Edw. Von Pessl was in from near Cleveland today. He is now converting most of his grapes into vinegar, instead of wine as formerly.

Still the Oily News continues to agonize over the fact that we called attention to its vigorous knock against the street paving. Having indicated its vociferous hostility to its former issue it resorts to its old howl about The Review's piano contest of last year.

"Bachelors" said the widow, "are the most sensitive people on earth. At any rate, the bachelors I know are. I dined with one not long ago. During the first part of the meal he seemed uneasy."

"If any of my friends see me," he said, "they will think I am dining with some other man's wife."

"Why? I asked. "He pointed to my wedding ring. "Shall I take it off?" I asked. "Would you mind?" said he. "Not at all," I said and slipped off the ring.

"Since then when going anywhere with that bachelor or any other bachelor I save him from embarrassment by taking off my wedding ring before we start. I find they appreciate my consideration for their feelings. Now, if that isn't sensitiveness raised to the sixth power I'd like to know what it is."

The flow of rivers, as might be supposed, is the slowest at the bottom of the water and highest at the top. The average velocity of the entire stream is found, as a rule, at about six-tenths of the depth.

"In my opinion," said Jones, "a woman's club to be successful should aim at something far removed from female suffrage."

"I do not agree with you," retorted Miss Strong, with set lip. "That alone should be its object."

"Exactly, but if it aims at something else it is more likely to hit that."—Philadelphia Press.

PECULIAR TREES.

They Yield Bread, Butter and Milk, Scap and Candies.

The breadfruit tree of Ceylon is very remarkable. Its fruit is baked and eaten as we eat bread and is equally good and nutritious. In Barbadoes, South America, is a tree which, by piercing the trunk, produces milk, with which the lubalutians feed their children. In the interior of Africa is a tree which produces excellent butter. It resembles the American oak, and its fruit, from which the butter is prepared, is not unlike the olive. Park, the great traveler, declared that the butter surpassed any made in England from cow's milk. At Sierra Leone is the cream fruit tree, the fruit of which is quite agreeable in taste.

At Table Bay, near the Cape of Good Hope, is a small tree the berries of which make excellent candies. It is also found in the Azores. The vegetable tallow tree also grows in Sumatra, in Algeria and in China. In the island of Ceylon large quantities of oil and tallow are extracted from its fruit, which is gathered in November or December, when the tree has lost all its leaves. The bark of a tree in China produces a beautiful soap. Trees of the sapsinoid or soap berry order also grow in the north of Africa. They are amazingly prolific, and their fruit contains about 28 per cent of caponin.
