YEARS' WORK GONE

Disaster Overtakes Zeppelin in Hour of Triumph

BALLOON IS DESTROYED

Armor Coat Saves Sultan of Turkey From Assassin's Dagger—500 Killed in Algiers

Special to the Evening Review. STUGGART, Germany, Aug. 5.—After an all-day and all-night flight along the Rhine river, practically solving the momentous problem of aerial navigation, Count Zeppelin's wonderful dirigible balloon was torn from its moorings on a plateau near this city, during an electrical storm today. The propelling motor exploded, and amid a cloud of fire and smoke the balloon sailed away to destruction. There was no one on board the balloon at the time it broke loose, but four workmen were seriously injured by the explosion of the motor.

Armor Coat Saves Sultan

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 5.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that an attempt was made to assassinate the Sultan of Turkey in the royal apartments last Monday. A minor palace official made a knife thrust at the Sultan's heart, but the blade of the weapon snapped against the armor coat worn by the ruler. The would-be assassin failed to escape owing to a heavy bag of gold which he carried. It is supposed the gold was given to him to slay the Sultan.

An Algerian Horror

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 5.—Following a terrible earthquake yesterday, which killed upwards of 500 people in a score of Algerian towns, hordes of bandits swept in from the desert bent on loot. They were checked, however, by French soldiers, who shot down a large number of them. The property loss will run well into the millions of dollars. Hundreds of dead are now being removed from the ruins.

COSTLY FIRE NEAR SIMS

Five Italians Believed to Have Lost Their Lives. REDDING, Cal., Aug. 4.—A forest fire was started near Sims this afternoon by a spark from a donkey engine in the Leavitt Lumber company's camp. Three dwellings occupied by G. H. Graham, Fred Miller and C. Basler, respectively, were destroyed. Leavitt's sawmill and the Southern hotel were barely saved by the hardest kind of work.

The fire then jumped to the west side of the river across the railroad and endangered the Sacramento river bridges at crossings 10 and 11. A special train and 50 men came down from Bonemuir, 20 miles away, and saved the bridges.

A change in the wind turned the fire eastward and is now burning fiercely in the finest timber of the district, and it is not yet under control, although hundreds are out fighting.

It is feared at Sims that five Italian boys who were sent up the mountain to fight the fire, have been caught and burned.

Michel is Doomed. VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 3.—For three days the people of Michel have fought for their homes with death at the door. This afternoon they were beaten at the game. The city, the second in size in the devastated district of East Kootenay, started to burn in real earnest at dusk this evening.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong

There is danger it delay, but if Foley's Kidney Cure is taken at once the symptoms will disappear, the kidneys are strengthened and you are soon sound and well.

YOUNG GIRL IS WANTED.

Aid Society Ward Leaves Her Home at Myrtle Creek.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 4.—A little girl named Matilda Vanderpool, aged 13 years, ran away from her home at Myrtle Creek, Or., on Sunday afternoon. She was seen starting north and said she was going to Portland. She succeeded in evading the authorities at both Roseburg and Oakland, and it is feared she has been picked up by hoboes.

This girl was committed by the juvenile court of Yamhill county to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society last November and placed in an excellent home at Myrtle Creek last May. The superintendent received a letter from her written Sunday in which she said she liked her home and spoke of having visited Newport this season. Her description is as follows: Brown hair, gray eyes, large crooked teeth. She wore a blue dress and white straw hat. Any information leading to her return will be thankfully received by Supt. Gardner of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society.

PAUL SIMMONS MISSING.

Sends Chattels to Roseburg and Says He Will Suicide.

"You need not look for me; I've got consumption and can't be cured, and I'm going into the woods and kill myself." This is the effect of what Paul Simmons, aged 22 years, wrote Tuesday to his mother, Mrs. A. E. Simmons, and sister, Mrs. M. C. Weatherford, in this city, and also to his brother, W. Z. Simmons, who resides in Wilbur. The letters to his sister and brother were written by Simmons at Salem, and the letter to his mother at Eugene. Simmons also sent to Roseburg his personal effects. A violin he consigned to his brother by express, and a trunk and telescope articles, both filled with miscellaneous articles, arrived as passenger baggage, the checks for which were enclosed in the letter to Mrs. Weatherford. The letter received by Simmons' mother, who resides with Mrs. Weatherford, contained a money order, purchased at Eugene, and some small change.

The police at Eugene were notified to search for Simmons. They were unsuccessful, and the relatives fear he has ended his life. They do not believe Simmons has consumption. He visited here about four months ago and he appeared to be in splendid health. He had been working in a blacksmith shop at Dallas, Polk county. From the personal description of Simmons, he would not appear to be a man in hopelessly failing health. He is nearly 6 feet high and weighs about 165 pounds, and is said to be powerfully built. He has blue eyes, dark hair and a medium complexion and is smooth shaven.

