Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit.

Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting the abundant nourishment of their infants. It is a most reliable and safe system for baby's coming and nursing the mother comparatively painless. It can be had in any drug store or by mail from the manufacturer, Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down distress, low-down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressing sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrhal discharges, profluous, sensitive or retro-version or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by being faithfully and fairly persistently using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure vegetable extract of the choicest herbs, a singularly rich and invigorating tonic in its make-up. All its ingredients are plain English words in its bottle-printer and affixed under each. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine of its kind that is so simple and so safe. It is the only medicine that is so simple and so safe. It is the only medicine that is so simple and so safe.

CAUSE OF BAD ROADS.

Businesslike Methods Not Used in Highway Construction.

THE RIGHT SYSTEM LACKING.

Road Bosses Should Be Removed From Politics and Made to Pass an Examination Showing Their Efficiency. Change Needed in Road Laws.

A back number—the bad country road is a back number. It is as much out of place and date as the grain cradle or flail thrasher. They had bad roads away back in grandfather's time—ever since people began to travel, to haul stuff in modern narrow tread wagons. They had good roads away back in Caesar's time in the old world. What progress have we made in road building? Very little. Over three-fourths of all the miles of country roads in the midwest are still unimproved, says the Agricultural South-west. In most states 90 per cent would be more nearly correct. Of course every bit of road gets its annual tearing up by the road officials, who draw a salary for calling it road "improvement."

Why is it thus? There's a reason why country roads are bad. Can't lay it to the weather or the road material either. As one farmer says, "I have seen in twenty-three years hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' money expended on the roads in town and country; but, after all, our roads are still as bad as ever." As bad as ever! What a comment to make upon the appearance of country homes had it been said that the farms had not been improved in twenty-three years! But, no; the farms have improved, the towns have grown, and business places are better than they were twenty-three years ago, but the country roads are "as bad as ever" after spending fortunes upon them.

The reason is this—road building is not done in the same businesslike manner as other things are managed. We have seen the creamery come into existence. We have seen the skilled buttermaker turning out carloads of butter finer than that made by the farmers before the creameries took the job off their hands. Science and business methods have made the change in buttermaking. But the roads are "as bad as ever" because it is a farmer's job, to be done when it suits his convenience. It is done by men who have never studied the science of road building. It is done in a hit and miss method devoid of business principles. This is why hundreds of thousands of the taxpayers' money have failed to make the roads any better. And again we say it is not because of bad weather or poor road building material. The buttermaker takes bad cream and makes pretty good butter from it because he knows how. Of course he could do better with good cream. Likewise the skilled road builder can make good roads out of just plain country dirt because he knows how. Of course he could do better with crushed rock and all of that. It is not a scarcity of money or of material, but a lack of the right system, that is responsible for bad roads.

Dollar for dollar—what we want to see is a dollar's worth of good roads for a dollar spent in road tax. And why not have it? Isn't it about time to quit pouring money into a mud hole? Most roads could have been nicely paved with the dollars they have cost since first laid out. Where is that money gone? Don't cry "graft." Of course there has been too much graft—ah, politics; there's the rub—but there has been no political graft to speak of in connection with country roads. The trouble is the system is and has been wrong. Road building is for the public good, just as mail carrying is. The mail carriers are under civil service, out of politics entirely. They are paid for knowing their business. They must give a dollar's worth of service for a dollar in pay. Why not handle the road problem that way? Remove the road boss from politics and make him pass an examination showing his efficiency. Keep him just as long as he does his work well. Then you will see good dirt roads wherever there is nothing better. Enough money will soon be saved in road tax to mend almost every mile of the main traveled country roads.

A farmer would be foolish to go ahead with a large job of thing with out having the whole thing mapped out and levels established by some one capable of doing it. Then he would be equally foolish should he not study the capacity of the needed to drain the area intended. It is good business sense for him to hire a competent surveyor or ditcher. Just one file put in wrong will ruin the whole plan of drainage. But that same farmer will pay money every year in road tax and let men who know nothing about road building squander the money. It is time this foolishness was stopped.

It will be stopped when the farmers who pay the money and who use the roads get together and demand a change of system, demand that it be eliminated from politics. Demand that the road laws be changed from out quiet farms to suit the needs of a progressive age of business sense.

Good Road Requisites. D. Wild King, the original road drug man, says there are three requisites for a good road. It must be even, hard and smooth, because all three of these conditions are necessary to secure drainage. Without drainage the best road soon goes to pieces.
