BRYAN AND TAFT.

Reform by Legislation, or by Executive and Judicial Powers.

These two men do not differ essentially in the final analysis of their programs. They would return to competition, which socialism and the trusts would abolish. They want the struggle for survival to go on; it is to be a fair fight, but a fight, and for wealth, too, even between capital and labor. Bryan, having had more time to reflect and having lived out West, where the problems of business and politics are clearer and simpler, sees them more definitely that Roosevelt and Taft, who have been men of action always. For example, Bryan goes at the problem of poverty consciously. All his policies are directed, as he himself points out, at excessive wealth, which is, at bottom, the same as excessive poverty. And besides the remedies listed above, he advocates an inheritance tax and, more important, still, "a tax on incomes as a regular item in our fiscal system." So does Taft advocate these measures; but Bryan sees their relation to other taxes. The constitutional objection of the Supreme court Bryan meets with a proposition to amend the Constitution. Taft regards this as unnecessary. Indeed, Taft doesn't want any more legislation than is necessary to make our present laws effective. And there we have a big difference between the two men.

Bryan sees the part privileges play in our system; he sees it clearly as a case of injustice, and he would legislate and legislate and legislate till he had abolished all the artificial advantages that are granted by government.

Taft, a proved executive and a born judge, would depend upon the executive and judicial powers of the government to achieve the same end more vaguely seen. Bryan is not of the executive type, and there is reason to fear that he is no better judge of men than Roosevelt to say nothing of Taft; but seeing the end more clearly, he would not depend so much upon the men he appointed and the courts to prevent and punish evil as he would upon legislation to remove the cause. And, unlike Taft, but very much like Roosevelt, Bryan would preach and teach and—lead. "We must not only see to it that the government shall take away the prizes that make men pursue a low ideal; we must all of us as individuals strive to inculcate higher ideals in others." Taft should give us better government of things as they are; Bryan, leading us on to change things, should make us a better people.—Lincoln Steffens, in the July Everybody's.

NORTHWEST WHEAT CROP.

48,500,000 Bushels the Estimate—Washington Over Half.

PORTLAND, Or., June 24.—Within a very short time the 1908 wheat harvest in the three Pacific northwest states will start. Present indications are for a crop of 48,500,000 bushels in the three states, divided as follows:

Oregon, 12,500,000 bushels; Idaho, 7,000,000 bushels, Washington 29,000,000 bushels.

This will compare with a total of 59,000,000 bushels for 1907 and 47,521,855 bushels as indicated for 1906. It will therefore be noted that this years' wheat crop promises to be larger than that of two years ago although the record breaking production of a year ago will not be reached by at least 4,000,000 bushels.

The productions shows a decrease not because of any decrease in acreage for the three states show an actual increase this year of about 200,000 acres over 1907.

Perhaps one of the chief defects during the growing season was the cold, raw and chilly weather during late spring months.

This year the three states have an acreage of 2,546,000, as compared with 2,340,000 during the previous year. This year Oregon had 725,000 acres sowed mostly to winter wheat while the larger portion of Washington 1,447,000 and Idaho's 374,000 acres were of the spring variety. Spring wheat was principally affected because of lack of rain during the winter and spring months.

TRUE BUSINESS CAUTION.

Marshall Field, 3rd, according to a story now going the rounds, bids fair to become a very cautious business man when he grows up. Approaching an old lady in a Lakewood hotel, he said:

"Can you crack nuts?"

"No, dear," the old lady replied, "I lost all my teeth ages ago."

"Then," requested Master Field, extending two hands full of pecans, "please hold these while I go and get some more."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. [illegible] It is not so effective [illegible] hang-on coughs, or those of long standing even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. [illegible] ... its action in a relieving the dyspeptic, [illegible] stomach. It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve [illegible] heartburn and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

NEW OFFICERS GO IN SOON

With the near approach of July 1, there is heard more or less talk of the change of county officials which is to occur about that time. This more especially refers to the offices of clerk and sheriff, as County Treasurer Sawyers will succeed himself, while County School Superintendent Hamlin holds over until August but and Assessor Staley until January 1, 1909. On just what day Mr. Lenox and Mr. Fenton will assume official charge of the offices of clerk and sheriff is not yet known. Each must file their official bonds with the county court and these bonds must be approved by the court before the offices will be turned over to them. The court will meet next Wednesday, July 1st, but it will very likely be at least a couple of days later before the new clerk, sheriff and coroner will be placed in official charge. Commissioner-elect Ryan will take his seat in July, succeeding Commissioner Young, while N. T. Jewett will succeed W. B. Hammitte as coroner. Mr. Young will sit with the county court during the first three days. Deputyships in the offices of clerk and sheriff have not yet been fully decided. Roy Agee will occupy one of the positions in the clerk's office, and A. L. Ryan, likewise, one of the deputyships in the sheriff's office. The other deputies are yet to be named, and for each place there are on file several first-class applications.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure." Red Cross Pharmacy.

AUTO SCARES THEIR HORSES.

Mrs. C. A. Sehlbrede and Miss Kinney Hurt in Runaway.

Marshfield, (Or.) Times, June 27: Mrs. C. A. Sehlbrede and Miss Kinney, daughter of Major L. D. Kinney, were injured in a runaway on the Kittyville road, near Supt. Golden's home this morning, in a runaway caused by an automobile. It is not believed that either of the women were seriously hurt, although both are suffering severely from the shock and bruises sustained by being thrown from the rig. Their carriage was destroyed and the team ran wild into the city, where they were caught.

Miss Kinney was driving, having her own rig. The team was quite spirited, and when an automobile, running at a high speed, met them on a sharp curve, they became unmanageable. They turned quickly, upsetting the carriage and throwing the occupants out.

Aid soon reached the women and arranged for Mrs. Sehlbrede's removal to the home of her son-in-law, F. K. Gettins, in Marshfield and Miss Kinney to the home of her father at Plat B.

The identity of the drivers of the automobile are not known to the victims. This afternoon, the advisability of prosecuting them for scorching was being discussed. It is said that several witnessed the accident from a comparatively short distance and all agree that it was due to the carelessness of the automobile driver.

Stimulation without Irritation.

In case of stomach and liver trouble the proper treatment is to stimulate these organs without irritating them. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels without irritating these organs like pills or ordinary cathartics. It does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take.

Lincoln Thrush and Wm. M. Porter were among the Camas Valley people in town today.
