HOT TIMES IN VIRGINIA.

Republicans Think They Can Carry State for Taft.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 2.—Unless all signs fall, there will be hot times in the Old Dominion during the coming campaign. Democratic leaders sent a plot to break the back of the "solid South" in the efforts of the republicans to carry Virginia for Taft. There is no doubt that the extended stay of the republican candidate at Hot Springs and his addresses to the voters of Virginia has added to his popularity, and the republican politicians, long hopeless of a republican victory, are beginning to get busy. "Virginia for Taft" is their battlecry and they have gained many followers.

Democrats scout the possibility of a Taft majority and declare that Bryan will get a larger vote in the Old Dominion than in either of his previous campaigns. By request of the democratic state committee, Bryan and Kern clubs are being organized all over the state and by September 15 nearly every town and city will have such a body. Every effort will be made by leaders of both parties to keep the enthusiasm of the voters at a white heat.

ANOTHER PAPER RAILROAD.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 2.—Articles of incorporation have been filed with the Secretary of State for the Rogue River & Oregon Southern Railway Company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The company proposes to construct a railway from Grants Pass to Waldo, in the southern part of Josephine county, tapping a rich territory.

The incorporators of record are H. B. Buddenburg, Glenville A. Collins and O. S. Blanchard, all of Grants Pass. An office will be maintained at Grants Pass, but the principal office will be at Seattle.

The road would traverse the Rogue River valley and tap large timber holdings in the Skagitno mountains.

Good Road Agitators.

Women have been found to be active workers in the matter of agitating good road movements. They not only work to get hard roads, but adopt measures to preserve the natural beauty of public highways. Within the last few months the Tuesday club of St. Charles, Ill., planted 350 ornamental trees along two miles of the Fox river road. Not long since the Kane county women, who are auto enthusiasts, raised over $1,000 by selling spoons, and it all went to the improvement and preservation of natural features of the finest auto drives in Illinois.

CRACK ROAD MACHINE

When Best to Use the Split Log Drag.

FOLLOWING EACH HEAVY RAIN

Finest Work Done When the Soil is Moist, Not Sticky—Clay Highway Dragging Needs Special Attention. Economy of the Device.

The best results with the split log drag have been obtained by dragging roads once each day after each heavy rain. In some cases, however, one dragging every three or four weeks has been found sufficient to keep a road in good condition.

When the soil is moist but not sticky the drag does its best work, says a bulletin from the government office of public roads. As the soil in a field will bake if plowed wet, so the road will bake if the drag is used on it when it is wet. If the roadway is full of holes or badly rutted, the drag should be used once when the ground is soft and slushy. This is particularly applicable before a cold spell in winter, when it is possible to so prepare the surface that it will freeze smooth.

Not infrequently conditions are met which may be overcome by a slight change in the manner of hitching. Shortening the chain tends to lift the front slab and make the cutting slight, while a longer hitch causes the front to sink more deeply into the earth and act on the principle of a plow.

If a furrow of earth is to be moved, the doubletree should be attached close to the ditch end of the drag, and the driver should stand with one foot on the extreme forward end of the front slab.

Conditions are so varied in different localities, however, that it is quite impossible to lay down specific rules. Certain sections of a roadway will require more attention than others because of steep grades, wet weather springs, soil conditions, exposure to sun and wind washes, etc. There is one condition, however, in which special attention should be given. Clay roads under persistent dragging frequently become too high in the center. This may be corrected by dragging the earth toward the center of the road twice and away from it once.

There is no question as to the economy of this roadmaking implement, either in first cost or in operation. In 45 counties in Kansas in 1906 the cost of maintaining ordinary earth roads, without the aid of the split log drag, averaged $42.50 a mile. These figures were furnished by Professor W. C. Hoad of the University of Kansas, who secured them from official records of the counties.

Some figures furnished by F. P. Sandborn and R. H. Ashton, general manager of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, have revealed the wonders of this simple device. Mr. Sandborn said: "The least expense per mile per annum for split log dragging was $1.50, the greatest a little over $6 and the average expense per mile for five and a half miles a little over $1. I have lived along this road all my life, and never in forty years have I seen it freer from mud and dust, despite the fact that during the season we have experienced the extremes of weather conditions."

The testimony of Mr. Ashton is equally strong. Learning that a township in Iowa had been making an investigation of the split log drag and had been experimenting with it for a year on twenty-eight miles of highway, he sent an agent to secure information. It was reported that, although the town board had paid the cost of making the drags and of hiring men to operate them, the total expense for one year averaged but $2.40 a mile, and the roads were reported to have been "like a race track" the greater portion of the year.
