BRYAN NOMINATED.

was an honest lawyer before he entered politics. He was honest in his political methods before his statesmanship was recognized by the nation; and he has been honest throughout his political career.

His convictions have been his political creed. He has impressed those convictions upon others, not by dictation, but by arguments addressed to the judgment and the conscience.

Believing in the ultimate triumph of the right, he has never examined questions from the standpoint of expediency. He has never inquired whether a political principle was popular; it has been sufficient for him to believe that it was right.

He has been a constant champion of the reserved rights of the states. He favored the election of senators by direct vote before the House of Representatives ever acted favorably upon the subject. He championed tariff reform when the West was the hot-bed of protection.

He favored an income tax before the income tax law was written. He attacked the trusts when Republican leaders were denying that trusts existed. He advocated railroad regulation before the crusade against rebates and discrimination began.

He has always been a friend of labor, and was among the first to urge conciliation between capital and labor. He began to oppose government by injunction more than a decade ago. He announced his opposition to imperialism before any other man of prominence had expressed himself on the subject, and without waiting to see whether it would be popular.

When a Wall Street panic burst upon us a few months ago, he promptly proposed as a remedy the guarantee of bank deposits and so popular has this plan become that it is today a national issue and supported by the masses of the people. He has long advocated legislation which will secure publicity as to campaign contributions.

He believes in peace—in universal Christian peace. He believes the destiny of nations should be determined, not by wars, but by applying the principles of justice and humanity.

Though these principles have met with uncompromising opposition from the special interests, he has remained true to the cause of the people. With clear vision and with unflinching trust, seeing and knowing the truth, he has never lost faith in its final victory.

Through years of unparalleled political warfare, his loyalty to his ideals and to his fellow men has been abundantly shown. His refusal to surrender his convictions, though subjected to abuses, denunciations and vindictive opposition such as few public men in all history have been compelled to withstand, is ample proof of his superb courage.

His career proves that successful leadership is determined by the success or failure of great principles rather than by election to high office.

We have met to plan the campaign and to commission the commander under whom the masses will enlist. We are not here in response to the voice of expediency, neither political bosses nor corporate masters sent us here. We are here at the summons of the rank and file of that political organization which is the special defender of the rights of the common people.

The voters have spoken, and we assemble to give expression of their will. Their voice for the third time calls Nebraska's favorite son to be the standard bearer of his party in this gigantic contest.

Since time began no grander tribute was ever paid to any man by a free people. He is recognized today as the most representative citizen of the nation, the peer of any living man.

Friends and foes have learned that he was shaped in that heroic mold in which the world's great patriots, statesmen and leaders have been cast.

First nominated when ten years younger than any other presidential candidate ever chosen by a prominent party; living in a state five hundred miles farther west than that in which any president has ever lived; he has grown in the affections of the people as the years have passed.

Speaking and writing freely on all subjects, his heart has had no secrets and his friends have increased in numbers and in confidence.

Without an organization to urge his claims, without a campaign fund to circulate literature in his behalf, without patronage to bribe a single voter, without a predatory corporation to coerce its employees into his support; without a subsidized newspaper to influence the public mind, he has won a signal victory at the primaries and has become the free choice of the militant democracy of the nation.

Forming in one unbroken phalanx extending from Massachusetts to California, and from Michigan to the Everglades, the zealous of the party have volunteered their services to make him the party candidate; and they will not lay down their arms until they have made him the nation's chief executive.

Nebraska's democracy, which saw in him, when a young man, the signs of promise, places in nomination as the standard bearer of our party the man who in the thrilling days of '96 and 1900 bore the battle-scarred banner of democracy with fame as unsullied and fidelity as spotless as the crusaders of old. Nebraska presents his name because Nebraska claims his dwelling place, and proudly enrolls him among her citizens; but his home is in the hearts of the people.

I obey the command of my state and the mandate of the democracy of the nation when I offer the name of America's great Commander, Nebraska's gifted son, William Jennings Bryan.

MAY BE BROCKWAY VISITOR.

Judge Wonacott Receives Letter of Inquiry from Doctors.

County Judge Wonacott has received a letter that may establish the identity of the unknown man seen roaming in the vicinity of Looking Glass and Brockway, a few days ago, clad only in the "altogether." The letter is from the Mountain View Sanatorium, of Sellwood, a suburb of Portland, of which Doctors W. T. Williamson and W. D. McNary are proprietors. It reads as follows:

"A young man, Edo Nodie, who was placed here in our charge for treatment and whose home is at Payette, Idaho, left Mountain View Sanatorium abruptly and we have been unable to find any trace of him since.

"His parents are anxious concerning him as he has not returned home and we thought it possible that on account of his eccentric deportment at times, he might be brought before you under arrest for examination, and in such event, we would be pleased to have you let us know and we will bear the expense of retaining care of him.

"He is about twenty-three years of age, about five feet ten or eleven inches in height, slender, blue eyes and brown hair, is of German extraction and awkward in appearance and slow and hesitating in speech.

A diligent search for the nude visitor has been made by residents of Looking Glass, but without result. According to reports, the man was clad only in his socks. The balance of his wearing apparel and a roll of blankets were found in the road near Brockway. Quite likely the man is the person referred to in the letter of inquiry to Judge Wonacott. Running around the country in a nude fashion probably constitutes the "eccentric deportment" of which the letter speaks.

Over Thirty-five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

S.S.S. CURES MALARIA

Malaria is due to impurities in the blood which destroy the rich, healthful qualities of the circulation, and reduce it to a weak, watery fluid. The body is then deprived of its necessary nourishment and strength, and is unable to resist the countless disorders that assail it, and the general system suffers in consequence. The appetite fails, digestion is weakened, chills and slight fever are frequent, while the sufferer loses energy and ambition. Boils, skin eruptions, and some times sores and ulcers follow when the blood becomes deeply polluted with the malarial germs. Both a tonic and blood purifier are needed to cure Malaria, and S. S. S. is best fitted for this work. It is the most perfect of all blood purifiers and at the same time an invigorating, healthful tonic. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation, and removes every trace of impurity or poison, and gives to the blood the health-sustaining qualities it needs. It cures Malaria thoroughly and permanently because it removes from the blood the germs and poisons which produce the disease, and while doing this tones up and strengthens every part of the system. Book with information about Malaria and any medical advice furnished free to all who write.
