SEPTEMBER 1, 1908.

Snow fell in Anaconda, Mont., last Saturday. This being the first snowfall since July 4th, the summer seems to have been a long one there.

"Only two months until election, and nothing doing yet," is the way a Salt Lake paper put it. People at last seem to have learned to go ahead and attend to business instead of wasting several months on politics every "presidential year." The country will go ahead just the same, regardless of election results, or at least that seems to be the way a vast majority appear to be looking at the situation this year.

NATIONAL GOOD ROADS.

Maryland has begun the good work of building a highway across the continent from ocean to ocean. The plan is for each state on the route to build its section and give it the name of an American hero, so that the highway may be a National memorial. Such a road will be delightful for pleasure traffic in time of peace and invaluable in war. But, as all the states will share its benefits, I think that all should contribute liberally for its construction.—Town Topics.

THE "DOUBTFUL STATES."

Wide Diversity of Opinion Expressed by Leading Papers.

In a recent issue the Cincinnati Enquirer published the following as its view of the present campaign outlook at that date:

"News from the west, from all the country west of the Ohio river, gives ample evidence that in every state of that vast region the republican party has divorced itself from the element in its ranks that opposed or failed to heartily approve of the policies of President Roosevelt. The bold utterances, the loud criticisms the abuse and revilings by politicians and representatives of business interests have suddenly ceased as against those policies, backed as they are by the party's candidate, the party indorsement, popular approval, magnificent crops, and a renewal of prosperity.

"It is difficult for an onlooker to see how the democrats can gain republican votes in the west under these conditions. Their chance was there three months ago, but the republican new alliance surely is now a barrier. Mr. Bryan can offer no greater inducements than are offered upon the bargain counter of the republican party in the west. Not an important radical republican leader has bolted his party. Why should he under such favorable conditions to radical ideas? Not an important conservative republican can leave, for all other doors are closed to him.

"It does not look so favorable to the democrats in the west as it did one month ago, a fortnight ago, or a week ago."

Turning now the other side of the case, we find Secretary Garfield quoted in the New York Tribune (Rep.) as admitting that hard work will be needed to save Colorado from the democrats, and that Montana is doubtful. The New York Sun, which is supporting the republican ticket reports that in Indiana and Wisconsin "conditions look bad for the Taft candidacy," and many papers express the opinion that the bitter fight within the ranks of the republican party in West Virginia may also turn that state over to the democrats.

Another View, and Why.

In reply to the foregoing from the Enquirer the Omaha World-Herald sums up the campaign conditions very differently. We quote:

"Our Cincinnati contemporary never blundered into a sadder mistake. It has reached a conclusion directly contrary to fact.

"The plain truth, as it is known to every reasonably close observer of political conditions in the west, is that Mr. Bryan's candidacy is today much stronger than it was the week of his nomination, and is growing stronger every day.

"Another plain truth, a corollary of the first, is that the radical, progressive republicans of the west are today more kindly inclined to Mr. Bryan, and in larger numbers, than it was thought possible they would be when 'Roosevelt won' at Chicago and Taft was placed in nomination.

"The reasons are not far to seek, nor difficult to detect when found:

"1. President Roosevelt has instilled into western republicans a profound dislike for 'predatory wealth' and enmity for the great industrial trusts. These same republicans now see every leader of predatory wealth, and all the trust influence in the country, lined up solidly back of Mr. Taft.

"2. They know [illegible] Schoolcraft Sherman, Taft's running mate, now than they [illegible] his nomination.

"3. They see men like Sheldon, Boise Penrose, Frederick W. Upham, and their like in charge of the financing of the republican campaign. They know what that means; where the republican funds are to come from. Their knowledge is made the surer by the refusal of Mr. Taft and his managers to promise to disclose, before election, the source of their campaign funds.

"4. They noted, with keenest interest, that the railroads made reduced rates and ran numerous excursions to the Taft notification, and exacted full rates and did everything in their power to discourage the attendance at the Bryan notification.

