NEW BOOKLETS RECEIVED.
Call or Write the Commercial Club—Send Copies East.

A supply of the long-looked-for Roseburg booklets were received this morning by "Booster" Zacher, of the Commercial Club. It is a finely illustrated book of 64 pages, showing many attractive scenes in Douglas county. Orchards and timber are properly given due prominence, but livestock and other industries are not overlooked. Scenic beauties are portrayed as well as the splendid rewards of the huntsman and the angler. Several Roseburg views are included, some of which portray the magnificent luxuriance of Roseburg's roses. A detailed review of this book would include a resume of the unparalleled advantages and resources of Douglas county—a county whose wonderful possibilities are just beginning to be realized by our own people, as well as those from abroad. Get one of these booklets and read it—then send it to some friend in the east. Don't make a center-table ornament of it, but put it to work, that is what they are printed for. While the cover design is a misfit and belongs to Wyoming or Arizona rather than to Western Oregon, the contents of the book are bound to enthrall the reader and should induce many an easterner—who is alternately chilled and parched—to come to Douglas county, where the all-the-year-round conditions are as near the ideal as were ever formed by the hand of Nature.

MOVES TO DISMISS Booth's Attorney Argues Kribs' Testimony Can't Convict

STATEMENTS CONTRADICT Orchard's Neck Saved by Idaho Board of Pardons—Lindstrom Case an Accident

Special to the Evening Review. PORTLAND, Or., July 1.—Judge L. R. Webster, representing J. H. Booth, charged with accepting a bribe from F. A. Kribs, today presented a motion to dismiss the case against his client on the grounds that Kribs' testimony was wholly insufficient, that Kribs contradicted himself, telling one story under direct examination and another under cross examination. Webster argued that Kribs' testimony, upon which the government relied, could not convict Booth. Arguments are in progress this afternoon.

Orchard Allowed to Live. BOISE, Ida., July 1.—The board of pardons today commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death imposed upon Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murderer of ex-Governor Steunenberg, in return for testimony given by Orchard against Haywood and Meyer, officers of the Western Federation of Miners.

"Accidental" the Verdict. SALEM, Or., July 1.—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of "accidental" death in the case of John Lindstrom, the Aberdeen millionaire, who was killed by a fall from a four-story window of the Willamette Hotel in this city Monday night.

NEW LAND OFFICE SYSTEM. Antiquated Order of Things Superseded by Modern Methods.

A dispatch from Washington, D. C., says: The antiquated methods of keeping records relating to public lands, many of which have been in vogue since the general land office was first organized nearly 140 years ago, are to be superseded by the most approved modern business system. When the changes go into effect the district land offices and the general land office in Washington will be able to identify any application or entry more readily than under the old system. All persons tendering money to the receivers at the land office will in the future be given a receipt for such money. Each district land office is to be furnished with modern office supplies.

Public Not Affected. Regarding the above paragraph, Mr. J. M. Lawrence, receiver of the United States land office in Roseburg, stated today that the new system does not affect the public in any way. The present blank forms for the use of persons unking entry and for making final proof are not to be discontinued, neither will there be any change in the method of hearing contests. There is quite a shake-up, however, in the record system of the office. The present book system of indexing is to be displaced by a card arrangement, a letter copying instrument is to be installed and a more convenient system of filing will accompany it. A new series of numbers for filings will be started and there will be one form of receipt for money paid on all classes of applications. Heretofore, each different kind of application accompanied by the necessary amount of money required a separate kind of receipt and in duplicate at that, one for the applicant and the other for transmission to the general land office. Under the new order of things, each receipt issued to an applicant for land will be first copied under a letter press and at the end of each month these copies will be forwarded with the regular report to Washington. The receipt forms are numbered in consecutive order when sent out by the general land office, so that each one must be accounted for.

Mr. W. J. McGee, a special land office clerk, has been detailed here to assist in the work of establishing the new system.

MARKET DAY JULY 11. First Big Event of This Nature to be Held Here.

So far fifteen of Roseburg's business houses have subscribed to the fund for the big market day to be held in this city, Saturday, July 11, under the direction of Max Zimmerman, who has been engaged in such work successfully for the past 15 years. The event promises to be all that Mr. Zimmerman claims for it—an attraction equal to a circus in the matter of bringing people to the city and one of the best paying investments the business men of the city ever made. The local business men who have so far subscribed to the fund are as follows: Josephson's, Roeten, Greenbaum Co., J. F. Barker, Max Weiss, B. R. Westbrook, Harness & Johnson, I. Abraham, Delmar Dixon, W. L. Moore, G. L. Flint, E. Rhoads, A. S. Buell, J. Falbe, Z. N. Agee and the Rochdale Co.

