Grants Pass Curier: Phil Butcher, an oldtimer and former business man here, who left five years ago to settle in the Umpqua valley, has been back for a few days greeting old friends. He made the trip accompanied by his wife, in a two seated buggy, drawn by a fine pair of Douglas county steeds. He was impressed with the growth of the town in the last few years, but he likes Douglas county better, so Monday morning he set out on his 100-mile cross-country trip to the Umpqua.

AUTO PROOF ROADWAY

Coal Tar and Pitch Used to Finish It.

ALL DIRT MUST BE REMOVED

Before Laying Surfacing Materials Roads Ought to Be Perfectly Dry, Says Connecticut Highway Commissioner—Resist Autos' Bad Effects.

The racking of brains to find a road surfacing which will withstand the wear and tear of automobile traffic that has been going on among roadmakers in the United States and Europe of late is resulting in a return to coal tar, which thirty years ago was thought to be worthless for any purpose and today furnishes mankind so many different products and byproducts, some of them far removed from the building of stone roads. Highway Commissioner Macdonald of Connecticut, ever among the leaders in these matters, has worked out a specification which has already been adopted by state highway commissioners who have heard of it and have obtained a copy, says a Hartford (Conn.) dispatch. It calls for a combination of coal tar and pitch, and fully as much of the success with which the road laid by means of it resists the action of auto tires is due to the manner in which it is put down as to the medium which binds the road surface into a solid, perfectly cohesive waterproof whole.

Something over a year ago Commissioner Macdonald chose a very hot day and laid his specification on most of the roads in Bushnell park, about the Connecticut state capitol in Hartford, and the present condition of these roads, which is as good as the day the coal tar combination was put down, testifies to the excellence of the specification. Not only that, but these roads are unusually good ones on which to try out the coal tar, for the reason that they are used by autos far more than by any other vehicles.

It happens that before he became state highway commissioner a dozen years ago Mr. Macdonald had been for years at the head of a New Haven firm which laid and still lays tar and asphalt pavements, and he was peculiarly fitted to grapple with the destructiveness of auto tires on macadam roads when it became a question of seeing the fine system of roads in Connecticut which he is building disintegrate before his eyes unless he could find a protection for them. There were two things to be done, find a road surfacing material which is finished when laid and solid, so that it makes no dust and needs no dust to maintain its integrity, or find a method of laying the dust. Some roadmakers have not given over trying to find the latter yet, but after various and varied experiments Commissioner Macdonald finds that a mere dust layer, which means oil, is of little value. It must be frequently renewed and cannot be repaired.

Commissioner Macdonald's specification lays great stress on the necessity for having all parts of the road perfectly dry when the coal tar and pitch surfacing is laid. After the shoulders and gutters have been formed and shaped the contractor must clean off all dirt or accumulations with split rattan brooms or a horse sweeper until the No. 2 stone is entirely bare, clean and free from all material except such as is found in the No. 2 course, so that there is no interruption between the tar and the No. 2 course of stone. This No. 2 course is to be evened up to grade also.

Then comes the coal tar application. About 15 per cent of pitch is to be melted into the tar and thoroughly mixed with it, the whole to be heated to a temperature of 225 degrees. At this temperature the mixture is flooded on to the road and broomed in with split rattan brooms. When this first application has become entirely absorbed a second application of exactly the same thing is to be applied in just the same way, the two making a perfectly solid surface on top in combination with the No. 2 course of stone, which is about one inch, longest diameter, in size.

While the second application is still hot and sticky the top dressing of trap rock splinters from one-half to three-quarters of an inch, longest diameter, is put on to a uniform depth of not less than an inch. Two inches will be even better. At once a steam road roller of not less than ten tons weight is to be run over the surface of this and to be kept running over it until the top dressing is thoroughly imbedded in the tar and pitch composition. Then the road must cool thoroughly before any use whatever.

There are several important conditions which must be observed, too, chief among them perhaps being the requirement that the day must be hot. "No water gas tar will be allowed to be used nor any adulteration of the coal tar. Nothing but pure coal tar shall be used in the work."

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Alsike Clover.

In many respects alsike clover is not so valuable a crop as medium red clover, but it may nevertheless be made very useful in many ways, says Farmers Advocate. It is the best clover for permanent pasture. A mixture of blue grass, timothy and alsike where these grasses can be grown successfully makes an ideal pasture. In time the blue grass will drive out the timothy, but it will not crowd out the hardy alsike unless the ground is overpastured.

Sown with red clover for hay alsike will increase the yield and the quality of the hay. If the ground is inclined to be wet, and even if it is not, a good combination for a meadow is timothy, medium red clover and alsike. No other combination will give more or better hay. It will be next in feeding quality to alfalfa.

Alsike can be grown successfully on ground too wet or too sour to grow red clover or alfalfa. It will do well under conditions so adverse that other grasses would fail partially or entirely. It is a good mixer and adapts itself to all kinds of company and all kinds of conditions. It is hardy and useful and should be more generally grown.
