ROAD DRAGGING.

How the Inventor of the King Drag Discovered His Method.

D. Ward King of Matland, Mo., inventor of the King method of road dragging, has a theory which practice has demonstrated to be correct. It is that all clay and gumbo roads should be dragged with a light drag after each rain or wet spell. The drag smooths down the rough places and fills up the ruts. When the sun dries up the road it leaves a roadbed as smooth and perfect as a city street.

The discovery of this method and the more important discovery of Mr. King were largely accidental. Years ago he lived on a small but well improved farm near Matland. He was not particularly interested in the good road movement as a national or state issue, but the four miles of road from his farm to Matland were of great interest to him, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The road was that soft, sticky red clay that in wet weather clings to the wagon wheels in great lumps and dry weather is as hard as a rock and almost as injurious to wagon tires. Passing wagons in wet weather would dig deep ruts, and when the road dried up the ruts would remain. At best the road was very poor. Many times when wheat was selling at a good price and Mr. King had many bushels of it the road would be so bad that he could not haul it to the market, and when the road finally became passable the market would be low again.

After many experiments he constructed a small, light drag, using two 2 1/2 inch bars connected with light strips, and began to drag the road in front of his residence. After each rain he would run the drag over it, and when the sun came out and the road dried up it was in perfect condition. When he began to drag the road many of his neighbors told other neighbors that King was crazy. Others told King himself that he was crazy. Others who did not say anything believed he was crazy. But the experiments proved that King's method was successful, and he extended his operations until he was dragging all the road in front of his farm. His neighbors took it up, and in a few months the road from his farm to Matland was as good as any in Missouri.

George B. Ellis, secretary of the state board of agriculture, heard of Mr. King's good road methods and invited him to speak at the farmers' institute in his neighborhood. He accepted, and being an enthusiast on the subject, he made several converts. He was engaged for a series of lectures and has turned over his farm to others and is devoting all of his time to preaching the gospel of good roads. Good roads have been made in various parts of Missouri and hundreds of converts have been made. After every rain in Missouri hundreds of farmers drag the roads in front of their farms, and the number of these volunteer road workers is increasing every week.

The Review always leads.

The J. G. Flook Company have decided to deal in fruit boxes. Early in the season they said they would not handle fruit boxes this year, but on account of so many requests for boxes they are now prepared to supply peach, apple or other boxes in small or large quantities. For prompt delivery and low prices give them your orders. DSW

In mentioning in Saturday's Review the arrests for alleged violation of the Sunday closing law the reporter stated: "The private prosecutor is L. W. Ingles, a local character, who is generally recognized as the 'spotter' for the so-called reform element." Upon inquiry we find that Mr. Ingles is representing only himself in this matter, so far as we are able to learn, and he certainly does not represent the leaders in the recent prohibition campaign in this county. As to Rev. Hawkins' Sunday evening sermon on "Blind Pigs" nothing sensational was developed, his talk being more of general application than to anyone in particular in this city.

A force of 12 men under Contractor Winnie Gaddis began excavating today for the new standard 4-inch water main to be laid from G. W. Rapp's grocery, on Cass street, to the J. G. Flook Co.'s mill on Sheridan street. This work will be followed as fast as the water company receives pipe, by excavation on other streets such as are embraced in the area of the proposed street paving. This new pipe is of the very best manufactured and is far superior to the riveted steel pipe laid in the city a few years ago, being guaranteed for 50 years. On Jackson street, from the Hotel McClallen to the Hermann residence, 8-inch pipe will be laid, but on other streets will be of 6-inch diameter. Only 4-inch mains will be laid on streets running east and west, and "dead ends" will be connected by 2-inch pipe to make a complete circulating system. The stretch of work begun today will be finished in about one week.

The First Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow bloated complexion as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. Red Cross Pharmacy. S.S.S. FOR BAD BLOOD

When bad blood is caused from an infection of the circulation by the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, it usually shows in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots on the body, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. These general symptoms, affecting all parts of the body, show how deeply poisoned the blood becomes, and emphasizes the dangerous character of the trouble. If allowed to remain in the system the disease will finally wreck the health and break down the strongest constitution. No medicine can cure Contagious Blood Poison which does not rid the circulation of every particle of the virus. S. S. S. is the one real and certain cure; it goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, and by removing every trace of the poison, and adding rich, healthful qualities to the blood, forever cures this powerful disorder. S. S. S. is the most reliable of all blood purifiers, and its concentrated ingredients of healthful vegetable extracts and juices especially adapt it to curing this insidious trouble. Write for our home treatment book, which is a valuable aid in the treatment of the different stages of the disease, and ask for any special medical advice you wish. No charge for either.
