

Liver Pills

Ask your doctor if he knows a better place for a diagnosis than Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.

It is impossible, simply impossible, for any one to enjoy the best of health if the bowels are constipated. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be daily removed from the body or there will be trouble, and often serious trouble, too. Ayer's Pills aid nature, that is all. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

COYOTE AND WOLF BAITS.

(Rural Northwest.)
A bulletin recently issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture says that success in trapping wolves and coyotes depends largely on the use of a scent that will attract them and keep them tramping and pawing until caught. Meat bait alone is of little use and often, indeed, scares the animals away. Of the many scents and combinations tested the fetid bait has proved the most successful. The following directions for its preparation and use are given:

Place half a pound of raw beef or venison in a wide-mouthed bottle and let it stand in a warm (but not in the sun) for five or six weeks, or until it is thoroughly decayed and the odor has become as offensive as possible. When decomposition has reached the proper stage add a quart of sperm oil or any liquid animal oil. Lard oil may be used, but prairie-dog oil is better. Then add 1 ounce of tincture of Siberian musk, or Tonicus musk. If this cannot be procured, use in its place 1 ounce of dry, pulverized castoreum (beaver castor) or 1 ounce of the common musk sold for perfumery. Mix well and bottle securely until used.

After getting the trap apply the scent with a stick or straw or by pouring from the bottle to the grass, weeds or ground on the side of the trap opposite that from which the wolf would naturally approach. Never put scent on the trap, as the first impulse of the wolf after sniffing the scent is to roll on it.

This bait is very attractive also to cattle and horses, which are sure to tramp over and paw out the traps if set where they can get at them.

Poisoning Wolves and Coyotes.

The bulletin also recommends the following method of poisoning wolves and coyotes:

No poison has yet proved so effective as pure sulphate of strychnine, provided the proper dose is used. The most effective dose is 4 grains for wolves and 2 grains for coyotes. The common 3-grain gelatin capsules sold by druggists will hold, if well filled, 4 grains of strychnine and are better than the larger capsules. The regular 2-grain capsules should be used for coyotes. The capsules should be filled, securely capped, and every trace of the intensely bitter drug wiped from the outside.

Each capsule should be inserted in a piece of beef suet the size of a walnut and the cavity securely closed to keep out the moisture. Lean meat should not be used, as the fat will dissolve the gelatin of the capsule. The necessary number of poisoned baits may be prepared and carried in a tin can or pill. They should never be handled except with gloved hands or forceps. The baits may be dropped from horseback along a scented drag line made by dragging an old bone or piece of hide well saturated with the fetid scent or they may be placed around or partly under any carcass on which the wolves or coyotes are feeding, or along trails which they are in the habit of following.

Gelatin capsules quickly dissolve in the juices of the stomach. Strychnine taken on an empty stomach sometimes kills in a very few minutes, but on a full stomach its action is much slower, and the animal may have time to travel a considerable distance.

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tissues and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight; but as the blood becomes more fully saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism can never be rubbed away, nor can it be conquered and driven from the system until the acid-laden blood has been cleaned and purified. No other medicine does this so effectively as S. S. S. It dissolves and removes the impurities and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which soothes the irritated nerves, inflamed muscles and flesh, and the sufferer obtains relief that is permanent because the real cause of the disease has been removed.