FAIR FRUIT PRICES.

"There promises to be a fair market for Oregon fruit, in the east this year," states George Rae, of the firm of Rae & Hatfield, of New York and London, the largest buyers and sellers of choice and fancy fruit in the world, who is on his annual inspection trip of the Rogue River valley. Mr. Rae is the pioneer handler of boxed apples and has secured the highest price on record for fruit in the New York markets, the carload of Comice pears sold from the Lewis orchard at Medford in September, 1907, for $4622.50.

"No one can foretell conditions now, but times are steadily improving in the east, and while the high prices prevailing last year will not be reached, good average returns are indicated," continued Mr. Rae. "California had but few pears last year but this year the crop is heavy."

"There are 100,000 barrels of apples in cold storage in New York that will never be sold and will be a complete loss to the brokers owning them. The southern peach crop ripened three weeks earlier than usual and there is a tremendous crop which has flooded the market and killed the sale of apples. The peaches bring from less than freight charges to $1.50."

The panic has been more severe in the east than you have any idea of in the west," concluded Mr. Rae. "There are half a million men seeking work in New York today. I hit the fruit men hard. The rich were the first to feel hard times, and it knocked the bottom out of the sale of fancy fruit. One man who purchased some of the Lewis Comice pears at $8 and over a box sold them for about $1.60 a box. But times are getting better and a fair market is promised."—Tribune.

INGLES HAS BAD DAY.

Sustains Assault and Loses his Case Against A. T. Thompson.

This was a hard day on L. W. Ingles, the star witness for the state in the Sunday closing law cases. He was assaulted by Ed. Jennings and A. T. Thompson, two local business men, whom he had arrested for violating the Sunday law, and a few hours later a jury in Recorder Gutt's court acquitted Thompson of "disturbing the peace and quiet of the city" in having called Ingles the vilest name that can be applied to a human being. Previous to the assault, however, Thompson pleaded guilty in Justice Long's court to Sunday law violation and paid a fine of $5. Jennings' case will probably be called tomorrow. He is also under charge of referring to Ingles' parentage in inelegant language, and will be tried on this, if at all, upon the return of his lawyer, W. W. Cardwell, who has been called to Crescent City, Calif., on a hard case.

The assault on Ingles occurred just before the opening of Recorder Gutt's court about 11 o'clock this morning. Without the formality of words, Jennings, in company with Thompson, approached him, and struck him twice in the face knocking him down. As soon as Ingles arose he was attacked by Thompson and would doubtless have fared badly had not bystanders interfered. Ingles sustained a slight injury to his upper lip, but beyond this he was unharmed. District Attorney Brown stated that he will investigate the case before the grand jury. He says the case is more than an ordinary one because of the fact that Ingles was a prosecuting witness in a state case and that allegations have been made that the assault was premeditated by threats.

In his trial on the profanity charge this afternoon, Thompson was represented by Atty. W. W. Cardwell, while the city's interests were looked after by Atty. F. G. Micoell. Both lawyers made the strongest possible arguments on their cases. The jury was composed of G. A. Signalness, A. T. Bestul, J. P. McKay, G. S. Clayton, D. L. Martin and J. O. Newland. It took them men just six minutes to reach a verdict of not guilty. The trial created intense interest, and the court room was crowded. The principal point of the defense, while admitting that Thompson called Ingles the vile name alleged, was that "the peace and quiet of the city" had not been disturbed hereby. A facial aspect was given to the case by several local citizens testifying that they knew Ingles by no other name than that which Thompson had called him. In view of Thompson's acquittal, it is doubtful if Jennings' case will be called for trial.

Sailor on Battleship Wisconsin Gets Distressing Letter and Takes Suicidal Plunge

Special to the Evening Review. MEDFORD, Or., Aug. 5.—Lawrence H. Belsler, a wealthy real estate dealer of Weavertown, Wash., aged 50 years, committed suicide last night by blowing a rifle top of his head with a rifle in the Nash hotel, in this city. He had sent for an acquaintance, and after shaking hands with him stepped into an alcove and ended his life. The cause of the act is unknown. Belsler came to Medford for the purpose of buying an orchard.

Jackie Commits Suicide.

ABOARD BATTLESHIP GEORGIA by Wireless Telegraph, Aug. 5.—The first man to lose his life on the voyage of the Atlantic battleship fleet was Albert E. Hessel, an ordinary seaman of the battleship Wisconsin, who flung himself into the sea. While the fleet was in Honolulu, Hessel received a letter from his home in the states and after reading it became morose, and wrote a long reply. He refused to reveal the contents of the letter he received, merely muttering that "it was all wrong." Last night Hessel slipped away from his comrades and plunged from the quarter deck into the sea, carrying his secret with him. The fleet is now 1,000 miles from Auckland.