Mr. Zimmerman is still making a canvass of the business houses and expects to increase his subscription list before the Big Day rolls around. He should have little trouble convincing those whom he approaches that he has a proposition that will bring results if the following article in the Eugene Register is used as an argument: Some skeptical people of Eugene rather questioned whether the Market Day, postponed as it was, would bring much of a crowd into the city yesterday. In fact, it was a matter of some speculation to all, but they now believe absolutely in its efficacy for drawing a crowd into town.

By 2 o'clock in the morning teams came rolling into the livery stables, and in a half hour they were all filled to overflowing an farmers unhitched their rigs and they were strung along on many of the streets close in to the business part of town.

The sidewalks were quickly filled with people, for the farmers brought their families with them to enjoy the day.

There was no attempt on the part of the people to furnish anything in the line of amusements outside of the everyday attractions.

Max Zimmerman, the promoter of the day, had entire charge, and while he did not have anything astounding or marvelous for the people he did remarkably well and we believe that the merchants as well as the farmers will say that it is a good thing to get together once in a while.

The Eugene military band got out early in the forenoon and played several stirring selections at different places in the business part of town, which was greatly appreciated.

The Parade. Shortly after 1 o'clock, according to program, the procession formed on Fifth street near the Gross Hotel. It was headed by Mayor Matlock and Mr. Colgate with the boosters' team, which is one of the handsomest ever seen in Eugene, and after it came the band playing martial music, next came a band with the bride and groom-to-be and Justices Bryson and Wintermeier, the latter one of the most noted adjusters of matrimonial never-slip knots the country has ever produced, as the divorce court records will show, and following in a long line were carriages and vehicles of all kinds, with some as pretty driving horses and outfits as can be seen anywhere. There were handsome breeding horses of all classes and a large number of finely bred Jersey cattle. In fact, it was a very creditable parade.

The Weddings. What there is in a wedding that will draw so big a crowd is hard to imagine, but this certainly was the drawing card of the whole day. It was a wedding of the whole day, and one were to judge by the rush made by the people to the East park and the rubbering that was indulged in after they got there.

The parties married were F. C. Dunn to Miss Ella Love, of this city, the bride having recently moved here from California. The other couple were Albert J. Friday, of Forest Grove, and Miss Ellen M. Lewis, a school teacher, who registers from Eugene, but who has been teaching in Coos county. The latter couple are both well-to-do and are reported to own adjoining farms near Forest Grove.

The Auction. A large crowd of farmers and horse-lovers gathered at the Guilford station on West Eighth street at 3:30 and the auction sale of stock commenced. Max Zimmerman proved an excellent auctioneer, and a large number of horses were sold.

The fine big black Belgian horse brought here from North Dakota by J. S. Moore several months ago, was sold to J. S. Flint, of Junction, for $150. It is regarded as one of the greatest bargains anybody ever got in Eugene.

All in all, the Market Day in Eugene was a great success, and there may be many others.

DOCTOR GETS NEW TRIAL. Supreme Court Holds Dying Statement Subject to Impeachment.

SALEM, Or., June 30.—Holding that the dying declarations of a woman upon whom a criminal operation had been performed were not originally admissible, on the ground that her death was not an essential element in the offense, which was complete without it, but that when her demise as a result of an operation by another person is made by statute an indispensable constituent of the crime as charged, her dying declarations are receivable in evidence, the Supreme Court in an opinion by Justice Moore reversed and remanded the case of the state, respondent vs. Dr. Roy Fuller, appellant, from Baker county. Fuller was jointly indicted with two other persons for manslaughter as the result of the death of Mrs. Abbie Gover, in Baker county, in 1906. The court holds that Mrs. Gover's dying declarations were subject to impeachment, and the cause is remanded for a new trial.

POSSIBLE PARDON ANGERS HARRY ORCHARD.

BOISE, Ida., June 29.—Harry Orchard, sentenced to hang next Friday for the assassination of former Governor Steunenberg, was greatly disappointed today when he was informed that Governor Gooding had delayed his execution so that he is on board could consider the question of clemency. As the board meets Friday, attorneys representing Orchard pleaded with the governor to order the hanging delayed long enough to act. Orchard said today that he had his mind set in being hanged Friday and he does not want to be disappointed. He hopes the board refuses to act.