"5. Their commendation has been won by Mr. Bryan's unqualified pledge that, if he is elected, he will call immediately a special session of Congress to act on the popular election of senators and the other so-called 'La Follette planks' of the Denver platform, which were brutally turned down at Chicago.

"6. That plank of the Denver platform which declares for a guaranty of bank deposits appeals to them every day with increasing force.

"7. Senator La Follette has been addressing Chautauqua assemblies daily throughout the west since the conventions, speaking to immense audiences; in every speech he has lauded Bryan, been silent as to Taft, and held republican senators and congressmen up to public scorn and detestation.

"8. Senator La Follette is but one of the instrumentalities through which western republicans have been aroused to a white heat of anger over the record made by the last session of congress, strongly republican in both its branches.

"9. Western republicans are by a large majority for tariff reform and the 'Iowa idea,' and the more they study the platforms and the attitude of the candidates, the more they incline to the democratic position.

"In Nebraska, to take a specific example, it is doubtful if there is a single precinct which has not its republican voters who have openly declared for Bryan. Almost every Bryan club that is organized is made up of from five to 20 per cent, and in some instances more, of such voters. Preliminary polls, made carefully and conscientiously, indicate a larger majority for Bryan in 1908 than he had in 1896.

"And, as we have said, Bryan strength is growing; it shows every indication of continuing to grow. In this respect it differs materially from what was true in his two former campaigns. The republicans are distinctly on the defensive. They can not beat a charge. They have nothing with which to frighten or delude the voters, as they had in 1896 and 1900. Their campaign, to date, consists in iterating and reiterating the idea that Taft is as good a Bryan man as Bryan is himself. That kind of a fight isn't winning and can't win. The people, when it comes to such a choice, prefer the original and genuine to the second-hand, imitation article."

BLAKELEY TURNED DOWN.

Denied Street Car Franchise by City of Medford at an Election.

MEDFORD, Or., Aug. 31—For the second time within the year Medford citizens today at the polls turned down the proposition to grant a street railway franchise by a vote of 99 to 216. But little electioneering was done and the conflicting election slogans were: "Grant a 50-year franchise and have one mile of road in operation within a year" and "A city franchise will cut out immediate chances for an interurban line."

Rapidly increasing population and the volume of business within a radius of 20 miles from Medford indicate that the day will soon come when a line must encircle the valley, and the amount of business in Medford alone will justify the building of such a line, but for the time being at least the large majority saw fit to vote according to today's showing.

The proposed franchise voted on today was asked for by Fred J. Blakeley, of Roseburg.

YOUNG BRYAN TO WED.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31—The engagement of W. J. Bryan, Jr., to Miss Helen Berger, daughter of a prominent miller of this city, is announced. The marriage may not occur this year.

Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good;" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Continue to hoe and cultivate the strawberry bed, but do not let the runners set too thickly. Treat all surplus plants as if they were weeds.

Currants and gooseberries bushes may be set in the fall, if desired, and well mulched.

Save the best shaped and colored tomatoes for seed every year, and the strain will be much improved.

If the cabbage heads show signs of bursting pull each head a little so as to break a few of the roots and thus check the rapid growth.

Look out for weak and broken rounds in the ladder. Bad accidents have hopped by going through such ladders. Put in new rounds before anything occurs.

Last month we told you to "tip" the blackcap raspberries, and to cut out the old wood that has fruited. Not too late to do this now. Blackberries, too, should have the old wood cut out.

Look out for frost late this month. Tomato vines, etc., may be protected cold nights by a covering of straw, newspapers, cloths, etc. On large fields, smudge fires will often save a crop from frost damage.

Winter onion sets should go into the ground early this month. They are quite hardy, but a light mulch of leaves, straw or litter won't hurt them in the north; they'll be ready for use early in the spring.

Pears are best when ripened indoors instead of on the trees. The time to pick pears is determined, first, by their known season of ripening; and, second, by the ease with which the stem parts from the branch when the fruit is slightly lifted.

Does your neighbor know that the strawberry plants are now forming dormant fruit buds for next year's crop, and that the crop then depends largely upon the care now? Perhaps you'll be doing him a favor if you show him this paper and ask him to subscribe.

