. Van Fossen, of Astoria. Devotional, by Rev. J. L. Stratford, of Drain. Anthem, by Chorus Choir. Sermon, by Rev. H. J. Van Fossen. Vocal Solo, by Miss Maude Hagon, of Baker City.

The musical numbers and the sermon were well given and most excellent attention prevailed. The home of the sermon was thoughtful and careful preparation for life's duties and was based upon the life work and accomplishments of Moses of olden times. The speaker urged those of the graduating class who look up the work of a teacher to give special attention to those who needed help rather than to the apt student who probably needed but little help.

The "Baraca" Male Quartet, of Eugene, rendered one of their excellent musical programs at the school chapel on Friday evening to a good sized audience.

"The Princess" was played by students of the school at the open house on Saturday evening to an overflowing house, the rendering of which gave evidence of good training on the part of Miss Kesterday, teacher of singing at the school.

Other exercises each evening including Wednesday evening with Commencement proper.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless aid in preparing the system for baby's coming and relieving the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any stage or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress, loss down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gleaning or distressed sensation in stomach, dizziness, faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disordered pelvic catarrhal drain, profligate, anteverision or retroversion, or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they expect many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and permanent cure in using faithfully and lastly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for women's weakness and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest and live medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients pressed in plain English on its wrapper and attested under oath by Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula, knowing that it will be found to contain only the best and most known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about its composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card requesting to Dr. W. C. Knicker, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of American composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.
