JUDGE CAPLES DEAD.

Oregon's Most Widely Known Lawyer and Campaigner.

PORTLAND, Or., July 17.—Judge John F. Caples died at his home in this city last night of paralysis. He was 76 years of age.

By the death of Judge Caples the Oregon bar loses one of its most distinguished members. During his prime he possessed a power of jury pleading which has seldom been equalled.

Judge Caples was born in Ashland county, Ohio, January 12, 1832.

He early took an interest in public affairs, was a delegate to the Ohio state republican convention in 1856, and attended the Chicago convention which nominated Abraham Lincoln for the presidency.

In 1872 he was elected to the state legislature from Multnomah county, and served as chairman of the judiciary committee.

Judge Caples was elected district attorney in 1878, a responsibility which he maintained for six successive years, his territory comprising Multnomah, Washington, Clackamas, Columbia and Clatsop counties.

In 1896 Judge Caples served in a similar capacity for President McKinley, by who he was appointed in 1897 as the government's diplomatic representative at Valparaiso, Chile, a peculiarly delicate responsibility owing to the complications resulting from the Spanish war. He solution of which brought into play the unusual diplomacy and tact which were characteristic of his entire career.

Fraternally he was associated with Portland lodge, No. 55, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons; the Consistory, and the Thirty-second Degree of Scottish Rite, as well as Evening Star Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, and the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

For forty-two years he was a member of the historic Taylor Street Methodist Episcopal church, which he served for many years as Sunday school superintendent, and of which he has been an active trustee in the greater part of his residence in Portland. In 1896 he represented the Oregon Methodist conference at the quadrennial general conference of this church, held in Cleveland, Ohio.

JURY IS COMPLETE

Testimony in Booth-Singleton Case Begins Monday

GOVT. TO TAKE FOUR DAYS

Juror Who Served in Previous Land Case Qualifies on Ruling of Wolvorton

Special to the Evening Review. PORTLAND, Or., July 18.—With completion today of the jury every thing is in readiness for the introduction of testimony in the Booth-Singleton trial next Monday.

The last four jurors accepted by both sides are A. B. Gibson, farmer, of Polk county; James M. McKinnan, a salesman, of Portland; George Hart, farmer, of Yamhill county, and S. A. Bain, a farmer, of Benton county.

It is estimated that the trial will occupy all of next week. The government is counting on taking four days for its testimony alone.

Friday's Proceedings. Portland Oregonian: Only five additional jurors, making a total of eight, were secured in the Booth conspiracy case yesterday, leaving four to be selected. Those accepted yesterday were: Frank H. Wall, furniture salesman, Portland; J. H. Mulkey, farmer, Moonmouth, Polk county; H. T. Buxton, farmer, Forest Grove, Washington county; Robert E. Davis, retired druggist, Portland; George Randall, retired farmer, Oregon City, Clackamas county.

Buxton was accepted by both sides only after Judge Wolvorton overruled a challenge interposed by the defense, based on the fact that he had served as a juror within the last two years. It was brought out in the examination of Buxton that he served as a member of the jury that convicted Charles A. Watson on a charge of perjury in the federal court in this city in August, 1908.

A. G. Woodcock, of counsel for the defense, cited the federal statute of 1870, in which it was provided that a taxpayer could not be summoned for jury service in the circuit or district court twice within a period of two years. In contradiction of this provision of the statute, Mr. Becker, for the government, referred to a later statute, enacted in 1879, in which it was provided that citizens eligible to perform jury service could not be called twice within one year.

After hearing argument on the question, Judge Wolvorton held that the statute of 1879 in its provisions was antedated to the one first enacted and therefore repealed by implication the conflicting provisions of the statute of 1870. The defense saved an exception of the ruling of the court. The final acceptance of Buxton, as a juror, especially by the prosecution, was regarded as surprising, since it was rumored about the federal building yesterday that in the Watson case two years ago, Buxton held out for acquittal for several hours, finally yielding to the verdict of guilty, contended for by his associates.

BUILD LINE AT COOS BAY.

Newly Organized Company Thought to be Harriman Project.

Oregonian: Big plans for the development of Coos Bay and the surrounding country have been formed by the Coos Bay Railway & Terminal Company, a company just organized by Tacoma capitalists. The capital stock of the company is $250,000, which is divided into shares of $100 each.

The organizers are Tacoma capitalists and it is rumored that the terminal to be built at Coos Bay on Pacific's projected line across Central Oregon from Ontario. The connection of the Harriman interests cannot be confirmed.