It is important to pick vegetables at the right time. If picked while the sun is at its height, they are more or less wilted and do not keep well. This does not apply to beans—they should never be handled while wet or they will rust. Nearly all vegetables are jucier and sweeter if picked before they are quite full-sized.—From September Farm Journal.

They Take the Kinks Out.

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houlton, Me., says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery; before that was half gone the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at A. C. Marsters & Co's. drug store. 50c and $1.00. A trial bottle free.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Washing Black Lace.

Black lace should not be washed unless it is decidedly dirty, but should be well shaken to remove as much dust as possible and then dipped in a solution of deep blue gum water. When the lace has become dirty and brownish in color the best plan is to wash it in soapsuds and then rinse and stiffen it in deep blue water, to which the gum water has been added. The deep blue water will help to restore the lace to its original black.

The lace should be all rolled in an old cloth for a short time and then pinned out with the cloth between it and the sheet, as it imparts a blue stain, which it would be necessary to remove from the sheet.

When the lace is quite dry remove the pins and place a piece of tissue paper over it. Iron it with the paper between it and the iron. If the iron is placed directly on the lace it will leave a gloss on it which is not pretty and which stamps it as "washed lace."

For Inflamed Eyelids.

Anything concerning the eyes should never be neglected, and as soon as the eyelids become inflamed the following lotion should be used: Two drams of glycerin and borax are beaten with the white of one egg.

One wineglassful of cold water is added, and the mixture is beaten again. This should be applied to the edges of the lids nightly. When all soreness and inflammation have passed away (and this will soon be the case, as the preparation is healing) the lids may be touched nightly with white of egg beaten with three times the quantity of cold water.

This must be freshly made each night. The preparation is astringent and should be applied as a film only and with the finger tips. In case any unpleasant tightness from accidental overuse should appear it may be remedied by bathing in cold water.

A Table Convenience.

Through the ingenuity of a New York restaurant man corn on the cob may now be eaten without annoyance. This man has devised a combination corn holder which not only keeps the ear from rolling off one's plate, but also enables the diner to manipulate it by means of a rod at either end and avoid smearing the fingers. The holder herewith shown consists of a trough a little longer and wider than an ear of corn and with slots in its end walls. Two rods, with knobs by which to hold them, are thrust into the ends of the cob. When eating the corn the cob can be held by these handles, and when the ear is laid down it can be placed in the trough without fear that it will roll off the plate and leave a track of salted butter on the hostess' snowy linen.

How to Insert Ribbon.

When drawing ribbon through beading in a waist that buttons in the back, divide ribbon in half and start in the center front of waist and draw ribbon each way. This will leave both ends even and is half the work, and the ribbon will not be so crushed. For a corset cover, start in the center of the back. The neatest and quickest way to finish the neck of a child's dress is to turn the seam on the wrong side and face with narrow tape or turn seam on right side and face with fancy finishing braid.

Cleaning Velveteen.

To wash velveteen make a nice lukewarm lather with a good brand of soap and wash through just as you would a flannel. The water should be removed by pressure, as twisting is likely to produce a shaded appearance. After the water is removed the velveteen should be well shaken and hung in front of the fire, with the right side toward the heat, which will raise the pile as the water passes away. When it is dry place over a thick blanket and iron on the wrong side.

Calla Lilies.

Beat three eggs and a rounding cupful of sugar together, add two-thirds cupful of flour and one-half teaspoonful of lemon flavoring. Drop in teaspoonfuls on a buttered sheet, allowing plenty of room to spread in baking. Bake in a moderate oven, take up with a knife and roll at once into lily shape. Bake but four or five at a time, because if the cakes cool even a little they will break. Fill each with a little beaten and sweetened cream.

Remedy For Coughing.

Often a severe spell of coughing can be checked by drinking down as quickly as possible a glassful of cold water. If one is subject to spells of coughing at night, try this remedy, which, it is claimed, never fails: Wring a cloth out of strong carbolic acid water just before getting into bed and hang it over the head of the bed. The whiff of odor from the cloth will prevent the cough.