During the last few months the Southern Pacific has permitted tramps to travel without molestation on their trains. While no general order has been given by the management, the sign of free rides has been passed along by trainmen, until many who are able to take a short cut prefer the cheaper route. It is estimated that the tramp traffic through Eugene, averages two or five a day or six or seven hundred a month. The "underneath" route is the most dangerous in the world to the knowledge of the railroad business. More men are killed beating their way than in all other kinds of railroad accidents. During the year of 1906 nearly 2500 tramps were killed, though no means was at hand to learn all accidents. Slightly over 2500 tramps were maimed for life, though there undoubtedly were innumerable accidents that were not reported.—GARD.

PROHIBITION IN FORCE.

Last Hours of Roseburg Saloons Accompanied by Little Disorder.

A number of cases of drunkenness, considerable hilarity and explosion of fireworks ushered in the era of prohibition in Roseburg last night. There was no serious disorder, however, only four arrests being made. One of these escaped from the officer, another was subsequently set at liberty, while the other two were fined $5 each.

For several days past saloonmen offered their stocks of wet goods at a discount, and scores of persons took advantage of the opportunity to purchase generously for future needs. Those who had no place to store such goods, however, and despaired of getting any liquor for a long time to come, had to content themselves with a bounteous jag on the last day of the saloons' existence. One patron informed all those whom he found roaming the streets that they had to disappear before daylight, and all obeyed save three of those whom he arrested.

Some pessimistic persons, evidently believing that the town is going to fall into a state of neglect and ruin, strew grass seed along Jackson and Cass streets, while others, probably mindful of a future want, (?) placed a box of beer in the doorway of a business house occupied by a well known prohibition leader.

A few of the saloon men have converted their places of business into cigar and soft drink stands and will handle "near" beer, which is now being manufactured by the Roseburg Brewery. Three places vacated by saloonmen are to be occupied at once by other parties, and other buildings that formerly housed fire-water are not expected to remain idle long, especially with the advent of street paving, that is bound to create a demand for business locations.

DELAYED UNTIL FALL.

Townsend Explains Procedure in R. R. Land Grant Suit.

PORTLAND, Or., July 1.—Suit by the government for possession of the lands embraced in the Oregon & California railroad land grant probably will not be instituted before next fall. This was the information given out by H. D. Townsend, special assistant to United States Attorney General Bonaparte, who arrived in Portland yesterday, preparatory to filing the proposed litigation. Mr. Townsend has been delegated by the attorney-general, with the assistance of Judge Tracy C. Becker, who is now conducting the land-trust trials, to represent the interests of the government in this important suit.

"Bills in equity will be prepared immediately in the suit that will be brought against the railroad company," said Mr. Townsend yesterday, in discussing the subject. "When this has been done, the papers will be forwarded to Washington to be approved and signed by the attorney-general. The papers will then be returned to Portland when the suit will be instituted in United States Court."

Mr. Townsend declines to discuss the character of the suit that will be filed by the government against the railroad company. He would not say whether an effort would be made to secure possession of these lands or to require the railroad company to dispose of the lands under the conditions imposed in the grant by which the property was acquired. This information will not be made public until the suit is filed.

RULES AGAINST DUNNE.

Supreme Court Takes Matter of Bail for Ruef in Own Hands.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The district court of appeals this afternoon referred to Superior Judge James M. Seawell the matter of passing upon the sureties on bonds offered by Abe Ruef in his effort to secure his release on bail of $750,000.

By the decision in the habeas corpus proceedings the court took the matter of bail out of the hands of Judge Dunne, before whom it was pending. The court questions the ruling of Judge Dunne in refusing to accept the sureties who could not qualify with San Francisco real estate and also the decision that relatives of Ruef, particularly his father and sister, could not qualify. It is ordered that the matter be referred to Judge Seawell to hear testimony as to the qualifications of sureties; to approve the bonds, if sufficient sureties are produced; and that upon sufficient sureties being produced and the bonds being approved in the amounts fixed, Ruef be discharged from custody.

The decision holds it is the duty of a judge to follow the law in the matter of sureties, regardless of his personal opinions; that relatives may act as sureties and that ownership of real estate is not the sole qualification for a bondsman, other security being acceptable.