Henry Hewitt Jr., J. J. Hewitt and Henry Hewitt, all of Tacoma; Seymour H. Bell, Marshfield, and L. J. Simpson, of North Bend, are interested in the company and are backing it heavily. The objects of the company are to purchase, hold and sell real estate, build a railroad around the shores of Coos Bay, promote telephone and telegraph lines and carry on other allied enterprises.

Mr. Hewitt and his associates bought the gas works and street railway system on Coos Bay some time ago, and are rebuilding and enlarging both plants. Because Mr. Hewitt and his associates have large holdings of property throughout Central Oregon, along the route of the projected Union Pacific line from Ontario to the Pacific Coast, it is suspected that a big railway terminal is to be built on Coos Bay, where shipping facilities are to be greatly improved and everything provided for a great harbor and railroad terminus.

Notice of appeal to the supreme court was filed in the circuit court today by Mary E. Houck, M. C. Gregory and Leona Abraham from a decision rendered by Judge Hamilton in favor of the City of Roseburg, on a suit brought by the other parties to enjoin the collection of an assessment for the laying of a sewer on the south side of the two upper blocks of Oak street. Plaintiffs alleged that the assessment should have been extended to other parties, as well, who were equally benefited by the sewer. The city fought the suit on technical grounds, however, and won out.

Chicago parties bid on the Oakland water bonds, but the bid was rejected by the council because the rate of interest was too high. Two parties are looking after the sale of the bonds and expect to sell direct to contractors for the installation of the proposed water system. If unsuccessful the council will again call for bids. The probable cause for lack of bids was due to a question of the legality of cities and towns having a right to amend their own charters.

Tuesday the Supreme Court rendered a favorable decision. In view of this decision no further difficulty is anticipated, and it is thought work will commence on the water system within 60 days.

The Methodist Sunday school excursion to Winchester Friday, July 17, proved to be a most successful and delightful affair. The picnic was held in the beautiful grove on the beautiful grove on the McWymour bank of the North Umpqua, just above the Winchester wagon bridge. This is an ideal spot. On one side of this clear and sparkling mountain stream hills rise to noble heights; on the other side large and numerous oaks spread their green, leafy boughs over a smooth, clean field. The shade of these trees with the gentle breeze wafted from this swiftly flowing river affords one an invigorating and refreshing treat. About 150 persons were present.

W. L. Goodman was among the Looking Glass people in town today. He says Mrs. E. R. Brisban and daughter are reported as improving from their injuries received in Friday's runaway accident.

NOW A GREAT LODGE.

Eagles to Hold Annual Session Aug. 11 to 16 in Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 17.—The tenth annual session of the grand assembly of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which will be held in Seattle, August 11 to 16, under the auspices of the mother lodge of the order, Seattle Aeris No. 1, is expected to attract perhaps as many as 50,000 members from the United States, Alaska, the Philippines and the Hawaiian Islands. Sessions will be held in the big Moore Theater. The decorations will eclipse those for the reception of the Atlantic fleet in Seattle waters. Elaborate draperies, flags and mottoes will be hung on the principal streets and a gigantic illuminated plan will be carried out. About $30,000 will be spent for the entertainment of the visitors, and $2500 will be given in prizes for the best bands, lodges having the greatest number of members, most handsome banners, and in many individual prizes.

At will be 11 years on August 12 since the theatrical managers of Seattle met to discuss some business matters. The half dozen men indulged in a walk and bought up on the tide flats. Seated on a lumber pile near the Moran Shipbuilding plant, in a spirit of jest, officers were elected of the "Seattle Order of Good Things." They met occasionally, and fines were imposed on a couple of the members at each meeting, and the money spent to buy refreshments.

At a special meeting of the new order on March 12, 1898, one year after the memorable session on the lumber pile, the first steps toward making the organization a permanent one were taken. It was decided to change the name, and John Cort's suggestion of "Fraternal Order of Eagles" was adopted. The picture of an eagle on the wall of the hall gave Cort the inspiration. May 13, 1898, Secretary of State Will D. Jenkins issued the charter of the Grand Aeris, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

In one year the organization's membership increased from a handful to more than 3000, and from that time on the growth of the lodge has been phenomenal, until now it has 1800 lodges scattered throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Philippine Islands and Hawaii with a membership of more than 350,000. Enrolled among its members are numerous prominent men of the United States, the most distinguished being President Roosevelt. Several members of the United States senate belong to the order, as do numerous governors of states, scores of congressmen and leading business and professional men of the United States. San Francisco ranks first among the lodges, for the largest number of members, with Seattle a close second.

W. L. Goodman was among the Looking Glass people in town today. He says Mrs. E. R. Brisban and daughter are reported as improving from their injuries received in Friday's runaway accident.
