S.S.S. FOR BAD BLOOD

When bad blood is caused from an infection of the circulation by the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, it usually shows in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots on the body, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. These general symptoms, affecting all parts of the body, show how deeply poisoned the blood becomes, and emphasizes the dangerous character of the trouble. If allowed to remain in the system the disease will finally wreck the health and break down the strongest constitution. No medicine can cure Contagious Blood Poison which does not rid the circulation of every particle of the virus. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure; it goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, and by removing every trace of the poison, and adding rich, healthful qualities to the blood, forever cures this powerful disorder. S. S. S. is the most reliable of all blood purifiers, and its concentrated ingredients of healthful vegetable extracts and juices especially adapt it to curing this insidious trouble. Write for our home treatment book, which is a valuable aid in the treatment of the different stages of the disease, and ask for any special medical advice you wish. No charge for either.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

REPRESENTS THE BOSSES.

Sherman, Vice Presidential Candidate, so Characterized.
(By Lloyd F. Loneragan.)
NEW YORK, June 25.—What particular strength has been added to the Republican national ticket by the selection of James S. Sherman as Tatt's running mate? This is a question not satisfactorily answered up to date. The machine men are perfectly satisfied, of course, but the rank and file of the party are disposed to look upon the choice with doubt. Sherman has been in congress for 20 years, with the exception of one term, but to Republicans in this end of the state he is merely a name. Year after year he has been nominated in a district that is overwhelmingly Republican, but never has he startled anybody by a record-breaking record. For example, in 1904 when he last appealed for votes in Herkimer and Oneida counties (which comprise his congressional district), he ran 800 behind Charles Evans Hughes, and in that particular territory Hearst was regarded as exceptionally strong, as for example, in the city of Utica.

As to the average common or garden variety of voter, Sherman is not half as well known by name as Senator E. Payne, the chairman of the ways and means committee; George R. Malby, who was speaker of the assembly and state senator; J. Sloan Fassett, or John W. Dwight, all active figures in state, and all in congress.

Sherman Little Known.
Any man you meet who takes an interest in politics will tell you that Peter A. Porter, "running under the emblem of a cow," defeated the veteran James W. Wadsworth. They may show a lively interest in this incident, either for or against the cow, but you will not be able to arouse any enthusiasm over Sherman. The reason is that they do not know where he comes from or who he is. The congressmen mentioned above are men who are leaders in their various sections. Sherman's strength is due to the boss of his home county. So far as dictating the policies of Utica county goes Sherman stands in the same position as did Bourke Cochran toward Tammany Hall, and Murphy has just kicked the Honorable Bourke out of the organization.

WHICH CASE OUTLINED.

Attorney for defense says Kribs is trying to save himself.
Portland, Ore., June 25.—The P. A. Kribs wanted information when claims were held for cancellation by the government and was willing to pay for the information, was the most sensational item brought out on the direct examination of J. T. Bridges, ex-registrar of the Roseburg land office, in the trial of James Henry Booth. This proposition was made to Bridges and took by Kribs. Kribs offered recompense for the information at the rate of $25 a section.

"We agreed to the proposition," testified Bridges.
"Did Booth?"
"Well, he didn't object," answered the witness. This was all that was asked of Bridges by the Prosecution, but later, toward the close of the cross-examination, this matter will be gone into minutely by the defense. There are several other subjects which the defense will ask Bridges to clarify.

The Portland Oregonian, which arrived here this morning says:
That the check for $800 paid to James Henry Booth by Frederick A. Kribs, a Portland timberland broker, was in payment of an option on a valuable tract of Southern Oregon timberland, will be the defense of the ex-Receiver of the Roseburg land office, who is on trial in the Federal court on a charge of bribery. This was the statement of Dan J. Malarkey, of counsel for Booth, in his opening address to the jury yesterday. Mr. Malarkey further charged that Kribs was guilty of numerous violations of the land laws, and declared that Kribs was purchasing his own immunity from prosecution by becoming a witness for the government in the prosecution of the case against Booth.

Aside from the opening addresses to the jury, which occupied the morning session and a part of the afternoon, very little progress was made yesterday. J. T. Bridges, who was registrar of the Roseburg land office from July 1, 1898, to January 9, 1905, during the same time that the defendant Booth was receiver of the same office, was the first witness for the government. His preliminary examination by Judge Becker, for the prosecution, had not been completed when the court adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning. Judging from the progress that is being made it is not at all certain that the case can be concluded and submitted to the jury before the end of next week. Considerable documentary evidence was introduced during the afternoon and the probability is that there will be as many exhibits in the case as in the case of Booth.

Explains Charge to Jury.
On the opening of the morning session yesterday United States Attorney McCurt outlined the government's case to the jury in an address of 20 minutes. He first interpreted to the members of the jury the provisions of the general land laws as applied to the acquisition of indemnity school lands and then said that the government would show that the information which was necessary to enable Frederick A. Kribs to file on certain lands in the Roseburg land district during the spring and summer of 1903, prior to all other persons, was furnished Kribs in advance by the defendant, Booth. The prosecution, he said, would further be able to prove that the check for $800 that was given Booth by Kribs was executed and delivered to the ex-Receiver as compensation for his valuable services to Kribs.

As a result of the alleged irregularities in the Roseburg land office, the district attorney declared that Booth and Bridges, receiver and registrar, respectively, were suspended and removed from office about a year following the Kribs-Booth incident. In concluding, Mr. McCurt said that the defense probably would attempt to show that the $800 check was in payment of an option on a tract of timberland. However, he said, the government would present evidence to prove that the check included not only the consideration for an option but compensation for Booth's services in furnishing the advance information as well.

Malarkey Scores Kribs.
Mr. Malarkey followed Mr. McCurt and said that he would show that Kribs was a man who was willing to do anything to get his hands on the land. He said that Kribs was a man who was willing to do anything to get his hands on the land. He said that Kribs was a man who was willing to do anything to get his hands on the land.

GRIFITH HAS 3 ARRESTS.

Local Residents Accused in Land Transactions.
County United States Marshal V. B. Griffith, of Portland, who has been in Roseburg at different times during the past two weeks, this morning made three of the expected arrests, pursuant to indictments by the Federal grand jury at Portland last Saturday, June 20. The three persons arrested are James Kribs, a local butcher, his son, Jobe Gilpin, who resides at Bohlsburg, and L. S. Ripley, a well known land locator and mining prospector, who makes his headquarters in this city. Kohlhaagen and Gilpin is accused of making a false affidavit.

Bench warrants for the three men were issued out of the Federal court in Portland two days after the indictments were returned. In each case the amount of bonds was fixed at $1000. These will be furnished by the three defendants upon arraignment this evening before United States Commissioner W. W. Collins, of Eugene who will arrive here on the 5-30 train.

Marshal Griffith admitted today that he has warrants of arrest for other persons in land cases, but he declined to make known the names of the parties wanted or where they reside. He expects, however, to serve the warrants in a day or two. On Thursday at Medford, Griffith arrested Albert L. Cusick, of that city on a Federal warrant charging him with land perjury, and two days previously also served a warrant there upon a man named Hazelwood, accused of the same offense.

All these arrests grow out of the rush for tracts of Jackson and Josephine county lands at the United States land office in this city last April. At that time some twenty persons, most of them local people, filed entries on different sections thought to be available. It developed, however, that practically every valuable claim filed on had either a mineral or a squatter contestant and the result was that charges of perjury were laid before the Federal attorney at Portland. The alleged perjury was alleged to exist in the parties making entry swearing that the land was either unimproved or not chiefly valuable for its mineral or other uses, while as to other claims it was contended that prior rights had long been established by squatters, who had built their cabins thereon.

The defense of the three local people arrested today is practically analogous to the following case cited in the Portland Oregonian received in Roseburg this morning:
Indicted by the recent Federal grand jury on a charge of perjury, Frank H. Roberts, of Salem, appeared in the United States court yesterday and furnished $1000 bonds for his appearance in court when his case is called. Roberts is charged with having perjured himself by swearing falsely in a timber and stone land application for land in Josephine county that recently was thrown open to entry.

Several months ago a large tract of public land in Josephine county was thrown open to settlement. Under the general land laws, settlers who had located on the lands and made improvements in good faith were allowed 90 days in which to make filings on the particular tracts on which they had lived and made improvements. But before the original settlers could formally file on the land, several outsiders made prior filings. In order for them to do so it was necessary for each applicant to make affidavit that the land applied for was not occupied and had not been improved.

This is the plan alleged to have been adopted by Roberts and by the same method a large number of the original settlers on these lands were about to be defrauded of their rights. There were numerous complaints of the kind and several were brought to the attention of United States Attorney McCurt, who immediately presented the facts before the Federal grand jury which returned several indictments against the parties. Roberts is the first of probably half a dozen men indicted, who are reported to be the most and fiercest of the original settlers. He was retained the services of James Cole, ex-United States attorney, to defend him.

Mr. Roberts said yesterday that if he had known that his name was on the list of those who were to be indicted, he would have been able to get out of the country before the grand jury could get to work on the case. He said that he was a man who was willing to do anything to get his hands on the land. He said that he was a man who was willing to do anything to get his hands on the land.

Land sale. Can be had of any land which is subject to taxation. It is fully guaranteed. For price, address L. W. HUBBELL, Springfield, Missouri.

At a special election held at Glendale last Monday the city tax levy was increased from 15 to 10 mills. The vote was 18 to 13. In addition, the council of the city will have an occupation tax. These measures are necessitated, it is said, by the voting out of business of 1000 automobiles, which paid the city $200,000 annually.

Rev. and Mrs. D. W. Swartz, of this city, sailed from New York on the steamer Arctic, Thursday, to visit Rev. Sumner's birthplace at Portadown, Ireland. They will make a general tour of the British Isles, also of England and Scotland, and then journey to France. They expect to be absent three months.
